JAMES L. MAYO Proprietor.
CARL GOERCH Editor.

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, OCT. 12, 1915.

If you haven't yet taken advantage of the many bargains offered by the merchants during "Dress Up Week," make it a point to visit their stores tomorrow, before all of their stock is gone.

A. B. C. powers are in accord with the U. S. on the Mexican policy. Let us hope that the newest developments will be successful in promoting P. E. A. C. E.

The coal man and the wood man have captured the trenches of the ice man.—News and Observer. But no matter who occupies the trenches, Father gets it in the neck just the same.

"So many men are handicapped by their beauty," moans the Greenville Reflector. And so are the women, Son.

The News and Observer wants to make every day in the year a Fire Prevention day. We refuse to join in the movement. These cold mornings we've simply got to have a fire.

ROTTEN JOURNALISM.

As a sample of the filthiest, dirtiest and most utterly shameful journalism, we are reproducing an editorial which appeared in the Washington Progress of last week. Realizing the futility of its attacks against the Daily News, The Progress turns its attention to the Greenville Reflector and publishes the following slanderous statement against the editor of that paper:

"That thing, whatever it is or wherever it stays, which writes not for the Greenville Reflector, is nothing but a low common meddler into the affairs of others and is unworthy of notice or the respect of decent people. When The Progress took notice of what it wrote we were under the impression that without knowing the facts or the record of Jim Mayo whom it was defending it had done itself and us an injustice we felt that it was nothing but fair to it to give it an opportunity to correct its error. Now that it is clear that it does not desire to be fair and has lent its columns to a writer of such low and depraved methods, The Progress apologizes to its readers for replying to it, which was done in good faith, and promises to pay no attention to the prating of such a low base source only when it shall become necessary to do so to protect public interest. Of course this was the method adopted to divert this paper and the public mind from the record of Jim Mayo, which we propose to drop until he tries to mislead the people again."

Seldom, if ever, have we ever seen any article that has caused a more profound sense of disgust than the above. It is a pity that the Progress cannot find something better to do than to make personal attacks against its contemporaries. Washington and Beaufort county could realize much benefit through the space which the Progress now uses in denouncing other papers. The editor of that paper, however, does not seem to take that view of the matter.

The editorial evidently was not exactly to the liking of the Reflector, for that paper came out the following day with a short but strongly worded paragraph against the Progress. The Reflector would have done better if it had paid no attention to such muck-raking articles as appear from time in the Progress. The Reflector article was as follows:

"We should like very much to get a look at that phenomenal specimen of supposed humanity that writes slush that fills the columns of the Washington Progress. We have our own ideas about his origin and we would like to look at it to see if our guess is correct."

The Progress boasts of "protecting public interests." All the "public interests" that the Progress has ever protected, could be written on the back of a postage stamp—with half of the stamp torn off.

THE CIRCUS.

There is no amusement in the world that probably furnishes more general fun and delight than the circus. Young and old, from the time the first bill heard appears on the streets, eagerly await the arrival of the big event and long after it has passed, it remains with them as a most pleasant recollection.

Older people enjoy the circus as much—if not more—than the youngsters. It isn't the events and hundreds of attractions that appeal to them so much as it is the general atmosphere and surroundings of days gone by. It reminds them of their boyhood and youth. It is often surprising to see some stately old gentleman passing through the circus grounds with a highly dignified air. He may be some high official or prominent citizen, and one cannot help but wonder what he can find to attract him to a circus. But "way down deep" under that coat of dignity and pride—there is probably just as much "boy" in that man as there is in the most tawdry-headed youngster that plays One O' Cat in the back-lots of the city. Then again you will probably see some elderly man, leading a child along by the hand. You immediately surmise that he is at the circus in order to show his child the sights. Seven times out of ten, however, you would probably be wrong, and if you took the trouble to inquire into matters, you would, in all likelihood, find that the child was borrowed from some neighbor in order to furnish an excuse for our "elderly gentleman's" presence at the circus.

When the circus comes to Washington Friday, and you see some of our highly-respected and most dignified citizens throwing peanuts at the elephants and laughing themselves sick over the clowns' antics, don't think that they have gone into their second childhood—they are there for the purpose of bringing back some of the recollections of days long gone by and to join in the fun with the young boys and girls again.

It's a great thing—is a circus.

ENDURANCE

Is one of the biggest factors in modern warfare. And tobacco is a powerful aid to endurance—not strong, rank tobacco, but PICNIC TWIST, the mild, long-lasting chew, without black tobacco's jerk on the nerves.

Pic Nic Twist 5¢ CHEWING TOBACCO

You want a clean tobacco that you can chew all day? That means you want PICNIC TWIST, the mellow, soft chew. Try it once, and bid good-bye to black tobacco. Buy it by the twist or the air-excluding dum of 11 twists.

Stock Trout Stream With Flies.
The British Salmon and Trout Association asks anglers and fishery owners to send to its secretary, Sir Wrench Towse, Fishmonger's hall, London, E. C., details of cases in which the valuable water-bred flies have been increased substantially in number by any special measures, such as the introduction, by the planting of eggs or larvae or the liberation of mature flies on the banks of a river or lake; and the improvement of a stream or lake by the cultivation of special weeds, careful removal of mud and so on.

A FINE WHOOPING COUGH REMEDY.

Mother, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucous in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality make this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it, new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust, of April 15, 1902, of the Washington Light and Water Company to The Title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton, Penn'a, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Beaufort County, North Carolina, in Book 117, pages 185 to 208 inclusive, and of the resignation, and transfer of trusteeship pursuant to Article Fifteenth of the mortgage, whereby the trusteeship passed from The Title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton, Penn'a, to the undersigned, which transfer was recorded, January 21, 1907, in said office in Book 144 at page 160; (default having been made in the payment for upwards of two years last past of the interest on the bonds by said mortgage secured, and the whole principal debt having thereby matured and become payable, and demand having been made therefor by the holders of all the bonds outstanding,) the undersigned will on Friday, the twelfth day of November A. D. 1915, at twelve o'clock noon, at the door of the Court House of Beaufort County, in the city of Washington, North Carolina, sell to the highest bidder the following described land, franchises, etc., to-wit:

The first tract in said mortgage described, being situated in the city of Washington, Beaufort County, North Carolina, known and designated in the plan of that part of said town or city as Van Norden Town, as Lot Number fourteen (14) and is the lot on which the Gas House is situated and which fronts on Third Street, containing ninety-five (95) feet frontage on Third Street, and running back towards Second Street by parallel lines two hundred and ten (210) feet.

Also the gas plant of the company, together with all tubing, pipes, stop boxes, gas service, machinery, gas houses, tanks, buildings, improvements, erections, superstructures, tools, gauges, cocks, valves, boilers, meters and meter testers.

Also the rights and franchises from the town and city of Washington to operate a gas plant.

And all land, premises, plants, contracts, leases, rights, licenses, easements, franchises and privileges and property of every kind and description whatsoever, real, personal and mixed, of the said Company, and wherever situated; together with all and singular the easements, betterments, improvements and appurtenances belonging to the said premises, or in any wise thereto appertaining together with the reversions, remainders, incomes, rents, issues, and profits thereof and all the estate, right, title, interest, property, possession, claim and demand of the Company of, in and to the same and every part thereof, with the appurtenances, whether at law or in equity.

Terms cash, but attention is called to the last sentence of said article relative to the application of bonds in payment of any bid.
