BRITISH MOTORISTS HAVE MORE TROUBLE GETTING GAS THAN AMERICANS

London, Sept. 19.—If American motorists feel troubled over the cost of gas for their buzz carts, let them listen to the Britishers' troubles and rejoice at their own good fortune.

The British private motor car owner is unable to get the gas he wants at any price. When German submarines began torpedoing the oil tank ships from the United States, the American oil men quit shipping it. Consequently gasoline is so scarce in England that it is given out by card to car owners in very limited quantities. Not only is the private motor car owner compelled to present his oil card whenever he wants to run his machine a few miles, but the little gas he gets is begrudged him. Many a motor car is in its garage until after the war on this account.

The government has allowed 50 per cent of the amount of gas demanded by commercial car owners, 50 per cent of that asked for taxis, 75 per cent of the private motor owners' demand and 2 gallons a month for motorcycles. All evidences point to the doom of private motor cars until after the war. And the private motor car owner blames the submarines and the American oil shipper.
