Wilmington Blind Girl Gives Part Of Bonnie Fund To Aid 'Blue Boy'

Miss Florence Davenport, blind social worker for New Hanover County, on Thursday gave $100 of the fund donated to replace Bonnie, her seeing-eye dog, to the fund to save the life of Joney Day Lowmore, the Pireway lad who as a "blue baby" faces death unless there is an operation. "I am asking that $100 of the Bonnie fund be given to the blue baby fund," she said, while addressing members of the Wilmington Lions Club at their weekly luncheon meeting. Miss Davenport explained that while she was deeply conscious of the affliction of blindness, she had a very real appreciation of other forms of suffering. Consequently, she was anxious that the Lowmore Blue Boy Fund receive a portion of the Bonnie Fund. The Bonnie Fund was raised by the Wilmington Lions after her dog was killed by an automobile. Miss Davenport suggested that Lions on what they could do toward rehabilitating blind persons. She pointed out that this country's economy is set up for persons with sight and that blind persons face public opinion which tends to regard the blind as objects of pity, excluding them from making an independent economic existence. She told how the funds provided by the Lions were being used to buy braille slates and white canes. She said clothing was especially needed in many instances. Miss Davenport suggested that every effort be made to assist blind persons in selling the goods they produce so that they could "help themselves and establish themselves a place in the economic system." A check from the Wilmington Lions Club was forwarded Friday by McKean Maffitt, co-chairman of the club's major project committee, to Ben E. Lewis of Whiteville, who is treasurer of the Lowmore Blue Boy Fund.

Lumberton Girl Queen Of Festival

Greatest Festival In History Held Friday As Miss Nora Dean Parker Becomes 1949 Selection

SCOTT GIVES GREAT "GO FORWARD" TALK

Chief Executive Expresses Interest In Future Of Rural Churches; Introduced By Quinerly

In the greatest of all tobacco festivals ever staged in Whiteville, an 18-year-old Lumberton beauty was crowned queen of the Tri-County Tobacco Festival here Friday night.

Miss Nora Dean Parker, a 1949 high school graduate who will enter Queens College next month, walked off with royal honors and a $225 diamond solitaire. She is a niece of Congressman F. Eitel Carlyle.

Just to prove their impartiality, judges awarded second place to Kitty Fisher of Elizabethtown and third spot to Meriam Mitchell of Kelly.

The queen-crowning ceremony was performed by Governor W. Kerr Scott who earlier in the evening had given another of his great "Go Forward" messages to the people of Southeastern North Carolina by radio.

Speaking over radio Station WENC from the home of his hosts, former Mayor and Mrs. S. L. Fuller, Governor Scott told his audience that "I think it is a disgrace on the part of the utility people and the REA that there are 268,000 family units in North Carolina that want electricity and are unable to get it." He invited those who failed to get electricity to let him know.

The State's Chief Executive took a mild blast at Wilmington when he declared his great interest in ports and then said "we were a little disappointed" that Wilmington didn't show a like interest in his good roads program. He was referring to Wilmington's majority against the road bond issue.

Turning from a review of his "Go Forward" program and his declared objective of having North Carolina "out-rival" any other state in the nation, Governor Scott expressed an interest in the moral development of the State, particularly with respect to rural areas. He reminded his audience that crime has shown a greater increase in the rural sections than in the cities.

He declared he was concerned over the rural churches "about which little has been done in the past 50 years." In all too many instances, he said, the rural churches have had little attention except a paint job about every 10 years and a cleanup of the cemeteries at homecoming.

The Governor said he hoped the rural roads program now being inaugurated would help to keep the rural church from going into hibernation every winter. This Excellency was introduced by Joe P. Quinerly, a long-time associate of Scott in Extension Service work, who said "the Governor probably has made many mistakes and may make others in the future, but he will never make the greatest mistake of all—that of doing nothing."
