Tobacco Quotas Are Unchanged

March 1 Deadline Passes Without Any Revision; North Carolina Gets 634,313 Acres

March 1 came and went without any change in the 1949 quotas for flue-cured tobacco.

That was the deadline which had been set by the Department of Agriculture for revision of the quotas set last August.

Tar Heel growers were allotted 634,313 acres for flue-cured this season. This is more than two-thirds of the national total of 960,000 acres.

Changes in the quotas were discussed at Washington a few days ago but sentiment was decidedly against an upward adjustment.

It appears almost certain that the five per cent increase allotted in August of 1948 will be the figure on which acreage will be based for the coming season.

Loris Merchant, Taken By Death

Native Of Chadbourn And Brother Of Mrs. F. G. Kelly Of Tabor City Laid To Rest Tuesday

LORIS, S. C.—H. Clay Hughes, a native of Columbus County and a brother of Mrs. F. G. Kelly of Tabor City, died in a hospital at Conway on Monday of last week. He was 54 years of age.

He had been a resident of Loris for the past quarter of a century.

Mr. Hughes was taken ill at his home on Sunday afternoon and died in the hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3 o'clock at Loris Methodist Church with his pastor, the Rev. B. C. Gleaton, officiating. Burial followed in Patterson Cemetery.

Members of the Loris Post of the American Legion were pallbearers.

The Loris merchant was the son of the late W. J. Hughes and Sarah Gore Hughes of Chadbourn.

He served in the United States Navy during World War I and after being discharged from service, he came to Loris and went into the mercantile business in which he was engaged for the past 25 years.

Mr. Hughes had been active in the American Legion and the 40 and 3 for the past 10 years. He had received many honors, both state and national, for work in these two organizations. He was the recipient of a merit award from the war department for his service as commander of the defense and air force warning service during World War II.

Highway patrolmen in a big area around Brunswick county came to know Paul Fodale, local seafood producer, as their friend a long time ago. When any of them are in or near Southport they invariably call on Paul and just as invariably they take home to their families some fish and shrimp as a token of friendly regard from the Southport man.

Our knowledge of farming and stock raising is a rather pridelike matter to us, even if it is not enough to mean anything to the other fellow. This pride received a jolt Saturday.

Starting to raise chickens before the war, Jim Pinner built himself a nice chicken house in his backyard. Chicken raising did not turn out to be an unqualified success and the chicken house was converted into a two room apartment for war weary wives.

With stock raising and agricultural opportunities and our coast line with its potentialities for development, Brunswick county is letting a lot of opportunities go by. We have something in the nature of a county wide chamber of commerce, equipped to interest tourists, farmers and vacationists and to keep them interested until they come here to stay.

At the moment no figures are available as to just how many miles of new electrical distribution lines are going up in the county that is to be finished during the coming month.

person, of Lumberton comes a letter to us relative to fishing. In the same missive Mr. Thompson goes on to tell of a bird dog alleged to be owned by him. Sportsmen will readily agree that Mr. Thompson has a remarkable dog or that the dog has a remarkable owner.

The house committee on roads has rendered an unfavorable report to the bill introduced by Representative T. E. Cooper for the Highway Commission to construct a bridge across the Cape Fear river from a point near the Dow Chemical Company plant to Brunswick county.

With 9 boys and 13 girls in its senior class, set for graduation this year, the Brunswick Training School, has the largest number of pending graduates of any school in Brunswick, white or colored.

A lot of people in Brunswick are building new homes. If you are one of these folks or if your neighbor is building one, how about writing this column, telling where, how many rooms, brick or frame and anything of interest about the structure. The cases where they are just placing material, where a new home is completed and where one is under construction will all make good publicity material. Write us about such things today.

That boy of mine is getting his State Port Pilot in China and I am doggoned if I can get along with my wife without getting it here. The foregoing was from Floyd Brittain of the Antioch and Bolivia community. The boy he alluded to was Hubert K. Brittain, serving in the Navy and at present in China. In his most recent letter he advised his mother that he was getting his paper right along.

Mrs. N. M. Milliken of Supply has a quilt which she made by herself and in the making of which she used ten thousand different pieces of cloth. She makes several "patchwork" quilts each year, but this one with ten thousand pieces took up most of her spare time during one year. In addition to doing all of her household work Mrs. Milliken has to look after her five small children.

Selling straight from producer to consumer, Shallotte probably has the best fish and oyster market of any place along our coast. There is nothing wholesale about the method. Any day of the week, especially for Saturday, a goodly number of fishermen go out and get all the fish they think they can sell the next day. To this they often add oyster and clams. The next day finds them set up for retail business from their trucks. Not everybody stops to think about it, but we believe the knowledge that they can always find fish on Saturdays and often on other days results in bringing a lot of people to Shallotte.

W. F. Deuschle of the Hanes Hosiery Mills Company in Winston-Salem writes that he will be down some Thursday in March for some Friday, Saturday and Sunday freshwater fishing with us. The receipt of his letter caused us to turn to our calendar and there we noted something that should interest all men and women who like to fish. It will interest them if they have not already noted it. Except for the last week in March all of the weekly moon changes occur on Mondays. The last week in March and on through most of April the change comes on Tuesday. That means that during March fishing will be best from about Wednesday through Sunday. In April it will be best from Thursday through Mondays. Fishing is usually at its best a day before the moon change and at its worst the day after.

Admitting that all farms in Brunswick county have been rather busy the whole of this year, Orton is believed to be outstanding in this respect. Since Christmas this plantation has been furnishing steady employment to a huge force of men and women engaged in looking after flowers, caring for the gardens and nursery grounds and packing and shipping plants to purchasers. Some people may not look upon farming as an industry. At Orton the growing of flowers and the caring for many acres of permanent gardens is a huge industry that provides a lot of people with a comfortable livelihood. Between the people who grow and sell flowers there is little or no difference with the farmer who grows and sells tobacco, cotton, corn or other crops.

Look Before You Leap

Today every business man has certain lines of appliances. Each one is advertising that his appliances are better than the other man's. But there is one thing that they are not advertising and that's what kind of a Guarantee you are getting from the Company, which makes the product and also the Guarantee the merchant gives you of service in case you should get a defective product. Most of your appliance dealers do not have a Service Department or Service Man to take care of your appliances in case you should need service.

Another important thing is that business has got to be such a cut-throat proposition that a lot of appliance dealers are cutting prices on such things as Refrigerators ranges and other items. But the business men that are doing this cannot or will not service your appliances. They don't have a Service Department. The main thing is that while selling you an item at one price and selling the same item to your friends at another price is not being fair to either one. You nor your friend really know which is the right price. The dealer that does this is not giving you the right price nor the Service which your guarantee calls for. So what good is a guarantee if the dealer can't stand behind it? Also, the dealer is subject to lose his franchise for the product he sells for selling above or below the factory prices which each company gives.

When you come into our store ask to see the factory prices, which each appliance is to be sold by. Also ask for our service department. We promise to stand behind all Guarantees that go with appliances.

When you go into the other man's store ask to see the same. If he cannot show these two things to you then your Guarantee is not any good. And the only thing you have is an appliance and he has your money.
