Patrol Boat Here In Night

Southport had its first Navy visitation Sunday, and it was a case of the ship that passed in the night. Some kind of a Navy patrol craft came in at about 8 o'clock and in a short time quite a number of blue-clad sailors were enjoying shore leave with a couple of ships patrolmen on active duty to see that they did not get into any mischief.

Some of the boys stated the ship was from Charleston and it was the understanding that it was put in here often. The ship was gone before daylight Monday morning.

Bank Participates In Defense Work

Will Supply Proper Authorities With Information About Small Manufacturing Plants Able To Produce Supplies

The Waccamaw Bank and Trust Co. will have charge of the defense program of the N. C. Bankers Association in Columbus, Blaken, and Brunswick counties. It was announced in a meeting in Lumberton last Thursday.

The local bank was represented in this meeting by H. B. Wyche and L. R. Bowers.

Mr. E. A. Wayne, Secretary of the N. C. Bankers Association, urged banks to cooperate in the defense effort by supplying the proper authorities with information about small manufacturing plants that may be able to produce supplies and materials for the armed services.

Bolling of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond asked the bankers to support the program by meeting reasonable demands for credit from manufacturers and contractors with government orders.

This Man Ought To Make Top Hand In Infantry

Continued from page 1) out for Southport on foot. He had never been here before, knew nobody and had no money, not even for a mouthful of food. It is understood that he did not say anything to anybody about his troubles, just tried to find the examining doctor.

At the draft offices over the postoffice he was told the doctor was in the courthouse, where a trial was in progress. After waiting for sometime for him to return and as it was well in the afternoon, he was advised he could go home and return to see the doctor the next day. No one had an idea he had walked 40 miles without food and would have to get back the same distance and way.

Refreshed with the information that he could see the doctor next day, Eddie had set out for home, where he could at least get a bite to eat. He arrived home at about the same time he had left, two o'clock in the morning. He got something to eat, slept two hours and then set out and walked to Southport again. This time he found the doctor, was examined and had covered 13 miles of the homeward journey when Frink picked him up.

The Thomasboro - Southport distance is 36 miles. Covering this three times, plus a fourth start of 13 miles, made the two days and night traveling distance total 121 miles. The first round trip, embracing 72 miles, Eddie didn't have a bite to eat from the time of his leaving until he returned home. He did not have to walk the 15 miles from Shallotte to Thomasboro. Mr. Frink took him straight on to his home.

Wilmington Men Pledge Aid In Securing Project For Brunswick County

Continued from page one) "You have great quantities of good land in Brunswick county," he said, "that will be ideal for small farms." He spoke of the development of New Hanover county's agricultural resources and said that New Hanover had the highest per capita purchasing power of any county in the South with the exception of only three.

Bruce Cameron, Wilmington businessman, spoke briefly regarding the possibility of development here and pledged the support of Wilmington in obtaining projects for this locality. He was particularly impressed with natural facilities here for a naval base and for a ship yard for construction of small vessels. Finally, he pointed to the unmatched opportunity the coastal regions of this area will have in providing recreational facilities for soldiers at Ft. Bragg and at Camp Davis.

John Alexius, third member of the Wilmington delegation, advised his listeners to get together on projects for which this area is suited and pledged Wilmington support in any undertaking local citizens may decide upon.

S. B. Frink and R. I. Mintz, members of the local defense committee, made a few remarks in which each of them expressed appreciation for the spirit of cooperation shown by Wilmington visitors, and arrangements were completed for a meeting today of the local committee with representatives of the Wilmington defense committee. Mayor John Ericksen, J. Berg and Dwight McEwen spoke briefly. Allen Ewing presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Optimistic Note At Waccamaw Bank Stockholders Meet

Continued from page 1.) lowing such periods is hazardous. In the plans we have made and are making to meet present conditions, or the developments of the immediate future, we must not lose sight of these hazards and the abrupt change which would certainly follow a cessation of war in Europe and the probable discontinuance at some stage of our own program for National Defense.

"We realize such a program is an emergency and necessary to assure the stability of our Government and the perpetuation of our way of living. Banking faces these issues with full confidence and a willingness to co-operate and provide the necessary money and credit to make this program most effective. With our large cash reserve, and the high quality of our asset position, the Waccamaw Bank is, indeed, protect and safeguard the fortunate to be in a position to interest of our depositors and contribute its full share, and to stockholders."

THE Results SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES IN THE NORTH CAROLINA BEER INDUSTRY'S "Clean Up or Close Up" CAMPAIGN

Twenty months ago this Committee launched a program to aid state and local authorities weed out those scattered few beer retailers who, by practices unbecoming good citizens, tended to bring reproach on the great majority of law-abiding retailers. "Clean up or close up" was the ultimatum. The results, we feel, speak for themselves.

To date, 142 retail beer licenses have been eliminated because they used their permits to shield illegal activities. Thus are being removed the bad spots that, left alone, would ignore the high standard of conduct demanded by public sentiment and by the legalized beer industry.

As a new year begins, this Committee renews its pledge to carry forward its program of self-regulation for the beer industry in North Carolina. YOU can help by restricting your patronage to orderly, law-abiding outlets.

Editorial Comment from Over The State

Asheville Citizen: "The beer industry in this state as represented by the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee is making a serious and intelligent effort to keep beer sales on a legal basis and to divorce them completely from the illicit handling of hard liquors."

Durham Sun: "As a result another check will have been applied to bootlegging to the material benefit of the community and the state."

Popular Government (Chapel Hill): "The beer industry's 'clean up or close up' campaign has received wide praise from officers."

Whiteville News-Reporter: "That group, headed by Colonel Edgar H. Bain, is responsible for the 'clean up or close up' program for this state, and there is no doubt that they mean just what their slogan implies..."

New Bern Tribune: "The Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee has demonstrated quite plainly that its motto 'clean up or close up' was chosen as no idle boast..."
