High Times

By Cheerleaders

Spring, exams and commencement time are here again, and at Southport high school we think that this school year has passed the fastest of any we can recall. Soon our news will be mostly of the preparation for the commencement, but now we'll tell you some of our usual gossip and school activities.

One of the most interesting features of last week's flower show were the exhibits in the children's department. Here are a number of winners, which helped to reflect credit upon our school:

In the second grade Kay Coltrane won first prize for shell arrangement, Albert Rogers won first prize for flower arrangement, Tommy Harrelson won second prize as miniature tray arrangement and this grade won second place for shadow boxes.

In the fourth grade Penny Moore won first prize for flower arrangement and Janice Suggs won second place for shell arrangement.

In the fifth grade Brookie Newton won first place for miniature gardens, Jimmy Harper won first place for posters and third prize for flowers arrangement; Betty McGlamery won second place for flower arrangement.

The sixth grade won first place in shadow boxes, Majorie Hewett won second place for miniature arrangement and John Arnold won second place for posters.

In the seventh grade Jackie Larsen won first place for flower arrangement, Una Potter won second place for flowers arrangement, Norman Holden won third place for flower arrangement and this grade won third place for shadow boxes.

Monday we saw the band majorettes becoming anxious for Monday night to draw nigh when they would parade before the concert impromptu-and what a beautiful evening it was! We saw our high school boys at lunch chattering in front of Autry's (and boys usually tease the girls for gossiping all the time) . . . During school we saw Billy McDowell being his usual quiet self . . . Our baseball team was seen making preparations to go play Leland Tuesday afternoon . . .

Mary Ann Laughlin was seen blushing in public music . . . Latitia Hickman, Lena Ward, Nancy Swan, Iris Rabon, Patricia Adams Martha Buckman, Gloria Hewett seen in the auditorium practicing for the recital . . . The band and majorettes along with their guests were seen going on a weiner roast Wednesday night at Big Hill . . . Bobby Cullis was seen reading the newspaper in study hall . . . Coopie Burris was seen around trying to get himself in trouble . . . Jimmy Ratcliffe, George Stanley, Billy Smith, and Richard Brendie were seen arguing as usual . . . The sophomore class was becoming anxious over an English test . . . The seniors were waiting for one o'clock to come so they could leave to go on their house party.

Tuesday we saw Lena Ward, Rebecca and Catherine McRacken and Bernice Phelps on their way to see the baseball game between Leland and Southport schools. The score ended up as 2 to 0, Southport's favor. Jimmy Ratcliffe, our pitcher, had us standing on our toes a few times. This ended the games for the school team. But remember, we still have a town team to cheer for. All enjoyed the game very much.

Friday morning we saw most of the freshmen looking on Mrs. Baker's record book to see their grade on civics . . . We saw Clara Potter taking names during second period . . . Douglas Watts and Billy McDowell were sharing the newspaper . . . Stuart Arrington and Patricia Adams were passing notes . . . Mary Ann Laughlin was working her little brain studying for an English test . . . We saw Kay Moore and others reading the Penderlee high school newspaper that they sent to our school. It's very nice and interesting paper and we're enjoying it very much . . . We're been hearing the freshmen hinting around about wanting to go to Baldhead. How about it, Grade-mothers?

Could it be possible: For Bertram Burris to keep still one period? Mary Lib Lupton to keep a pencil? Nancy Swan ever to learn to play the saxophone? Eulene Stidham to keep a piece of bubble gum in her mouth? Mr. Sanders to break down and let the sophomores have an all-day picnic at the beach Friday? To see Jackie Marsh studding history? To see Iris Rabon without Sue Williamson-or Sue without Iris? To see Billy Doshier staying home from a Saturday night dance? To see Richard Brendie without his yo-yo? To see the sophomores and freshmen getting along with the juniors? George Stanley ever getting out of the detention hall?

Seen Around: Jackie Marsh sporting a new black sweater . . . Bernice Phelps getting lost at the weiner roast . . . Bobby Spencer getting red when questioned in glee club Thursday . . . Tommy Bowmer singing his head off in glee club . . . Harriet Corlette blushing as Mr. Stevenson returned here large music paper . . . Betty Jean Helms, Jimmy Ratcliffe, Maxine Doshier and Barbara Price preparing for the senior house party . . . Jimmy Davis and George Stanley loaded down with food.

FOOT CUT ON BOTTLE

Mrs. Bill Grady, who with her husband operates the store at the Holden Beach ferry, had her foot badly cut on a broken bottle in the yard one night last week. fourteen stitches were required to sew up the injury.

GETS BIG STURGEON

The shrimp boat Vagabond of the Bill Wells fleet in charge of Sylvester Wortham took a roe sturgeon weighing 138-pounds while trawling for shrimp one day this week. A great many sturgeon are taken by the boats, especially during the fall months, but Mr. Wells says this one was the largest he has seen.
