"Sutter's Gold" And Al Jolson Picture Coming To Carolina

A famous story, now a great motion picture, "Sutter's Gold" is the heroic drama of a man's dream of empire and his love of woman. It is the tremendous story of a nation's sweep from sea to sea. It shows the souls of men in triumph; the strength of men who will not know defeat; the glory of women who helped the men they loved build our last flaming frontier.

When his great domain is torn asunder by the aons of rapacious, gold crazed men, Sutter still possesses the greatest wealth a man can hold—the deep, abiding affection that is in the loyal heart of the wife who comes to him across half the world.

The star of "Sutter's Gold" is Edward Arnold, who achieved great heights in "Diamond Jim." "Sutter's Gold" opens Thursday at the Carolina Theatre, Wilmington.

As a concluding feature of the day's program, chairman Frink made a stirring appeal to the voters to make a united effort to put over their party ticket in the general election in November.
