SENATORIAL FIGHT IN OKLAHOMA HEATED

Special to the Daily News.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 12.—

The friends and supporters of United States Senator Owen, in his fight for renomination against former Governor Charles N. Haskell, are of the opinion that the Senator's chances have been materially strengthened by the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President. The senatorial battle will end a little more than three weeks hence, when a general primary of all parties will be held for the indorsement of candidates for United States Senator, members of the Judiciary, representatives in Congress and members of the legislature.

Early in the Democratic presidential contest ex-Governor Haskell, who is a former Ohio man, announced himself in favor of Governor Harmon of the Buckeye State for the presidential nomination and endeavor, though without success to swing Oklahoma into line for the Harmon boom. Senator Owen, on the other hand, made it known as early as last summer that he was plainly opposed to the nomination of Governor Harmon. He stated his willingness to support either Wilson or Clark, but absolutely refused to have anything to do with the boom for the Buckeye chief executive.

The stand taken by Senator Owen has naturally met with favor by the so-called progressive Democrats of Oklahoma. His friends believe that the Baltimore nomination is bound to materially help the Senator's cause.

The Democratic contest for the senatorship is confined to Owen and Haskell, while on the Republican side there are five aspirants for the toga. Prominent among them is "Dynamite Ed" Perry, who led the Roosevelt forces to victory in Oklahoma. The fight, of course, will be made for control of the legislature, which is now Democratic by a good majority.

BABY PICTURES.

Says Baker: "No more mistakes and bad picture dealings with the little folks. We have got something up our sleeve ahead of the other fellow and it works to perfection. All we ask is to bring the little folk in the middle of the day when we have plenty of light. Our pictures will be fifty per cent better than we have less failures. Baker's Studio."

FEWER STORKS IN ALABAMA

System of Registration is Being Tried to Learn About Migratory Birds.

Every year the number of storks to be seen in Alabama becomes less. Of the four nests perched on the big chimney on the old roof of Birmingham, only one has been occupied this year.

In many of the villages the great migrators have ceased for a long time to relieve the landscape, and it seems only a question of time when the stork in Alabama will be a memory. Various are the causes assigned for this decrease—the draining of the marshes, the multiplication of telephone and telegraph wires and the smoke from factory chimneys.

In Germany for the better study of storks there has been created a sort of service in connection with the Education Department which tends to act up an "etat civil" for each bird, or, in other words, to register them after the manner which obtains for citizens in France.

Each bird is captured where possible and a metallic disk affixed to its leg, and German officials, wherever the birds are believed to migrate, have instructions to send to the department any information they can gather concerning storks who are German subjects. (Possibly this labeling may have something to do with the scarcity.) By this system of registration the authorities have learned something of the migratory habits of the bird; for instance, one was found dead at the Cape of Good Hope whose place of origin was eastern Prussia.

A point of interest relative to the scarcity of the stork has been brought under the notice of the German authorities by a doctor at Port Elizabeth, who suggests that they have been poisoned through eating grasshoppers or locusts which have been killed by arsenic. A correspondent, however, of an Alsace-Lorraine journal hints that the cause is to be found nearer at home.

Home Life in the Windy City. Gustav H. De Kolkey of Chicago had his wife arrested on the charge of robbing him in his own house.

"My wife, her brother and a bander," he declared, "snaked up behind me and here me down to the floor. Then, while the two men held me down, your honor, my wife went through my pockets and robbed me of $11."

"Did you rob your husband?" queried the court.

"I cannot tell a lie," replied Mrs. De Kolkey, simply. "There was no other way to get money out of him. He hasn't given me a cent for a year, and first I tried to chloroform him, but he always sleeps on his face. So I called my brother and we held him and I got what was in his pockets."

"Perfectly justifiable," announced the court.

HER HOUN' DAWGS JONAH'S
Slump in the Market Caught Widow Storekeeper Overstocked.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—There is a little general store in a rickety old frame building in Pennsylvania avenue close to Capitol Hill. The widow who runs it bought a supply of miniature "houn' dawgs" about a month ago when the Champ Clark boom was at its height. She filled the display window with them and advertised them at twenty-five cents each. To-day she removed the quarter sign and put a "two for a nickel" placard in its place.
"Those puppies are regular Jonahs," she explained. "They sold like wildfire for a few days, but just one week ago yesterday the sales stopped and I haven't been able to get rid of one of them since. They are supposed to be signs of good luck, but they haven't brought me any luck."

OFFICEHOLDERS SHY AT NEW PARTY
Want to Let Well Enough Alone—Standpat Congressmen Appeal to Taft.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The Roosevelt third party movement is striking snags all along the line. Republican officeholders, from constable to United States Senator, are afraid of the Colonel's proposition. They want to let well enough alone. While progressive Congressmen are appealing to Colonel Roosevelt to let them manage their own affairs and to look after his interest without the interference of a third party, alleged reactionary Congressmen are appealing to Mr. Taft to do what he can to prevent the nomination of two electoral tickets in their States.
