Dear Sir:
Truly Mr. Kendall has made out an able cause in behalf of the beekeepers relative to the bear situation and for my part I shall not try to tell him what to do about it. However, in your editorial column last week you published "What Shall We Do With Mr. Bear?" That, Sir, is not for you nor any of us to decide relative to extinction of his species. To prove my point I give you the following from Outdoor Life Magazine, September, 1948, from the article entitled, "A teacher of Religious Discusses Conversation."
"The earth is the Lord's, however. Every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills. I know all the fowls of the mountains; and the wild beast of the field are mine. These are words ascribed to God in the 50th Psalm.
"This means that ownership of fish and game is merely a holding in trust. The fisherman or hunter must never think of natural resources as something he may dispose of at will. For his use of them is a sacred responsibility."
Now let's hit the subject from another angle. This concerns wol-

GRUNT AND GROAN BOYS STAGE SHOW
Most Enthusiastic Crowd In History Of Event Gathers For Full Day Of Entertainment
Amid thunderous applause from the most enthusiastic Farmers Day crowd in the four-year history of the event, Miss Cecilia Horne of Whiteville Township was crowned 1948 Farmers Day queen here Friday night.
Five out-of-town judges pondered the beauty qualifications of 16 finalists for 45 minutes before arriving at a decision. A mass of people which filled the area around the stage on the Railroad Plaza looked on.
Miss Pauline Nye of Waccamaw was voted the No. 2 position and Miss Mildred Gore of Bug Hill copped third-place honors.
Dave S. Neilson, executive secretary of the Whiteville Merchants Association, who served as master of ceremonies, presented a

Disability Pay Papers Advised
Leonard W. Barrett, district officer of the State Veterans Commission, today advised WWII veterans who have service-connected disabilities rate at 60 per cent or more to take immediate action to obtain the increased compensation they now are entitled to because of their disabilities.
Mr. Barrett warned that eligible veterans must file birth certificates of children, marriage records and proof of the dependency of parent. These documents must be filed before December 1. If proof is filed prior to Dec. 1, the increased compensation will be

Queen Contest, Wrestling Take Feature Honors
The queen contest, staged this year under the direction of Martin Schulken, was climaxed by the crowning of the new queen by Miss Nancy Green of Hallsboro, 1947 Farmers Day queen.
The judges who selected the queen were Vic Goodman of Wilmington, Slim Mims of Florence, S. C., W. Z. Barkley of Wilson, Edward Clark of Elizabethtown and James Monroe of Elizabethtown.
The final event on the Railroad Plaza stage was preceded by the wrestling matches promoted by Jim Crockett of Charlotte. A record throng around the stage witnessed the grunt and groan artists. Many of them were their first wrestling bouts.
Wally Dusek of Omaha, Nebraska, too the first one-fall match from Pete Managoff of Newland, N. C. in 23 minutes, while Joe Corbett of San Francisco, Calif. took two of the three falls from Earl Wampler of Des Moines, Iowa. Wampler grabbed the second fall, but lost the third and deciding fall in a matter of a few minutes.
The wrestling matches were generally ranked near the top among the Farmers Day features. The day's program was as full of entertainment as the proverbial dog with fleas. Contests, magic show, rifle shooting exhibition and greasy pole climbing all combined to make the day outstanding.
