Woman's Club

Wilmington florgave a demonstration of the Southport Woman's club here Wednesday.
The program was held in the charge of Mrs. H. T. St.
The Old Southern Plantation theme was incorporated into the program, decorations, entertainment and food, which carried one back to the antebellum days of gaiety, southern hospitality and good cheer. Imagine a scene more beautiful than an old fashioned plantation dining room with its windows outlined in clinging ivy and moss; low crystal bowls filled with fragrant roses and other beautiful spring flowers; soft candlelight; and old fashioned ladies made of pastel crepe paper.

Southport Banquet

The tables were covered with china table cloths and set with lens and crystal. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out here as in the room decorations. Ivy was interspersed with bowls of pink and white spring flowers, flanked by lighted pink and white candles and dainty pink and white fruit and mint cup. Attractive place cards, featuring the old fashioned girl, directed the guests to their places.

On the right wall of the dining room hung a beautiful painting of Orton Plantation. This painting, frantically loaned the Juniors by J. Lawrence Sprunt, added a touch of historical beauty and dignity to the scene.
The room was a perfect setting for the charming girls, who were quite as lovely in their evening gowns as were the belles of the '60's. The boys, too, were as handsome and gallant as the Southern beaux of long ago.
After the guests were seated "Dixie" was sung by all, after which LeRoy Stanley, the toastmaster, spoke in a most interesting manner, "Life On The Old Southern Plantation." The delicious food was in keeping with the theme and would have done justice to the culinary art of the old negro mammy.
The menu consisted of: Fruit cup, Southern fried chicken, gravy, new peas, creamed potatoes, cole slaw, hot biscuits, strawberry shortcake, iced tea, nuts, mints.
This delicious food was served by eight pretty girls from the freshman class, dressed in costumes of the period.
Linda Hickman, president of the Junior class, gave a toast to the Seniors and the response was made by Richard Brendle, president of the Senior class.
Mrs. Stevenson, the music teacher, sang, "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair", after which Charlie Robbins gave a humorous reading, "Mandy on Music." Patricia Adams followed with a solo, "Beautiful Dreamer". The delicious occasion was brought to a close with everyone joining in singing songs of the old South, with Mr. Stevenson at the piano.

The tables were covered with
china table cloths and set with
lens and crystal. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out here as in the room decorations. Ivy was interspersed
spring flowers, flanked by lighted
pink and white candles and dainty

It's the Jones' Night to go Visiting

Like the Jones', countless families keep home ties strong and close through regular visits by Long Distance Telephone. It's such a comforting means of keeping in touch with those you love; such a quick, easy way to span the mile; many new circuits and switchboards have been added and 90% of all calls now go through while you hold the line.
Get the Long Distance Telephone habit, "Voice visits" with out-of-town relatives and friends mean so much—yet cost so little.

Someone, somewhere, is waiting and wanting to talk to you.
Call them tonight by Long Distance Telephone.

Mrs. Taylor Is Club Hostess

The Winnabow Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. E.
W. Taylor on Thursday afternoon.
The president, Mrs. G. T. Reid, called the meeting to order. The song "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party" was sung, followed by the collect. Minutes were read and approved and the roll call and offering were next on the program.

Business was then discussed.
The Family Life leader read a paper on this important subject.
The Poultry and Garden leaders gave their reports.
Miss Josie Reid gave a talk on "Clothes Lines". Miss Corinne Greene demonstrated how to get the professional touch in sewing.
A merry time was had during the social hour, in hunting Easter eggs out in the yard. Four prize eggs were found by Miss Bertha Reid, Miss Greene, Mrs.
W. A. Kopp and Sarah Elizabeth Kopp.

Mrs. Taylor invited guests to the dining room, decorated with Easter rabbits, biddies and eggs.
Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.
Six club members were present, Mrs. G. T. Reid, Misses Bertha and Josie Reid, Mrs. Julia E.
Swain, Mrs. E. W. Taylor, Miss K. M. Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Kopp and one visitor. The children present were Jean and Rachel Reid, Sarah E. Kopp, Clara and Amelia Kopp.

The meeting adjourning to meet with Mrs. Julia Ellen Swain in May.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wharrie and Miss Patricia Livingston of Charleston spent the week-end here with Mrs. Wharrie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mollycheck.
Charlie Pool, who is working in Philadelphia, is visiting his family here.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Nier-nsee are visiting the family of their son, Frank M. Niersee, Jr., in Memphis, Tenn.

Sunday from a ten days visit to relatives in St. Augustine, Fla.
Capt. John D. Swan and Julian Southernland of the dredge Lyman, now stationed in New Jersey, have been spending a few days at their homes here.

B. T. U. SOCIAL
The Intermediate girls of Mt.
Pisgah Baptist church Training Union had their quarterly social at the home of Eva Mae Hewett Monday night, April 18. Several games were played and all enjoyed themselves.

Among those present were Janice, Carolyn, Nelva and Peggy Holden; Linwood Brown and Norma Jean Lancaster, Bobby Mooney and Gertrude Brown, Eva Mae Hewett and Harold Clemmons, Bernice Cumbee, Joff Paul Leo and Stacey Sellers, Frances and Billy Phelps, and Ruby Clemmons. The guest of honor was Mrs. Emma Holden. After the games refreshments were served, consisting of banana-sandwiches and soft drinks.

piano; the toast to the faculty was delivered by Cameron Norris; response was by Miss Betty Nevill; a May Pole dance was performed by the waitresses, with Miss Gasque directing; Waban Thomas imitated several well-known radio singers; the class prophecy was made by Mary Frances Hardee; and the class poem was recited by Betty Jean Downer.

While much of this program was going on there were repeated sing-song demands for a variety of performances by various ones in the group. Many boy-and-girl combinations were sent round the table, and Principal Stone was drafted for a vocal rendition. The banquet was a delightful occasion for all who participated and wound up with a dance in which all guests joined.

Womans Society At Sharon Church

Organization Is Formed And Regular Meetings Are Being Held By The Membership

Rev. R. H. Caudill, pastor of Sharon Methodist church, with the aid of Mrs. L. D. Hayman, organized a Womans Society of Christian Service on March 8th.

The officers of this Society are:
President, Mrs. John W. Landcaster; vice-president, Mrs. Carvin Roach, recording secretary, Mrs. Chas. H. Gray; promotion secretary, Mrs. Russell Hewett; treasurer, Mrs. V. Hewett.

Secretaries of the various departments are: Mrs. Ersell Hewett, Mrs. Clyde Hewett, Mrs. W.
S. Kirby, Mrs. Sam L. Kirby, Mrs. J. M. Roach, Mrs. Bedford Ludlum, Mrs. Marshall Roach and Mrs. George Reaves.

This branch of service is for all Methodist women of the church who will give their prayers, a little time, a small amount of money and who will study and strive to be better Christian women in their community.

The regular meeting was held April 14. Mrs. John W. Lancaster presided. The program was as follows: Opening hymn, by members of the service; prayer, by Mrs. Clyde Hewett; reading of the minutes, by Mrs. Chas. H.
Gray; Bible reading, by Mrs.
Lancaster, Mrs. J. W. Kirby gave a very interesting reading for the members. Mrs. W. S. Kirby gave a talk on "Tell the Christian the Truth," a talk that every one should plant in their hearts. Mrs.
Carvin Roach gave a talk on how to improve and gain more members in the service. Mrs.
Chas. H. Gray gave a talk on what the church budget should mean to each member of the church and urged the women to visit the members of the church.

This branch of the Christian service is working toward a 100 percent membership for this church. Closing prayer was led by Mrs. J. M. Roach.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet at Sharon church April 28th for a training session. Officers urge all women of the church to be present.
Members of other denominations are also invited to visit. The program committee will have a very interesting program for that evening.
