wick county corn crop appears especially promising.

Superior court on May 17th will come at a rather hard time for farmers to leave their work.

With a great many women on the jury panel it might be supposed that fewer men than usual will have to attend this coming term. Such a supposition is an error, as more men than usual will be in attendance. Many of them will come just to see what the women are doing.

O. P. Bellamy, former chairman of the board of county commissioners, has promised us a big watermelon out of his first that get ripe. He grows some extra fine ones and we hope his promises are just as good. The reason that he is arranging this early to dispose of one of the best is that a few weeks ago we ad something in this column about the fine tobacco plants he grew this year. Everybody grew enough plants this year, and there has not been any sales of surplus plants. But farmer Bellamy, just because somebody read and believed what we said about his fine plants, has gone and sold all he did not need for his own use. When we told him we should have a commission for helping to sell those plants, he said he would give us a big watermelon instead of dividing the moola.

With his tobacco crop in Shallotte township planted and some one to look after it until August, E. V. Leonard, office deputy under the late Sheriff John White, left Monday for Harrisburg, Pa. where he will be with his brother until August. He will return then. His address is Allison Hotel, 13th and Market Streets, Harrisburg, Pa. Despite the fact that he will only be away three months, he told us that he could not do without the paper for that long.

Mrs. William G. Scola of 27 Kinnelcutt Road, Worcester, Mass., was presented with a year's subscription to The Pilot this week by Mrs. Bellamy, Mrs. Hawes and Mrs. Sanderson. Mrs. Scola, as Miss Marie Holden, was one of the girls in the REA office at Shallotte. She was married some months ago and this week when we walked into her old office her former coworkers immediately announced that they wanted to send the paper to Marie as a present.

Estimates by J. E. Cooke, cashier of the Shallotte Branch of the Waccamaw Bank and Trust company, and others are that around 300 Brunswick county people attended the cooperative marketing meetings last week. A general interest is indicated by the good attendance and interest shown at all meetings.

S. D. Grissett and Gilbert J. Grissett, both of Shallotte RFD, stopped us the other day and each said he wanted to subscribe for the Rovin' Reporter. Remarks like that and all of the fan mail we get—and there is quite a bit of the fan mail—are the only things that keep us from cussing out this column and quitting it.

We have a call for help from New York. Mrs. Ruth Huffine, a talented young artist who has a seven or eight year old son, wants a small house or at least a two-room apartment, furnished, from June 1st through September. The house or apartment must have a well-lighted room where she can paint on rainy days when she cannot work outside. If no place can be found for her at Southport an effort will be made to get her a house or apartment at Gause Landing, Shallotte Point or Holden Beach.

Artists seem to be breaking out in a rash to get to Southport or some point on the Brunswick coast for the summer. Friday we had a message from Wells M. Sawyer, who spent last summer here and who is to return in June. Directly after writing Mr. Sawyer we received a letter from Claude Howell, of Wilmington, one of North Carolina's most widely known and versatile painters. He wrote to say that he would be seeing more of us this year than in previous years as he has just received a Rosenwald Fellowship in painting and it will enable him to ask for a year's leave from his job in the Atlantic Coast Line offices and devote his full time to painting. We were with Claude and a group of California and Kansas City, Kans., artists on Bald Head Island when a portable radio brought the flash that the Japs were attacking Pearl Harbor.

A few days ago Mr. Jefferson, a retired Standard Oil company official from Pennsylvania, was looking at things around here. Identically, another retiring Standard Oil man from Winston-Salem has recently bought property on the River Road. The big rushing cities are loosing much of their glamour to a lot of people, according to Mr. Jefferson. Some people must live in such places to make a living, he said. On the other hand, a lot of others want to get away from that part of the world that rushes madly along! They want to find a place where they can enjoy life.

A just-before-press-time letter received by us this week was from one of our good lady friends. Inside the envelope were two pieces of roofing shingle and inside the shingle we found three half dollars. Accompanying this coin of the realm was a note, which said, "Please send me a subscription to The State Port Pilot quick, as I want to know what our county is coming to, fast."

On his way to Georgia to buy bulbs for the Vaughn Seed Company, Henry Sheppard, of Long Island, N. Y., made a partial inspection of Brunswick county areas last week. He is unquestionably of the opinion that Brunswick county lands and climate will grow bulbs. As a matter of fact, the county has lands that will grow anything.

This week we were called upon to pilot T. B. Murphy of Rose Hill, in Duplin county, over the River Road between Southport and Wilmington. Mr. Murphy has big farms in Duplin, Georgia. A subscriber to The Pilot for half a dozen years has become interested in people taking up the growing of tomato and other plants in Brunswick county.

Our good friend "Big" Davis, of Holden Beach, and Pender. A subscriber to The Pilot for half a dozen years has become interested in people taking up the growing of tomato and other plants in Brunswick county.
