

Aged Resident Dies At Home

Mrs. Olive Mintz, aged lady of the Mill Branch community, passed away at her home Saturday night, April 30th.

Aunt Ollie, as she was known, was highly respected and loved by every one. She lived to be over 83 years old and despite her declining health looked after her home until she suffered a stroke just a week before her death.

She was laid to rest on Sunday afternoon in the Mintz cemetery near Shallotte by the side of her husband who preceded her to the grave seven years ago. She leaves 2 sons, B. J. Mintz, Wilmington, and Claudius Mintz, of the old home; two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Hewett, Shallotte, and Miss Julia Mintz, of the old home; nine grand children also survive.

The child population of England increased 40 per cent between 1851 and 1931.

secure votes." He devoted most of his allotted time to a plea for party loyalty over and above personal ambition.

First man introduced to the crowd by Chairman L. T. Yaskell presiding, was J. M. Roach, chairman of the board of county commissioners. He was followed by Oliver Lewis and S. J. Frink, also present members of the board who are seeking to be re-nominated. J. Roland Mintz spoke to the voters, as did R. Will Davis, Southport man. S. C. Gore and J. C. Chadwick came in late, but were given an opportunity to speak. L. C. Tripp, eighth candidate for this office, was not present.

G. T. Reid was the only candidate for the board of education who was present for the meeting.

M. A. Northrop led off the talks for aspirants for the nomination for coroner. He was followed by John G. Caison, incumbent, and Drew Long, the third entrant.

Talks made by the three men seeking nomination for the sheriff's office were short and sweet. J. A. Russ, Wrent Mintz and Dillon Gainey spoke in that order.

Captain J. B. Church made an appeal for the support of dry voters in his first talk before a political gathering. Cornelius Thomas followed him with a somewhat longer outline of policy. Included in his platform was a dry plank. R. E. Sentelle, third candidate for the nomination, was in Asheville on business. He had a case in court there that day, and another in Newton on Monday.

Clifton Moore, of Burgaw, was present at the meeting and made a fine impression on the audience in a well-stated appeal for their confidence and support in his race for Judge of the Superior court. J. J. Burney, his opponent, was not present.

Junius Powell, candidate for nomination as solicitor, spoke briefly to voters assembled. David Sinclair, the other candidate, was not present.

Neil and Eddie Spencer, veterans of other years. Fred Willing, former mainstay of the local mound corps, is expected to report this week.

Ed. Wells, Lawrence Willing and Billie Newton are other experienced players who are reporting for daily workouts. Herbert Rodgers is a valuable addition to the squad, and will be used either behind the bat or on the infield.

Younger players who have been showing an interest in the team are Hugh Spencer, Dan Clemmons and Eugene O'Brien.

Garland Hubbard is manager of the local outfit.

becoming interested in fishing. Another striking portrayal will be the absolute safety attendant on fishing at Southport. The local boatmen are noted for their carefulness and attention to the safety of all in their charge, and it is a striking fact that no life has ever been lost or endangered, nor any injury sustained by anyone engaged in sport fishing here.

As an illustration of the local carefulness, one series of six pictures will show Miss Loughlin falling overboard from the Fannie Quidley. In the next she is seen struggling in the water. The prow of a lifeboat glides into view and a life jacket is thrown with such skill that it falls within a few inches of the struggler. The boat moves alongside the girl, now supported by the jacket, and a brawny guardsman reaches over and yanks her into the boat, she is stretched across a seat and the water forced out of her lungs. The final shows the Coast Guard moving away and laughing about it, after returning the young lady to the boat from which she fell.

case. Archie Babson, white, was charged with larceny. Probable cause was found and he was bound over to Superior court under a bond of $300.00.

Grant Shelton and Elbert Her-ring, white, pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk and disorderly. Each defendant was remitted, and the costs of the case.

Tighman Blackburn, white, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon—a butcher knife. Action of nol pros with leave was taken at no cost to the county.

Doshie Blackburn, white, who pleaded guilty to charges of cursing on the public highway, was given 30 days in jail, her sentence being suspended upon payment of the costs of the case and upon the further condition that she refrain from raising further disturbance upon the property of S. J. Frink.

May Place Buoy Marker Over Wreck Of Mt. Dyrfus

by Mr. Keziah asking that the buoy marker be placed.

Old wrecks are notorious as good fishing grounds, so when it was suggested some time ago that the hull of the Mt. Dyrfus be dynamited local sportsmen protested. Superintendent Beck ascertained her location, declared that she constituted no menace to navigation and ruled that she should remain intact so long as wind and weather would permit.

building. Most noticeable is the repainting and replastering of the main floor. The colored ward also has been repainted and re-furnished.

Most apparent need of the hospital now is a thorough job of repainting and repair work on the first floor.

Still Uncertain About CCC Camp Buildings Here

ded the owners of the property will give the city a lease on the lands. Captain I. B. Bussells, who represents the owners, has agreed to do this provided plumbing fixtures, water lines, wiring, etc., is left in these structures.

First word from headquarters on this matter is that this will not be done. However, city officials are hopeful that the four buildings will be left in such condition that they will be of some use to Southport in caring for overflow crowds of various kinds on special occasions.

An order has been entered directing the receiver to sell Hale Beach to satisfy judgment held by the Brunswick county board of education and the board of county commissioners.

NUMEROUS ROWAN FISHERMEN HERE have totalled 62 persons, all here and out fishing, excepting a few who were too seasick to fish.

Concord, another good town in Cabarrus, also sends many sportsmen. Cabarrus ranks pretty well with Rowan for the number of sportsmen who come to Southport.

good take during one morning out on the shoals.

The same day a party of about 30 Kannapolis men made a good catch of "Gulf Stream" from two of the boats of Burriss.
