GETTING RID OF MALARIA
 Treated With Quinine Before Middle of May, Disease May Be Prevented.
 Raleigh, Feb. 5.—What may be regarded as a new step in the fight against malaria is the conclusion of the United States Public Health Service made public today that mosquitoes in the latitude of the Southern States ordinarily do not carry the infection through the winter and that people addicted to malaria, if treated with quinine previous to the middle of May or before mosquito time, may not only be cured of the disease themselves but may prevent infecting a new supply of mosquitoes and consequently giving other people the infection.
 This important scientific discovery regarding the continuance of the disease from season to season was made by dissecting over 3,000 Anopheles mosquitoes in malarious districts during the early spring months without finding a single infected insect. Not until May 15 was the first malarial infection in the body of a mosquito discovered.
 "There is no doubt," says the State Board of Health, "but that quinine is the best means of treating malaria and it may go a long way toward preventing its spread, but destroying the breeding places of the Anopheles or malaria-carrying mosquito is the main source of eradicating the disease." The Board recommends draining all standing water where practicable, filling up low places, oiling what are likely to be breeding places, and screening as preventive measures against malaria.

Fortunately I heard of Sloan's Liniment and after using it three or four days am up and well. I am employed at the highest department store in S. F. where they employ from six to eight hundred hands, and they surely will hear all about Sloan's Liniment."—H. H. Smith, San Francisco, Cal.—Jan.

MR. HOBART BOSWORTH— SUPREME SCREEN STAR
 Hobart Bosworth is recognized throughout the United States as the foremost screen star. With a dramatic foundation built upon many years of legitimate stage experience in every department, from prop boy to leading man and stage director, he was eminently fitted for his work before the camera when he decided to forsake the speaking stage and work exclusively in pictures. He formed his own company, Bosworth, Inc., and released for a long while on the Paramount program. Perhaps his most widely known production was that of Jack London's "The Sea Wolf," in which he achieved national success.
 Mr. Bosworth has been with the Universal Company about eight months, and has produced and played in some four or five features. "A Little Brother of the Rich" is perhaps the best thing he has ever done before the camera. He runs the whole gamut of the emotions, and his marvellously realistic portrayal of the role of Leamington, the actor, stands unprecedented. An all star cast, including Hobart Henley, Jane Novak, Mand George, who played the wife in "Business is Business" and others of note. You will certainly miss a rare treat if you fail to see this wonderful production. The Hellmo is offering these excellent features at no increase in price, but at the same time, they are really worth a quarter, if compared with the majority of so called "features" that the market is flooded with.

 EIGHTY-TWO CADETS WILL BE DISMISSED
 Naval Cadets Recommended for Dismissal Fell Below a Grade of 62 1/2 the Past Term.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Eighty-two cadets at Annapolis Naval Academy were recommended for dismissal for failing in studies in a report to Secretary Daniels today by the academic board of the institution. The board agreed to give a number of the cadets who made low marks a chance to make up, as first reports indicated that 220 out of the 896 cadets in the academy had failed.
 Secretary Daniels said he had taken the recommendation of the board for dismissal of the 82 cadets under consideration. He may consult with President Wilson before passing upon the recommendation.

Leap Year, Hurrah!

The London Sketch of Dec. 15 contains Phrynette's breezy letter of the week's doings an amusing account of a sketch by Barrie, given recently at Sunderland House. The playlet is entitled "The Typist's Mistake," and the mistake was none other than that of reversing the parts in the play she was copying, so that the man utters what was intended to be the lady's speeches, while the lady speaks the man's lines.
 "I watched," says Phrynette, "several women, noting with joy Gladys Cooper's masterly wavings of the COY male, and a fearful thought struck me. Perhaps that is how, after the war, we'll have to woo and win you!"
 Not merely "after the war," Phrynette, nor yet "have to." Isn't this leap year? And what of the everlasting now?
 "Women have had to do a lot of waiting," says Nellie L. McClung in her book "In Times Like These."
 "Long, weary waiting. The well brought up young lady diligently prepares for marriage—makes dollies and hemstitches linen, sets her blue trunk ready and—waits. She must not appear anxious or concerned—not at all. She must just—wait. When a young man comes along and shows her any attention she may accept it, but if, after two or three years of it, he suddenly leaves her and devotes himself to some other girl she must go back and sit down beside the blue trunk again and—wait! He has merely exercised the man's right of choosing, and when he decides that he does not want her she has no grounds for complaint."
 "She may see a young man to whom she feels attracted, but she must not show it by even so much as the flicker of an eyelash. Here is the waiting part. No more crushing criticism can be made of a woman than that she is anxious to get married. It is all right for her to be passively willing, but she must not be anxious. She must wait."
 "Why should not women have the same privilege as men to choose their mates? Marriage means more to a woman than to a man. She brings in a larger contribution than he; the care and upbringing of the children depend upon her faithfulness, not on his. Why should she not have the privilege of choosing?"
 "The time will come, we hope, when women will be economically free and mentally and spiritually independent enough to refuse to have their food paid for by men; when women will receive equal pay for equal work and have all avenues of activity open to them and will be free to choose their own mates without shame or indelicacy and when men will not be afraid of marriage because of the financial burden, but free men and free women will marry for love and together work for the sustenance of their families. It is not too ideal a thought."

Rubber Plant's Winter Cure.
 Rubber plants need a sun bath every day. Their feet should be kept damp, but not wet. The leaves should be washed twice a week in good soap and rinsed in clear water.
 When the pot gets too full of roots repot the plant. Also give it a dose of diluted ammonia occasionally.
 With regard to the housewife's potted plants generally, Uncle Sam says she should chase the woolly white mealy bugs and the little red ants away from them with a toothpick. She may drown the red spider with a squirt gun. If the bugs and spiders shatter your preparedness program you are advised to cut the plants off within an inch of their lives and throw the cuttings away. The plants will grow again.
 The green fly, which is not so green as it looks, won't bother your plants if you keep them well bathed and fed.

For Dry Cleaning.
 In cleaning any fabric with gasoline or similar fluid it sometimes happens that a ring is left around the garment in process of cleansing. To prevent such a ring it is recommended that by adding common table salt to the gasoline used spots can often be removed from delicate fabrics in a most satisfactory manner.
 If, however, a ring has been left the place cleansed should be wet again and immediately covered with stiff damp with fuller's earth, extending just beyond the ring. Let this remain on for some time, and when brushed off the spot should have disappeared. Gypsum may be used in like manner instead of the fuller's earth if preferred.

The Earliest Maps.
 It was among the Egyptians that the first maps appeared. They were wooden tablets on which land and sea, roads and rivers, were fairly accurately outlined. The evidence of such maps is not only furnished in the old Egyptian papyrus rolls, but some of the actual maps have been discovered. It was once contended that the Greeks were the inventors of the art of cartography, but it has been proved that the Egyptians and Babylonians antedated them in this respect some 2,000 years or more.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY.
 The historical department of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington has just accepted and placed on view a bronze bas-relief of the late Susan B. Anthony by Michael Jacobs, a painter and sculptor of note residing in that city.
 The bas-relief, which is in the "modern style," being of the school of Rodin, is a noteworthy example of the present tendency in sculpture, which is to keep the relief as low as possible. The relief on the medallion of Miss Anthony is only one-fourth of an inch high. The picture is that of a thoughtful idealist, with just a suggestion of the unconquerable fire which shone out through the bold personality of the great suffrage leader.
 As a compliment to the National American Woman Suffrage association, of which Miss Anthony was president from 1892 until her death in 1906, Mr. Jacobs has had cast a second copy of the bas-relief, which was formally presented to the national association during its forty-seventh annual convention in Washington Dec. 14 to 19.
 Mr. Jacobs is well known as a portrait painter, having executed many commissions for titled Europeans during his stay abroad.

Beefsteak Smothered in Tomatoes.
 Some day when the oven is being used for other cooking plan to have for dinner round or planked steak cooked with tomatoes, and for this dish either fresh or canned ones can be utilized. Place the steak in a slightly greased baking pan which has a close fitting cover. Cover it with tomatoes, sliced if fresh or just turned out of the can if canned. Add also one small onion coarsely chopped and a small piece of bay leaf, together with salt and pepper. Cover the whole closely and cook for an hour and a half, without removing the cover of the baking dish. Add no water, as the tomatoes are moist enough.—Philadelphia Ledger.
