

Water Pastures Help To Farmers

Establishment Of Permanent Pastures Is One Important Step In Farm Progress Of Brunswick

Farmers of the Bolivia
district have been following recommended practices or steps of establishing improved pastures.

Mr. Tunga, Veterans Farm
district, is pleased at the pasture progress that has been made among his boys during the past year. Among the who have established pastures are:

Mr. Lewis, 3 acres; Gilbert
Lewis, 2 acres; Dan Johnson, 15 acres; Sowell, 2 acres; Eldred Johnson, 1 acre; Buren Sell-man, 2 acres; Roy Swain, 6 acres; Petter, 1 acre; Rufus Holmes, 1 acre.

It is stated that there are enough to have been out of the above list. He has out of the 15 acres of Sherman, 2 acres of Sherman and 6 acres of Roy Swain.

Throughout the county the number of farmers who are to establish permanent pastures are regarded as agricultural leaders. They are doing things for themselves and for the production of quality feed, cheap in its cost, being harvested by animals.

The Rovin' Reporter

A. Elmore of the Elmore Motor Company at Bolivia last week was sincerely appreciated. We met up with Mr. Elmore, asked how he was. Was told he was feeling fine and without further ado he said: "I have always been a great admirer of yours, you are always on top of the world regardless of things."

Last week came a sincere note of regards from Bill Sharpe, head of the State News Bureau, who is leaving his job to accept a better one on the first of August. Bill reminded us of the time several years ago when he started out as State Publicist and we were about the first men in the state to begin cooperating with him, a relationship that has steadily continued.

Recently a lot of people have asked us why we have slowed up and are not getting around over Brunswick county as much as we used to do. We want it distinctly understood that it is neither lack of interest in Brunswick county nor advancing years. The plain fact is that when we go around the county we are on our own time and expense. A small commission on subscriptions that come direct to us sometimes helps to pay the expenses. Just as often we are out of time and money. We appreciated it one day this week when Mrs. W. R. Hinson of Ellenton, S. C., came in and told the office she was going to renew her subscription through the Rovin' Reporter.

During the war the baggy breeches of gobs were constantly in evidence and became an object of considerable admiration from most of the female population. But the war is over and not much in white summer uniforms or the blue of winter are now seen. About anything that wears pants will do for the girls these days, they even wear them themselves. Now, with a possibility of the Army coming to Caswell, where the Navy used to be, we expect that the new colors in clothing will be just as attractive as that worn by the Navy during war days.

There is no hurry about things, but we plan to cultivate the friendship of Deputy Sheriff Odell Blanton of Supply a year or two from now. He has built and is stocking a new fish pond with bass, crappie and bream. By summer or fall of next year one of these fish should be large enough to catch. Long experience has taught us the wisdom of keeping on friendly terms with the owners of fish ponds.

From the corn fields that are now to be seen in the farming sections of Brunswick it is evident to the most casual observer that our farmers are doing their part plus in the better yield per acre program for the State. This county will make a big corn crop this year, based on both acreage and production. That is, if the fine growing season continues a little longer and if there is nothing in the way of storms to come along and prove destructive.

Early this spring a lot of reports came in regarding many farmers who were planning the establishment of permanent pasture acreage for the grazing of hogs and cattle. Recently other reports have been coming in telling of many of these farmers meeting with fine success in their efforts. A canvas of the county would now probably reveal several hundred getting well started in permanent pastures.

A canning factory is a canning factory and different products can be processed with little or no charges in machinery or other equipment. About two decades ago Southport had a good canning factory, but its sole interest was in processing shrimp. It operated only during the shrimping seasons and finally closed down with the death of its main owner and manager, Richard Doshier. Although it handled only shrimp, that canning factory did well while Mr. Doshier lived. We have always thought it would have done much better than it did if it had devoted itself to the processing of seasonal farm products. In that way it could have run 12 months of the year, canning shrimp in season and turning to farm crops when shrimp were not available.

Last week we had something in the way of stories in the Wilmington News and other papers relative to the need of a commercial canning factory in Brunswick county. This factory could take care of the tomatoes we so easily produce, also handle sweet potatoes, berries, beans, corn and have shrimp a backlog for use when farm products are not available. These stories attracted the attention of Col. George W. Gillette, Executive Director of the North Carolina State Ports Authority. Col. Gillette wrote us: "Dear Bill: I always read your meaty items in the papers, and I was particularly impressed with the most recent ones regarding agricultural possibilities in Brunswick County. I thought I recognized a long time ago the possibilities there and elsewhere in the east for industries that will build our State economy, and I stress it on all occasions. In my address to the Association of County Commissioners, in Blowing Rock, last Monday, I emphasized the same thing about processing our agricultural products. There is a great possibility we still never reach our potential wealth until we do more of the canning and processing for the markets outside the State. Keep up the good work. With all good wishes I am, Sincerely, G. W. Gillette."

This column, this week, may be rather flavored with tomatoes but, what of it? There is a lot of things that get flavored with tomatoes to their betterment as food. This week while we were in Shallotte we were rounded up by J. E. Cook, cashier of the Shallotte branch of the Waccamaw Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Cook deposed he had heard some talk of interesting a big commercial cannery to locate in Brunswick and wanted to know where it would locate? That is something that we do not know. In fact we care very little where it locates, so long as it is somewhere in Brunswick county. The matter of location is something that should be left entirely to whoever is interested enough to come, build and equip. We assume that such a promoter would like to be as near as possible to the center of his production and that the matter of labor and roads for transportation will also be given consideration. The first thing is to interest experienced canning people in coming to Brunswick and leaving the rest to them.
