

Dunnegan Seeks A State Office

Raleigh Newspaperman Announces That He Will Be A Candidate For Secretary Of State In Primary Elections Next Year

Raleigh, June 10.—M. R. (Mike) Dunnagan, Raleigh newspaper correspondent, announces that it is his "present purpose" to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State in the primary and election next year. His statement is as follows: "It is my present purpose to ask the Democrats of North Carolina to nominate and elect me Secretary of State. I have talked over this ambition with party leaders and workers for more than a year. Many of them encourage it and promise their support. I am making this statement now to prevent uncertainty and to let my friends and Democrats of the State know of my intention."

McDon Rush Dunnagan is a native of Yadkinville, N. C., finishing high school and teaching two years in Yadkin county. He practically worked his way through the University of North Carolina, waiting on table and managing the former University Inn. He was secretary, treasurer and president of the Dialectic Literary Society and business manager of "The University Magazine." Since graduation he has been secretary-treasurer of U. N. C. Alumni Associations of Forsyth, Mecklenburg and Durham Counties.

He stated his newspaper work as reporter, later city editor, of the Winston-Salem Journal, later being city editor of the Charlotte Observer, managing editor of the Asheville Citizen, manager of the Durham News Bureau, and for several years has been Raleigh correspondent of several newspapers.

During the last 15 months of Governor A. W. McLean's administration, he was his personal secretary and was director of publicity for the State Democratic Executive Committee in the 1928 and 1934 campaigns. He is a Methodist and formerly a Kiwanian and member of the Junior Order.

He finally got in limited service (fallen arches) in the World War as private, later corporal, in the Gas Defense Division, Chemical Warfare Division, located at Philadelphia, where he published a small weekly detachment newspaper; and is a charter member of Charlotte Post of the American Legion, later belonging to Asheville, Durham and Raleigh Posts.

Annual Meeting Young Democrats

North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs Will Hold Annual Convention In Raleigh On June 28th And 29th

The North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs will meet in Annual Convention in Raleigh on June 28th and 29th and several delegates from this county are expected to attend. The State Executive Committee will be called to convene, together with the Committee on the Convention, at the Hotel Sir Walter on Thursday evening, June 27th, at 8:30 P. M.

The principal speaker of the occasion will be the Honorable Rush D. Holt, the "Baby" of the Senate, of West Virginia. Senator Holt is one of the most outstanding Young Democrats, not only in the South, but in the entire country. He was elected, defeating an old line politician and outstanding statesman, before he had reached the age of 29. He will attain the constitutional age of a United States Senator between now and the State Convention. Senator Holt has had office space in the Senate office building assigned to him, as well as desk space in the Senate Hall, but may not be sworn in until he attains his 30th birthday, on June 19th. He is said to be a speaker of rare charm, is a thorough pro-administration Democrat, and will undoubtedly have a singular appeal to the Young Democrats of the State.

A number of red-hot controversies will in all probability be slated for deliberation.

Must File HOLC Applications Now

Attention Of Home Owners In Distress Called To Closing Date Of June 27, After Which No Applications Will Be Received

Salisbury, June 17.—The attention of home owners in distress who desire aid of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, was today called to the fact that under the amendment of the HOLC Act, recently passed by Congress, the period for filing new applications will expire at midnight, June 27th, 1935. After that date, it was stated by T. C. Abernethy, State Manager of the Corporation here, no applications will be received from home owners who are in distress and who are eligible under the law for assistance, and he urged that all those desiring assistance file their applications at once.

Mr. Abernethy stated that regulations, as to eligibility, remain virtually unchanged, and those desiring complete explanation of what cases are eligible may receive it either by calling at the State Office, Post Office Building, Salisbury, N. C., or one of the District Offices, or by writing for full information. Office hours of the corporation for the summer became effective two or three weeks ago, and are from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Mr. Abernethy stated that these hours have been changed, for the convenience of the public, and application clerks will be on hand in the State and District Offices until 5:30 and later every afternoon until the time limit for filing applications expires.

District offices are located as follows: Raleigh, Charlotte, Asheville, Greensboro and Greenville.

S. B. Frink is local attorney for the HOLC and he will be glad to render any possible assistance to citizens of Brunswick county in making an application for a loan.

Farmers of Burke County recently made application to register 25 pure bred Guernsey cattle to continue the remarkable progress in developing this breed of dairy cattle in that county.

Full Program At 4-H Short Course

Four-H Club Members Who Attend Annual Meeting At State College July 24-29 Will Enjoy Full Week's Program

Four-H club members who attend the annual short course at State College, July 24-29, will enjoy a week of fun and fellowship while learning how to make rural life more attractive and profitable.

Club leaders at the college are working out plans designed to make the short course this year the best ever held. A full program of study and recreation is being arranged, said L. R. Harrill, state club leader.

Outstanding features will be the state-wide achievement day, the health pageant, inspirational talks by prominent leaders, team demonstrations of club projects, the health pageant, and practical instruction in farm and home activities.

Medals and certificates will be awarded for the most noteworthy achievements made by boys and girls individually and by clubs as a whole during the past year. A dramatic contest and a candle lighting ceremony are also on the program.

The club members will be guests of State College, whose buildings and equipment will be

Each club in the State is expected to send one or more representatives. Such a large crowd is expected that attendance will be limited to active club members, Harrill stated.

All boys and girls will room in the dormitories, he added, and will be in charge of club leaders, county farm and home agents, and extension workers who will look after their welfare at all times.

Prominent AAA Official Here

Percy Bloxam, state compliance supervisor, was in Brunswick county on Monday and Tuesday of this week for the purpose of helping County Agent J. E. Dodson straighten out any difficulties there might be in this county regarding compliance with contracts.

Mr. Bloxam, who was a Southport visitor Tuesday afternoon, declared that there was no need for him in this county. "Your county has an almost perfect record," he said. "Your compliance is about 99 per cent perfect. This is much better than most of the other counties of North Carolina."

FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question:—When will farm and home week be held at State College this summer?

Answer:—The dates are July 29 to August 2. "Conservation of Rural Resources of North Carolina," will be the topic this year and all the new policies and programs affecting North Carolina farmers will be reviewed.

Question:—I see where boll weevil damage to cotton is predicted this year. Where can I secure information about how to fight this insect?

Answer:—Write to C. H. Brannon, extension entomologist, State College, Raleigh, for information about how to control the boll weevil. Mr. Brannon advocates the government plan for dusting with calcium arsenate and can give definite information about how to do this.

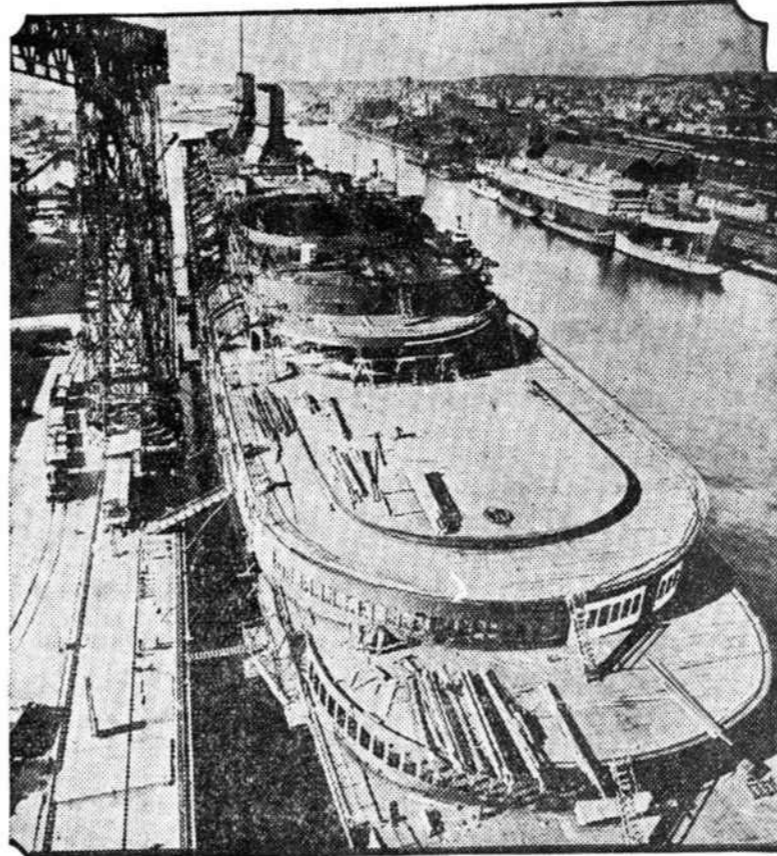

Skippy Is Now Better

"Skippy", the watch guard dog of Dr. and Mrs. William S. Doshier, went to sea the second time this season Saturday. The little dog proved to be a much better sailor that voyage than on a previous fishing trip when he was a victim of seasickness.

The fishing party of which little black dog was the "per" had good luck. Included: Dr. and Mrs. William S. Doshier, Melvin Williams, Williams, Lieutenant Glenn, Wilhelmina Livingston and Coughenour, his two dogs and son.

CAROLINA COLLEGES, CHURCHES, CULTURE

SOCIAL, Spiritual and Intellectual environment are vastly important to the prospective new resident. The cultural advantages of the Carolinas are ample and inviting.

For centuries the Carolinas have been leaders in building churches and schools; religious and educational institutions are of the highest character.

Among the institutions of higher learning are the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, established in 1789—the oldest state university in America; Duke University at Durham, destined to become the largest and wealthiest university in the country; the University of South Carolina at Columbia. The College of Charleston, founded in 1785, was the first municipal college in the nation.

Scores of other senior and junior colleges for men and women, agricultural, denominational, military and vocational institutions dot the two states.

The public school system has kept pace and "the Little Red School House" has given way to modern, well lighted, well ventilated buildings. Magnificent "consolidated schools" serve rural children, thousands of buses being utilized to carry them daily to and from school.

Carolians are churchgoers; the metropolis of the Carolinas is known as "the second largest church going city in the world," according to population, yielding only to Edinburgh, Scotland. Few, if any denominations or faiths, are not adequately represented. Settlements and shrines of the Moravians at Winston-Salem and the Quakers at Guilford College, are nationally known.

Citizens may live and rear their children in an environment that will fit them spiritually, intellectually and physically for the keen competition of today's economic and social existence.

Largest Wind-Tunnel in World Tests Full-Sized Planes in Virginia

Test Tunnel at Langley Field Surpasses Size of Giant Just Completed by French Air Ministry; Reproduces Actual Flight Conditions

THE French Air Ministry has just announced the completion of a tunnel of gigantic proportions, and an overall length of 313 feet. The air is brought into it through a collector seventy-nine feet in diameter. The air-flow is smoothed out by passage through a honey-combed grid, and then passes into the huge testing-chamber, in which an air-plane can be subjected to an artificial gale of 112 miles an hour
