Bobby: What is it that makes corn pop?
Father: Well, you see the polygonal starch cells in the corn are of such a nature as to facilitate expansion by heat and to render it explosive in character. There is a fracture of the particles along the line of least resistance, in direction of the two main radii. The endosperm swells considerably as a result, the peripheral portions cohering with the hull but the fractured portions turning back in a more or less symmetrical manner to meet below the embryo. Why Bobby, where are you going?

Bobby: Little sister wanted to know. So I'm going to explain it to her.

"Dearest, a little bird told me you were going to buy a diamond brooch for my birthday."
"It must have been a cookoo."

Stranger: Farm products cost more than they did a while back. How do you explain it?
Farmer: Well, when a farmer is supposed to know the botanical name of what he's raising and the entomological name of the bugs that eat it and the chemical name of the stuff that will kill the bugs somebody's got to pay for all this knowledge, ain't they?

Teacher: "What insect requires the least nourishment?"
Percival: "The moth. It eat holes!"

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)
