MRS. WARREN HOOD, EDITOR

MRS. HOOD HOSTESS

H. W. Hood was charhostess at a four-course party at her home Friday honoring her husband Miss Nancy Hood on their anniversary.
The dinner table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth and glowing candles shed a soft glow over the room. Guests at their places by attractive place cards. Ash trays were set as favors to the men and ladies received perfume.
Following the delicious dinner, several useful and attractive gifts were given the honorees.
George Whatley, a recent guest, was also remembered by the hostess with an attractive gift.
After dinner bridge and other games were played by the guests until late in the evening.
