The boxing program included seven three-round bouts, all except one of which went the full distance. Fields scored a technical knockout over Reeves. ### Farm Questions

Question: What causes the eyes of my poultry to swell and how can this be prevented? Answer: In all probability the birds showing this trouble have croup which is very prevalent at this time of the year. Where only a few birds show signs of the disease, the best control is to dispose of the affected birds, clean up and disinfect the poultry house and give the entire flock one dose of Epsom salts at the rate of three-quarters of a pound of salts to each two and 1/2 gallons of water. Check the feeding schedule and see that the flock is getting a good ration. Do not overcrowd the birds and keep them free of external and internal parasites. With these precautions, the trouble will soon disappear.

Question: Has tobacco prices this year equalled the established parity prices? Answer: Yes the parity, or fair-exchange value of tobacco was established at 18.4 cents a pound for flue-cured tobacco this year. Figures recently released from Washington show that farmers received an average price of 22.8 cents a pound for all tobacco of this type sold up to October 15. As much of the better grades have been sold since that date it is probably that the difference between parity and the actual price received will be greater than the figures given.

Question: What is the best location for a trench silo? Answer: In locating a trench silo the three most important things to consider are: drainage, soil, and convenience. It is therefore best to dig the silo on a slope or hillside. This allows all surface water to run away from rather than into the trench. A stiff clay soil is best as this prevents caving and also lessens the cost as the side walls will not have to be lined. If possible the silo should be located near the barn. However, if the drainage and soil is not right then convenience must be sacrificed for cheapness in construction.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES SPONSORED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

(Continued from page One) Delaware, was interested in a small tuberculosis hospital which was in sore need of funds. Miss Bissell promptly adopted the idea and in that year raised $3,000. From then on the Christmas Seal rapidly became a nation-wide enterprise, and since 1910 has been under the management of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Since 1919 the seal, in addition to an attractive design appropriate to the Christmas season, has always borne the double-barred cross, which is the emblem of the tuberculosis movement. These tiny seals, sold for one cent each, have made possible an organized campaign against tuberculosis that has been carried on with ever increasing emphasis year after year. They stand for something more, for they are health seals, since whatever helps to prevent tuberculosis makes for health. The accumulated pennies provide tuberculosis nurses for a vast number of communities, clinics supervised by specialists in chest diseases, and promote open-air schools and preventoria. Aid is provided for sanatoria lacking sufficient funds where official health organizations so recommend. Most important of all, a widespread educational campaign has been prosecuted vigorously through schools, clubs, and many other channels, while the National Association maintains two magazines devoted to the subject of tuberculosis. To thousands of afflicted people there has been borne the news that the disease is curable if recognized early enough and given adequate treatment. Medical research work is carried on continuously through a national committee.

"My wife likes the smartness and roominess of the Ford—but THIS V-8 ENGINE'S WHAT OPENED MY EYES!"

ENGINEERS have known for years the undisputed advantages of the V-type engine... simplicity, economy, compactness, ruggedness. But until Ford announced the first Ford V-8 in 1932, no one had found a way to bring these advantages to the low-priced field. Since its introduction this engine has been constantly refined and improved—but the basic features of Ford design have remained through the production of over two million V-8 engines. This is the engine that powers the beautiful 1936 Ford V-8... and, because it is V-type and compact, gives "all that extra room" that many a woman has wondered about in the Ford V-8 body. This is the engine which proved sparkling performance and eight cylinder smoothness are economical if you have a V-type engine with a dual-down-draft carburetor that takes the "gas" used by a four and splits it into eight equal charges. This is the engine you need for quick, sure, cold-weather starting this winter—the engine that "opened the eyes" of over two million enthusiastic Ford owners. You'll find such an engine in no other car at anywhere near the price of the Ford V-8 for 1936—So why not arrange to drive one today? YOUR FORD DEALER
