WATSON-ALSTON

Miss Jennie Cheatham Alston, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Cheatham Alston and the late Mr. Alston of Lenoir, and David Cheatham Watson, Lieutenant in the USNR, son of Mrs. George Watson and the late Mr. Watson, were united in marriage May 7. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Forrest D. Alston in the Methodist church at Southport.

The wedding music was played by Miss Talmadge Thomas, and Robert Andrews was soloist. The bride given in marriage by her uncle, Robert W. Alston, wore a gown of white duchess satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and a fitted bodice with a panel of tulle. The full skirt of the gown extended into a circular train. A coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls held the length of the veil. She carried a showered bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Veda Alston, maid of honor, wore a blue net dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses, carnations, and snapdragon. The bride's mother wore a black dress of chiffon and lace with a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Watson, mother of the bridegroom, wore an ash-of-roses dress of tulle and lace with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

E. H. Lewis, of Tarboro, was best man, Cheatham Alston, brother of the bride, Paul W. Elam and Robert W. Smithwick, of Lenoir, and J. H. Griffin, of Georgetown, S. C. were ushers. Honorary bridesmaids were: Miss Louise Kilgo, Christine Jordan, Mildred Jordan, Helen Leta Cain and Maribelle Johnston, classmates of the bride and Mildred Howard, Rose Anne, Virginia Howard, Jane Miller, and Frances Ann Earle, of Southport.

Mrs. Watson attended Lenoir College and is a member of this year's senior class at ETC, Greenville. Lieutenant Watson is a graduate of Lenoir College and ETC. He has been stationed at the Amphibious Training Base at Little Creek, Va. for the past year. Following the ceremony Lieutenant and Mrs. Watson left for California, where he will be stationed. For traveling, the bride wore a white flannel suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The May literature meeting of the Woman's Club, held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Cramer on Wednesday afternoon, was the most attended of the club year. Several visitors were present in addition to the good number of members. The collect was repeated in discussion followed by the singing of the Clubwoman's Hymn.

Miss Margaret Pearson, accompanied by Mrs. Dallas Pigott, sang the following selections: "Where'er You Walk," "Pans Angelicus," "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," "Mighty Like a Rose," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man o' Mine," and "Morning."

The flower show committees were announced as well as those for the baby show. Mrs. Frank Niernsee resigned as citizenship chairman and Mrs. Jeanne Fields accepted this chairmanship for next year. Other committee chairmen announced their committees for the coming year.

The club voted to sponsor the "Kit Bag" quota for the Red Cross with Mrs. James Carr in charge.

LESPEDEZA
Good, volunteer stands of lespedeza should be kept by all means this year because of a shortage of seed for hay crops, says County Agent W. C. Boyce of the State College Extension Service.

For Sport Wear

Easy to make, comfortable to wear, is this daytime sport dress of cotton shantung modeled by lovely Virginia Dale, young Paramount star. The two-piece dress has a pleated skirt of bright tile red. The jacket is house features modernistic white horse head on a tile red ground. The sleeves are bracelet length and a set-in belt ties the waist.

Maid Displays Wardrobe

Lovely Linwood Gisclard, the 1944 Maid of Cotton, models two of the attractive cotton costumes included in her wardrobe. The formal, at left, is of red and white checked gingham, worn with a white pique evening jacket, designed in simple taste for many purposes. At right, she wears classic chambray—a soft pink, with four giant, jeweled buttons. Two diagonally slashed pockets, front fullness and the soft tie neckline are important fashion additions. Both dresses were made from McCall patterns. The Maid of Cotton now is on tour of principal American cities to assist in War Bond drives and to tell of cotton's important role in the war.
