Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Theford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.
"It certainly has no equal for a gripe, bad colic, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Theford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THRIVING TOWN OF EDWARD

Edward, Nov. 5.—Edward is a busy little town at this time. Early in the morning it is very interesting to watch the farmers all making their way "down on the farm," where they are harvesting a bountiful crop. The people in this section of the country have been blessed, with "peace and plenty."

Our school is now in progress under the instruction of W. H. Ross and Miss Esther Tripp, having the same teachers. They knew right where to begin and are already accomplishing good work.

Miss Mayme Edwards who attended the Belhaven fair, returned to her home Saturday afternoon.

Quite a beautiful marriage was witnessed at the Christian church a few days ago, when Miss Margaret Tuten, one of our most loved girls, became the bride of H. M. Harris, who now holds a responsible position with the N. S. R. R. at Pantego, N. C. The ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by our pastor, J. M. Perry.

Miss Pearle Cratch, one of Beaufort county's most efficient teachers, left last week for Leechville, where she will resume her duties as teacher of the school at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lem Davenport, of Morehead City, spent the day here a few days ago visiting their many friends and relatives.

The Literary Society of Edward school gave a very interesting program Friday night, after which candy made by the pupils was sold, and the neat little sum of $7.00 was raised for the library fund.

G. H. Waters and family of New Bern spent Sunday here as the guests of W. T. Warren.

J. B. Grimes made quite an interesting address at the school building here last Monday night. We feel highly honored that he paid us a visit and we are looking forward with greatest pleasure to having Stephen C. Bragaw with us tonight. Owing to rainy weather, the crowd was not so large as we had hoped for to hear Mr. Grimes, but the weather is grand today and we expect a large crowd out tonight.

Grape-Nuts Flavor

Grape-Nuts food is probably the most appetizing form in which honest whole wheat is utilized as food.

But to whole wheat is added malted barley in making Grape-Nuts, and the sense of taste quickens at once when a spoonful of the food is eaten with cream. For the barley has a rich, individual taste which, blended with the sweetness of wheat, creates a rare flavor recognized by the palate as unusually new and delicious.

Aside from its wonderfully vitalizing value as a food, Grape-Nuts has a flavor that has made it a favorite everywhere.

SKUNK HOLLOW CIVIC CLUB HAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

(By Brother Fox)

The Skunk Hollow Civic Club met last Tuesday night in regular meeting. Muck Simpson, president of the league, called the meeting to order, and after the usual opening exercises, observed that as the attendance was the biggest it had been in some time he would advise the members to take up some important matters for discussion and not waste time on trivial affairs, as the league was gotten up for the benefit of the whole community, and he thought the most important matters should be taken up when the attendance was the best.

Old Man Buck Fritchett then rose up and said that he had not been a member very long but he understood that it was for the good of all, and all could have a say, and if they were a "lookin'" for important matters he would like to call their attention to a matter which it seemed to him was a very important one at the present time.

Muck told him he could have the floor for ten minutes and that he was sure they would all be glad to hear from him. "So Old Man Buck, as they call him," put in:

"Well, fellow members, I jes' want to call yore attention to these here mall order clubs, as they call 'em. About ev'ry day this week there has been somebody 'round to my house gittin' up orders for these clubs, a tryin' to git Sal to take a order with 'em, and she has bargained for Lord knows how much stuff. They call 'em 'Larkin Clubs,' 'Lee Clubs,' and Lord knows how many other sort uv clubs. They say when they git up ten dollars' worth uv orders they will send 'em off and the goods will come right back an' you can pay fer 'em when they bring 'em 'round. They say they want you to please help 'em as they will git a premium worth ez much ez the order 'mounts to, an' ef you will kee pon with 'em and give 'em a dolla order ev'ry month, the company will send you a nice premium after awhile worth as much as what you have spent with 'em."

"Now, it strikes me that somebody has got to pay for this fine premium the agents gits fer nothin' and it strikes me that the ones that put their money in these here orders will git stuff worth 'bout half what money they put in it, and the other half will pay for the premium to give to the agent fer nothin'." I may be wrong, but I jes' want ter know the sense uv this here meetin' on the subject. As fer myself, I haint never got anything fer nothin' an' these here sort uv clubs looks sorter juberous to me. I'd like ter know what you all think about it."

Jimmy Flax then spoke up and said that Old Man Buck needn't be afraid, as his wife had got up several of those orders and that she was a getting up one now, and that the people always seemed to be pleased with the goods they got. He said his wife had got a whole lot of nice premiums in this way, including a bookcase, a tea set, a bedstead, and a set of knives and forks, which did not cost her a cent, as the company always paid the freight and it looked to him like it would be a good thing if everybody would belong to a club like that. Said if folks would join in and take a dollar's worth a month they would never feel it, and they would thereby get a lot of things they needed, which they wouldn't get if they didn't belong to it.

Ap. Quidley then got up and began: "There is a way that seemeth right to a man but the end thereof is the way of death." Jimmp thinks these clubs are a mighty good thing, but I am here to tell you a different tale. Old Man Buck, you are on the right road and I am glad you brought the matter up tonight. Gentlemen, let me tell you, if the people of this place keeps on patronizing just such clubs, this neighborhood is going to be bankrupt and that before long. The stuff you get aint worth half what you pay; the bulk of your money goes to pay for the premium the agents gets, like Old Man Buck said. If you want to get the worth of your money, better go to the store and buy it than to mess with one of these clubs, and then if you are able to give anything to charity, give it where it is worst needed. My wife belonged to one of these clubs once and every month it pulled a dollar out of my pocket for nothing that was worth anything much. The things I needed I didn't have the money to buy. Matters got so bad I had to threaten running my wife off to make her drop it. To tell the truth, we got down so pore I actually had to take my mule's saddle blanket, to make me a shirt, and I was ashamed to appear in public for two months, and I want to apologise to the Civic Club tonight for coming to meeting a time or two with that shirt on. Only I haint got no apology for any member who is in favor of these mall order clubs. Why, my old mule's back got so sore I had to spit tobacco juice on it a whole week. None of these premium clubs for me, gentlemen."

Nick Carson then got up and said that his wife was a gittin' up an order too, and he didn't think there was any harm in it, and he thought that Old Man Buck and Ap. Quidley were a little off the track.
Pat Goober then put in: "Jimmy Flax said a while ago that if a feller belonged to one of these clubs he would never feel a dollar a month. I ordered a razor that way once and paid a dollar for it, and I did not feel that dollar anymore, it is true, but that razor pulled tears out of my eyes as big as acorns. I threw the thing over the fence."
"The other day, Nick, when your wife came around and begged me to help her, as she wanted to get a rocking chair for a premium, I gave her an order for 10 cents worth of bachelor buttons, as I knew Nick that you are such a trifling fellow that you will not provide for your family as you ought to, and I thought I would help her out that much. But it was through sympathy, I am sorry to say, and I am not going to do that any more. If you will get out and get to work, your wife won't have to be runnin' over the place as agent for such clubs."
Just then Simpson arose and said it was getting so late he guessed they better put the matter to a vote and close up. So he put the proposition before the house, and everybody who voted at all, voted solidly with Old Man Buck, Quidley and Goober.

SUFFRAGISTS OPEN A NATIONAL SCHOOL

(By United Press)

New York, Nov. 9.—A national school for suffragists will be opened in Baltimore November 13 under the direction of the National American Woman Suffrage Association for one week's intensive training. During that week, suffragists from far and near will come together for training in suffrage history, argument, parliamentary law, public speaking, organization and publicity, under such expert tutors as Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Association, Mrs. Arthur Livermore and Mrs. H. W. Wilson of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, and Mrs. Rose Geyer of Iowa.

These experienced suffrage workers will put the pupils through their paces according to the most successful campaign methods, and will not only teach lessons and give rules, but will also demonstrate their tactics with model debates, street meetings and other concrete forms of suffrage activity. The street meeting will be conducted from a decorated automobile and with its surrounding crowd and hecklers will run true to the form of the average suffrage meeting in the street.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who is conceded to be the most experienced suffrage campaigner in the United States, will show the suffragists how to organize and conduct a local political campaign. Mrs. Arthur Livermore will give the instruction in public speaking, taking up voice, enunciation, practical speaking points and speech material, and the psychology of various kinds of crowds. Mrs. Wilson will conduct the classes in suffrage history and argument, and Mrs. Geyer will have the classes in press work and publicity.

Similar suffrage schools will be opened by the National American
