Lebanon Club Does Outstanding Work As One Of Newest Groups

After much discussion a Home Demonstration Club was organized in the Lebanon community June 9, 1947.

Nan Ratliff, Home Agent, met with ten women for the first time and a project was chosen for that year.

The July and August meetings were postponed that year because of the tobacco season but in September the second session was held.

Plans for preparing a booth for the Farmer's and Merchant's Exposition which was held in October at Whiteville were discussed. It was decided to use articles made from feed bags. In the short time before the Exposition club members worked diligently to collect articles for display.

Sponsor of the Lebanon booth was the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

First prize of $75 was won for the display by the newly organized club.

A project equipping a First-Aid room at Williams Township High Schol was adopted and members are still working on this as their major undertaking.

A number of club members joined other Home Demonstration women of the county and went to see the Lost Colony pageant at Manteo during the summer of 1949.

A membership drive is now underway for the Lebanon Club and the group has contributed to all drives that have been undertaken in the county.

Five members received book review certificates last year and a larger number are planning to try for them this year.

Strawberry Tests Favor Missionary

Missionary variety has led in strawberry yield tests conducted at the Willard, Branch Experiment Station, during the past few years, according to E. B. Morrow, horticulturist for the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station.

Missionary produced the highest yields though its berries were smallest of any variety in the test. The yields of Bellmar, Midland, Konvoy, Suwanne, Southland, NC 1039 and Temple were equal to those of Blakemore and Massey. Those of NC 1012, Maytime, Fairmore and Premier were smaller. The earliest varieties were NC 1012, Blakemore and Maytime, in the order named.

Sixty-seven hybrid selection have also been tested at Willard. Eight of these outyielded Blakemore and five outyielded Massey. Fifty-four selections produced berries larger than Blakemore and 11 produced berries larger than Massey.

American prunes and other dried fruits are in high favor in most European countries, and American raisins are popular except in England where the lighter colored sorts are preferred.
