Williston Wins Double Victory

Wilmington Teams Score Clean Sweep Over Two Brunswick County Training School Teams Here Monday

Leading from the start in both games the Williston negro high school boys and girls from Wilmington won a double victory in fast and exciting contests with the Southport negro high school teams Monday night.

Good floor work on the part of the visitors and accurate shooting marked the boys game. Speed and accuracy of two or three of the small Southport players nearly brought down the house.

The girls game was well play-

Funeral Held For Victim Of Attack

Funeral services for John Smith, 69, of Shallotte, who dropped dead in downtown Whiteville Thursday afternoon, were conducted Saturday morning from the Free Will Baptist Church on East Columbus Street by Rev. J. Homer Butler. Interment followed in Pleasant Hill Baptist Church Cemetery near Chadbourne.

The aged man was near the railroad tracks in front of Lea's Warehouse No. 2 when he suffered a heart attack and died instantly. Apparently he felt weak and sat on a stack of crossties for a moment before the attack proved fatal, resulting in his fall to the ground three or four feet below.

The Shallotte man was here on a visit with his sister, Miss Lucy Smith. Other survivors include a second sister, Mrs. Fannie Thompkins of Chadbourne, and a half-brother, Everett Fowler, of Florence, S. C.

Inspectors Catch Post Office Thief

ATLANTA, GA., Jan. 17—The arrest of Jacob Sackstein, alias Jack Sackstein, Jack Shaeffer, 44-year-old Federal parole violator, at Cleveland, Ohio, on January 10th ends a long search by United States Post Office Inspectors for a man who has been stealing from the mails and forging and cashing numerous checks.

When apprehended Sackstein had in his possession 39 such opened first class letters. He admitted systematic pilfering from sacks and packages of letters mail piled on or around overflowing United States mail collection boxes in lobbies of office buildings throughout the country. Quite a number of local check letters were taken and the forged checks were cashed in Atlanta.

Changing Trend In Legal Papers

Along with the years the chartacter of the papers filed at the office of Register of Deeds Amos J. Walton undergoes great changes. Any day a few years ago would have seen the filling of dozens of chattel mortgages and crop liens with chattel mortgages.

On the 13th of this January six crop liens with chattel mortgages and 3 straight chattel mortgages were filed. Along with this small number of mortgages and presenting a striking contrast were 56 land deeds and 2 deeds of trust with only five real estate mortgages.

The total number of papers filed during the one day was 72. But whether deeds or mortgages, the employees in Mr. Walton's office have their hands full and the typewriters have to keep up a constant rattle.

Thompson Seeks Highway Position

Hallsboro Man Promoted For Post Now Held By Bridgers; Endorsements Are Urged

The candidacy of W. Avery Thompson of Hallsboro for district highway commissioner came out into the open over the week end when Representative Junius K. Powell asked citizens of the county to let Governor Scott know that they wanted the appointment to come to a Columbus County man.

It was disclosed that the Democratic Executive Committee of the county and the Board of County Commissioners had endorsed Thompson for the post.

Reports from the State capital indicate that the Hallsboro man has an excellent chance of being named. He is said to have strong backing from other counties as well as in Columbus.

The district highway commissioners are now held by James A. Bridgers of Bladenboro. Representative Powell indicated that Governor Scott would be pressed if enough letters were mailed to his office in support of the Columbus candidate.

A strict policy that will be costly to motor vehicle owners who park and block fire hydrants was promised today by Mayor S. A. Smith of Whiteville.
