INTELLECTUAL FEAST AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM ON LAST EVENING

Rev. Dr. Thomas Nicholson Speaks on the Man for 20th Century Before Appreciative Audience.

The last two inches of a man is what is needed for the successful man of the twentieth century. Thus spoke Rev. Dr. Thomas Nicholson at the Public School Auditorium last night.

The greatest intellectual feast of years was the lecture by Rev. Dr. Thomas Nicholson, secretary of the General Board of Education of the M. E. Church, at the Public School Auditorium last evening. The subject of the distinguished visitor was "The Man for the Twentieth Century."

Of course, the inclemency of the weather kept quite a number away, but those who were present were the "losers," according to the statement of Congressman John H. Small who was the first of Dr. Nicholson's while he was here. It was a pity that every school boy and girl and every parent in Washington could not have been present and heard the great truths presented by this gifted educator.

Dr. Nicholson is the secretary of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He arrived here yesterday to make the final arrangements looking towards the erecting of the college to be esablished at Washington, for which the city gave $5,000 cash and 20 acres of land. Nearly all the entire day yesterday was occupied by Dr. Nicholson in viewing the site, etc., and making the final arrangements.

Yesterday afternoon he was a guest of the Chamber of Commerce and was met by quite a number of citizens.

Although the notice was short that he would speak at the Public School auditorium last night and too, the inclemency of the weather debarred quite a number from hearing him, those who were present heard an address that will live long in memory. The distinguished speaker was originally presented by Hon. J. H. Small. The lecture, while deep in thought, was simple in presentation and the smallest child, and there were quite a number, could easily understand.

Dr. Nicholson has traveled extensively; he knows the world and its requirements. No such treat has been afforded the Washington people in years. The Daily News suggests that Dr. Nicholson be persuaded to repeat this lecture when he has occasion to visit Washington again, which, it is to be hoped, is not far distant.

T. R. ARRIVES AT OYSTER BAY FEELING FINE.

Oyster Bay, Oct. 23.—A week of absolute rest is all that is required, in the opinion of his physicians, to put Colonel in the best of condition. At the end of that time, if he follows the strict regime which has been planned for him, it is expected that he will be able to take up the campaign in its closing days.

The colonel reached Sagamore Hill from Chicago shortly after 10 o'clock today and walked unassisted up the stairs and went to bed, expecting to remain there most of the day. When the automobile carrying Colonel Roosevelt reached the house, the colonel stepped out, declining assistance. "It's mighty good to be home again," he said.

While a week was set as the period of absolute rest it was explained that for a considerably longer time Colonel Roosevelt must avoid hard work and will be impossible for him to attempt to make many speeches.

Several weeks will be required for the complete healing of the wound and the knitting of the fractured rib. Only a handful of persons were on hand when the colonel stepped from his car and walked unassisted to a waiting automobile. He was driven immediately to Sagamore Hill.

J., November 2, and may go from there direct to Cincinnati, where he will cast his vote. Mrs. W. W. Campbell and son, Warren, of Hunter's Bridge, N. C., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fell, on Bonner street.

A COMPARISON

(By Jos. V. Rowe.)

As we behold the political situation of our own beloved country, we can not help associating the present with the almost forgotten past. Though we are inclined to keep it secret in our minds we cannot help seeing a striking comparison between our own political situation and that of Rome during the consulships of Caesar and Pompey.

At this time Rome was in a critical condition. The consul and senate were at variance; the nobles and the common people were at strife. The nobles were afraid that they were losing some of their power, and that the people might become too powerful. The common people, on the other hand were just waking up to the consciousness of their condition. They saw that the nobles had too much power. They wished to remedy this evil; therefore they began to clamor for social and political justice.

This same condition exists in the United States at the present time, though probably not to such an extreme. For some time past President Taft and the Senate have been at variance; the privileged classes,—that is, the wealthy, the big capitalists, the great co-operations, and political bosses,—and the common people are now at strife, contending for supreme power. The first named classes are becoming very uneasy about the safety of their position. The common people, on the other

The policeman who arrested Mrs. Nicholas Mattson, stopped with his prisoner at the public school and told Mrs. Mattson's son, fifteen years old, to go home and care for the little children.

The boy found the little ones suffering from the cold and started a fire in the kitchen stove. He left the house for a few moments, locking the door.

When he returned the building was in flames. The charred bodies were found later beside the stove.

ELECTION IN ALL STATES TO OCCUR NEXT WEEK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—One week from next Tuesday the voters in the forty-eight states of the union will express their preferences for President and Vice President of the United States. In forty-six of the states representatives in the next congress—the sixty-third—will be named. Twenty-nine states will vote for governors and other state officers and in half a dozen major state officials are to be elected.

Maine, Vermont, Kansas and Georgia have held their state elections, but the two latter states will, on November 5, elect representatives in Congress. Maine and Vermont have already chosen their Congressmen as well as state officers.

The states that will elect governors are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

The electoral disputes arising between the regular Republicans and the Progressives have been settled in practically all of the states. Confusion still exists, however, in regard to some of the state tickets. Straight Republican tickets have been named in all of the states, excepting one or two in the South. The Democrats have tickets in all of the states in which elections are to be held. The new third party has put up a separate ticket in all of the states in which the regular Republican nominees were not satisfactory to the "progressives." The Socialists nor other state officers in twenty-seven states. The Prohibition party has complete state tickets in twenty-one states. In addition, tickets of the Socialists, Labor, Independence, Populist, and other minor parties will appear on the ballots in some of the states.

The Progressives, Socialists, and Prohibitionists have nominated candidates for Congress in many districts, and in others labor unions or federations have endorsed Democrats or Republicans who are believed to be favorable to their cause.

The Progressives have named complete tickets for governor and other state officers in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah and Washington.

The Socialist party has complete state tickets in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Nebraska, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The Socialists this year have nominated a candidate for governor of South Carolina where for many years there has been but one state ticket—the Democratic. In Wisconsin the Socialist ticket appears under the name of the Social Democratic party, to conform with the election laws of that state. In Minnesota, for a similar reason, the Socialist party appears on the ballot as the Public Ownership Party.

In many of the states proposed constitutional amendments, laws, questions, or propositions will be voted upon. Oregon, Kansas, Arizona, Wisconsin and Michigan will vote on a proposed amendment to give the franchise to women. Colorado has a long list of proposed new laws to be passed upon by the voters and Oklahoma will decide the troublesome question as to whether the State capital shall be Guthrie or Oklahoma City.

Many of the states will elect legislatures that will have the naming of United States senators. A total of thirty-three seats in the United States senate will be at stake in the election. Of these eighteen are now occupied by Republicans and thirteen by Democrats. Two vacancies, caused by the death of Charles J. Hughes of Colorado, and the enforced retirement of William Lorimer of Illinois, bring the total up to thirty-three.

SCHRANK IS SORRY HE SHOT ROOSEVELT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 23.—John Schrank has arrived at the stage of being sorry for his attempt upon the life of Colonel Roosevelt, according to the statement yesterday of a prisoner on trial in Municipal Court.

John Frey, on trial for murder, was lodged in the same tier of cells with Schrank. He has played checkers with Schrank, and during one game Schrank, according to Frey, said:

"I considered it my duty at the time I fired, to rid the country of a third term. But I am sorry now."
