TRY APPLE TREES

Plant apple trees; one or one hundred, or one thousand.

Oregon and other Western states have found a gold mine in raising apples for the retail markets, appearing them for the purchaser with great care and ensuring for them accordingly.

It is not the raising of fancy apples for which we plead, but for pure attention, more intelligent attention to the apple tree.

To get good results you must take care of the orchard all the year round.

You must dig and prune and spray and gather as if the profit for the year depended on that one act.

The climate in Kentucky has not changed, neither has it changed in Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama. The apple trees have been neglected for other things of more pressing importance.

In planning for the new crop and all the crops that are to follow take the apple into consideration.

Begin with the selection of the best varieties for your market. Then get the best stock suited for your climate.

Then study apple culture and follow it week by week all the year. That is what pays. But you say "The apple crop around here is a failure and the trees are dying out."

Neglect is killing them, as it will your livestock. Begin over again. Learn from your neighbor's failure and plant apples for the market; apples to sell.—Home and Farm.

TAX ON GOING TO BED

When the lady of the house prepares to slumber the Payne tariff tax is still in operation. She slips into a kimono taxed 60 per cent.

The hair brush is tariff-taxed 40 per cent, and the rubber comb 25 per cent.

The toilet celluloid the tax is 65 per cent per pound and 30 per cent additional.

The tooth brush is taxed 40 per cent and the tooth paste or paste or powder 60 per cent.

The cold cream is taxed 60 per cent and 60 per cent also for the hands, the rose ointment and the toilet powder.

The toilet water is tariff-taxed 50 per cent, and in addition 60 cents a pound.

The kid curl papers are tariff-taxed 40 per cent.

The cotton bedroom slippers embroidered with worsted, are taxed 60 per cent, and in addition 50 cents a pound.

The cotton sheets are tariff-taxed 45 per cent.

The woolen blankets, 35 per cent and in addition 23 cents a pound.

The cotton quilt is tariff-taxed 60 per cent. It is cheaper to have a quilt of elderdown skins. That pays only 35 per cent.

The feathers in the pillows are tariff-taxed 60 per cent. The ticking that holds them is taxed as cotton cloth.

The curled hair for mattresses is taxed 70 per cent; mattresses of cotton ticking filled with vegetable substances are taxed 45 cents a pound additional.

The wire for the bed springs pays the highest duty of the kind used, and in addition 1 cent a pound. Any this must never be less than 40 per cent according to law.

The ornamental bed set of cotton or silk lace that conceals all these during the day is tariff taxed 40 cents.

The pillow shams, 45 per cent. The bed itself, if wood, 35 per cent tariff tax; if brass 45 per cent. The brass castings and tubes for a bed are taxed 45 per cent, so that you may not bring them in and assemble your own bed.

The alarm clock that wakes you in the morning is tariff-taxed 40 per cent.

PREVENTING MILLET SMUT.

Soaking Seed in Solution of Formalin Prevents the Disease.

During the past year a fungous disease of millet appeared at various places in Iowa. The botanical section of the Iowa experiment station found upon investigation that the disease was millet smut, a trouble very common in the millet growing sections of Europe. It was probably imported to this country in seed brought from Germany.

HEALTHY MILLET HEAD AND ONE AFFECTED BY SMUT.

Professor Panuel finds that the disease can be prevented by soaking the seed for two hours in a solution of one pound of formalin to forty-five gallons of water.

The claims of millet as an important soiling food rest upon the fact that it is a good milk producing food, that it yields well on good land, that it may be grown as a catch crop and in hot weather in some instances after another crop has been harvested.

Its weak point as a soiling crop is the short season during which it can be fed.

When it comes to a choice between buying some new tool you need on the farm and putting the money in the bank, better buy the tool. It will help you gain the money back and save toil into the bargain.

Sorghum For Hogs.

The Alabama experiment station finds that sorghum pasture for fattening hogs has very little to recommend it. When used with corn it gave better gains than corn alone, but the gains were not profitable when the sorghum was cut and carried to the hogs. They made better gains when allowed to graze it. Excellent gains were made when the juice was extracted and fed, but for this purpose the price was worth but 1.8 cents a gallon. The expense of extracting the juice prohibits its use. In every case sorghum was much inferior to the legumes, and since it left the land poorer its use for hogs was discouraged where legumes could be grown.

Use of the Weeder.

The weeder is a very useful tool in the cultivation of potatoes when properly used. It should be run crosswise of the rows after each cultivation as long as the size of the plants will permit. It helps to pulverize the surface and destroys many of the weeds in the rows where they cannot be reached with the cultivator, thus making hand hoeing less necessary. Some growers continue to use the weeder lengthwise of the rows after the plants are too large to permit running it crosswise by removing some of the teeth from directly over the row.—American Cultivator.

Providing Early Greens.

Turnips if left in the ground will produce early greens in spring, and so will the stalks of cabbage if they are left with the roots in the ground.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madson, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and a feverish disposition. Only "De at a" Druggists.
