The club grounds are located in the sandhills, along a stream of water that has been converted into a 30-acre lake. The camp site is unusual in that it is located on an outcrop of rocks, with the water running down rapids and over rocks for a 30-foot fall into the lake. These rapids and the waterfall reminds one of the Speeders Having Hard Time mountains. The rock is a good quality of sand stone. Many years Continued On Page Four

At this meeting Foster Mintz, member of the hoard of education from the Bolivia school district, resigned and declared that this action was motivated by business reasons. There had been earlier reports that Mintz desired to be relieved of further responsibilities as a member of that body. He was the only member of the board retained in the appointment of the five-man group this spring.

At Shallotte none of the five men named in criminal warrants sworn out for their arrest last week by the Rev. Dennis Hewett had been arrested up until today. These men are demanding that these warrants be served, if indeed they do exist, and not be held as a threat over their head.

A large delegation of interested citizens came to Southport Monday night for the board of education meeting, but there was no conference with board members and the delegation. However, in addition to their talk with County (Continued on page 2)

Another Camp In The Making

With the Girl Scouts of the Cape Fear Area developing their beautiful Pretty Pond for year-round use, another pro-ject of similar interest developed this week when W. B. Keziah was advised that Adam Smith, secretary and leader in the youth movement in Wilmington, wanted a pond or lake on which to run his summer swimming and recreational activities for the boys. Mr. Smith has been advised that the local man knows of two lakes that he believes will be suitable, and that probably can be secured. An investigation of both and probably other sites will be made this week.

The Wilmington man is outstanding in his work among the boys. He was an Olympic winner in 1928.
