

APPLICATIONS FOR POLICE JOB SOUGHT

 A local man if one of suitable qualifications can be found, the city fathers are ready to hear the case of home town aspirants. Since the community can stand the expense of only one full-time law enforcement officer, the fellow who lands the job must be of all-round ability. Duties range from contacting and serving as information bureau for strangers to making a house to house canvass each year in the final round-up of delinquent dog taxes.

In all seriousness, the job does call for intelligence, industry and a reasonable amount of firmness and fearlessness. The position pays $90.00 per month.

 Mintz who has moved away. James E. Carr of Southport was named a member of the board of trustees for Doshier Memorial Hospital, replacing R. I. Mintz, who resigned when he reported for active duty in the army.

An agreement was reached to sell the timber on the county home tract and to clear 20-acres to be added to the county home farm.

 handling and processing, and it is with this in mind that the local tests are being made. Mr. Montgomery stated today that he was in hopes that a plentiful supply of the waste material would be available here for the balance of his tests shortly, as the sooner his tests can be completed the sooner it will be possible to determine whether or not commercial production of the meal can be undertaken here this fall, when the shrimping season really swings into its stride.
