

LEAVES HOSPITAL
B. A. Ellis of Southport was discharged as a patient at Doshier Memorial Hospital Tuesday.

DONATES BOOKS
Mr. and Mrs. James Piner of Southport have donated 60 volumes to the library at the Federal Community Building (USO Hut.) Similar donations from other residents of the community will be welcomed.

REQUESTS COME IN FOR SHRIMP
The shrimp are large and of fine quality. However, the catches during the recent bad weather were not of sufficient volume to take care of the usual ice pack demands. With good weather this week more boats may become active and the day's catches per boat may also mount.

The United Shrimp Company, operated by Dallas Piggott with Lewis J. Hardee of Berwick, La.,

as a partner, has not yet been getting sufficient of either shrimp or fish to begin the packing and freezing in five pound boxes, but it hopes to begin such operations shortly. This week and last the company received inquiries from all sections of the state regarding the frozen five-pound boxes mentioned in newspaper reports from here last week.

SCRAP METAL IS IN GREAT DEMAND

"I have noticed three or four trucks in the county this past week loaded down with scrap metal on their way to Wilmington where they would dispose of their load. Because of the fact that we do not have scales large enough to weigh a wagon or truck load of metal out in the county, we will not try to establish buying centers for the scrap material.

"Let's do our part toward furnishing our boys something with which to fight."

MUST GET FULL USE OF MACHINES

discarded because of minor breaks. These can and should be reconditioned and used on the owner's farm or sold to a neighbor who will use them.

"Let me again urge you to go over all of your farm tools and see that they are in proper condition for work, and if you need any repair parts, make a list of them and actually contact your dealer and give him a written order. It will pay you to look after this matter now."

PHYSICAL ED GROUP PLANNING MEETING
In the nations schools, I therefore consider it our patriotic duty for every school to have at least one representative present.

LATE WAR BULLETIN
In Lybia, while the British have been slowed down somewhat in their mopping up efforts against the Germans and Italians, this battle still is progressing on schedule, and unless the Axis armies are bolstered quickly by land and air power the British army is headed for a signal success.

On the home front the best news of the week is that Donald M. Nelson has been named by President Roosevelt to head the War Industries Board, thus assigning to somebody else a portion of the tremendous load that the president has been struggling along with for many months. This move promises an early full speed ahead tempo for American industry in its all-out war effort.

Funeral Held Saturday For Southport Citizen
Berg Annex to the Doshier Memorial Hospital.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Southport Building and Loan Association and was a faithful member of the Pythagoras Lodge.

The deceased is survived by his widow and his step-daughter, Miss Annie May Woodside, both of Southport; and by one brother, Paul Berg.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Southport Baptist church by Rev. Walter B. Freed, pastor of St. Pauls Lutheran church in Wilmington. Assisting were Rev. A. L. Brown, pastor of Southport Baptist church, and Rev. R. S. Harrison, pastor of Trinity Methodist church.

Active pallbearers were chosen from his fellow members of the Masonic lodge, and the following served as honorary pallbearers: Price Furless, Lanier Furless, J. J. Loughlin, Jr., J. E. Carr, Charles Doshier, Dr. L. C. Ferguson, Dr. L. G. Brown, E. J. Prevatte, C. G. Ruark, J. W. Ruark, C. M. Crapon, Prince O'Brien, James M. Harper, Jr., R. H. Maultsby, Joel Moore, Fred Willing, W. T. Fullwood, Harry Aldridge, W. R. Lingle, C. C. Cannon and members of the board of aldermen.

THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

cultural commodities under the Price Control Act "to bring existing standards into line with special standards set up for farm products." The maximum price of raw cane sugar has been raised 24 cents per hundred pounds.

Here are other effects of the war upon American living as our effort broadens and quickens, as sources of supply are cut off, as factories are converted to military production, and as government moves to conserve materials for our soldiers and sailors:

Manufacturers of woollens will get just half as much new wool as they got in 1941 . . . they'll mix this with reworked and reused wool, and waste . . . Because the Japanese invasion of British Malaya has cut off the source of 80 per cent of our usual tin imports, only half as much tin may be used in 29 different items, and none at all in these items after March 31 . . . The list includes household furnishings and jewelry and toys and enamelware . . . There'll be no more foil, too, to wrap cigarette packages and candy and gum.

Wescott is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Wescott, and the following brothers and sisters: Joe, George, Delford, Carl, Wilmington, Guy, Alfiree, Aletha Mae and Betty, Bolivia, and Thelma of Southport.

Wescott on the night prior to his death, led religious services. Wescott read the Psalm which begins: "Oh Lord my God, in thee do I put my trust. Save me from them that persecute me and deliver me."

After leading the condemned men in the singing of his favorite hymn, "Jesus keep me near the cross," Wescott told of his baptism on death row about two months ago and he advised his fellow prisoners to become christians, prison Chaplain L. A. Watts said.

Then Wescott told them that he was convinced he was saved and that he wasn't worried very much about the execution, Watts added. The chaplain said that Wescott told him that he still had no recollection of slaying his 18-year-old sweetheart, Mildred Lee, last Easter eve, the night before they were to have been married.

Wescott denied, Watts added, the contention of the state that jealousy was the motive for the killing. "He said he didn't love her much anyway", Watts said. Witnesses testified at Wescott's trial that he shot the girl and then beat her on the head several times with the butt of his pistol. The shooting occurred on a Wilmington street and there were several witnesses, including the girl's sister.
