

Reynolds Points To Outstanding Legislation Passed By Congress

It is readily understood that the enduring projects upon which the plumb line of history is being drawn are in a similar category. The degree of the projects in the degree of the $25-million. Therefore, it appears that the controversy in Congress is not a matter of principle, but a matter of expediency. This, therefore, is the conclusion that I took was warranted. I contended at the time that I addressed myself to this on the floor of the Senate.

As stated above, I am informed that many workers who were not on the (pre-war wage scale) were also direct relief for their respective families, in which the cost to the government was more than it would have been had the prevailing wage scale been in effect. In view of the fact that I took, and in view of the latest development in the prevailing wage scale, I would appreciate it if the people of North Carolina are fully advised that the Administration is in a late decision to take a position taken by my colleagues and myself.

Further pursuance of this I contend that unless workmen were paid a living wage, or at least the prevailing wage, recovery would not be possible since the work appropriated was designed for the purpose of absorbing the unemployed and could bring real relief only when the employees given a living wage.

World Court Vote

World matter which I recently desire to give some detail is my vote upon the World Court. I protested against the States entering the World Court because I felt confident it ultimately mean our entrance in the League of Nations, that would have meant our being involved in more foreign entanglements with the nations of Continental Europe. I am certain then and am certain that we could not have profited thereby, but to the contrary, it had been materially damaged. I believe that recent developments in world matters in the League of Nations is not offers proof of the fact my position was a correct one. For instance, Italy and Ethiopia are both members of the League of Nations. They both signed the Pact and yet at this hour, despite the fact that Italy is a member of the League of Nations, under the direction of the Dictator, Italy has sent a hundred thousand Italian Samoiland on the coast of Ethiopia in Africa for the purpose of making war upon the Black Tribes of that Republic. Unhesitatingly charge that Italy attacked upon Ethiopia and that upon that country is the most war in the world but a war against Ethiopia has raised the hands to the heavens and for the members of the League to give it the protection entitled to as a member of the League of Nations designed for the prevention of war, yet the League of Nations apparently it no heed and Italy, a member, turns a deaf ear to the voices of League of Nations.

It is the opinion that if the World Court were entered the World Court would have soon there found ourselves in the League of Nations, and with war hovering over all of Europe and Asia as now they are, would have again been made a part in somebody else's wars, the result would have been American tax payers would have again been called upon to pay Uncle Sam is tired of making the goat and I am sure that at last he has reached a decision that he had best take care of his own people and affairs at home and stop meddling in foreign matters across the globe.

Comforted and satisfied I thought that I did my best in preventing America's entrance into the World Court, and I am confident that recent developments justify the position I took.

There is another measure, "that Senator Reynolds, "that I am desirous of seeing enacted into law before the adjournment of the present Congress. I refer to the Social Security Bill which provides for the payment of pensions to the aged. I sincerely hope that Congress will provide at this session for our old citizens in the form of the most liberal allowance that the state treasury will permit. At least I hope that we shall be able to make a start toward taking care of our elderly and eventually eliminate forever that Monument to Misery, the poorhouse.
