CARL GOERCH

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, NOV. .2, 1918.

Perhaps Mr. Hughes intends to send his telegram of congratulation to President Wilson as a Christmas present.

The capture of Monastir caused quite a stir, judging from some of the glaring headlines that appeared in the papers.

The Republicans thought that they were going to put one over on the Democrata in the Tenth District, thinking perhaps that the latter were saleep on the job. The Democrats however, are on to the tricks of the Radicals and in this instance the trick that they endeavored to turn acted as a boomerang.-New Bern Sun Journal.

In other words, we suppose that the Tenth District will go to the party that can steal with the greatest skill. So far the Democrats in the Tenth appear to have the advantage in this respect.

PROSPERITY,-A MENACE.

The United States at the present time is enjoying what people are prone to term "the greatest era of prosperity that the country has ever known.

The farmers are getting better prices than ever before for their crops, the various manufacturing plants are selling their output at a big increase over those prices in effect a few years ago and the retailers are also selling their goods at a much higher figure.

We are enjoying "prosperity," it is true. But it is a prosperity that is unsound, unstable and that will play havoe in our land unles some radical changes are made in the near future. It is the pros perity of the PRODUCER, and not the CONSUMER! The greater the prosperity of the first; the greater the poverty of the second. And the big majority of our population is composed of consumers.

The great European war is the principal cause for our "great ere of prosperity." Before the war started the events of the world were moving along a channel that had been made through countless ages Each country knew just how much food, clothing and manufactured goods it produced and how much it consumed. If the production was greater than the consumption, the surplus was sent to some other country. There was little change, excepting the natural increase due to a larger population. Any nation could estimate with accuracy the extent of its resources. And with these conditions in effect, with a normal demand and a normal supply, there was also a normal price.

But the war has changed all this—as far as the European nations and the United States are concerned. France, England, Italy, Russia and the other countries are now calling upon us to supply them with the food, clothing and other products that they are unable to provide for themselves. Their farms and their factories are, for the greater part, idle.

We proceed to help them. We turn our manufacturing plants into munition mills, which proves to be a more profitable avenue of business. We send over ship load after ship load of wheat, of corn, of meat, of clothing and everything else that the warring nations are seeking. We get a higher price for these abroad than we do at home, so we have no hesitancy in shipping as fast as vessels can be secured to carry the cargoes.

And what is the result? Our resources for home consumption are greatly reduced. And this can result in only one course—the raising of prices. The longer the war lasts and the more we send to Europe the higher will go the prices and the more critical will our condition Just how much more of it we can stand remains to be seen. Millions of our people—especially those in crowded cities—are suf-fering because they have not the money to meet the ascending scale in the cost of the life's necessities. The future holds a sinister aspect for us. If present conditions are allowed to continue there will be riots, panics, labor wars and other disturbances. Our prosperity bids fair to become our ruin!

THE GEORGIA WAY.

At the instigation of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, the Legislature of Georgia has set apart the 18th day of November of each year as Georgia Products Day. On this day the people of Georgia are expected to dine on Georgia products exclusively an nearly as practicable, and the Governor of the State has issued a proclamation calling the attention of the people to the action of the Legislature and requesting a general observance of the day. It is pointed out that the value of this movement lies in the awakening of Georgia to a larger and more varied production of food crops, in view of the fact that the cost of food supplies has reached an unusually high price at this time, making it a matter grow larger supplies at home.

The proclamation of Governor Harris lays particular stress on the importance of a general observance of the Georgia Products Day of the present year. It is stated that general co-operation in the plan is already assured, and the celebration of the day in most places will be in the nature of a public Georgia products dinner, the menu to be composed entirely of Georgia products, many communities attempting to serve only those products grown in their immediate vicinity.

Prizes are offered for public dinners, hotel dinners, home dinners and domestic science class dinners.

Only one official dinner is allowed in each community, authority to hold up an official dinner being granted upon application to the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. In some communities, the local Chamber of Commerce will give the dinner and in others the women's clubs, in many instances the domestic science department of the Girls' High School, in order to demonstrate their ability along this line.

cock young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recips of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Rage Tes and Bulphur, properly compounded, beings bask the natural color and lastrate to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching seals and stops falling ha'r. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troubleamen. Nowadaya, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Bulphar Compound," you will get a large betite of this famous old recips for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your half, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or self-trush with it and draw this through rour half, as it does it so naturally and increases, and after another amplication r two, your half becomes beautifully lark, thick and glossy.
