All sections of the county have witnessed the building of new homes and the remodeling of old ones. The person who has not been over the county in the last five years would hardly recognize things if he went over it now. So far as we can see there is no indication of a let up in building.

If A. L. McKeithan, fine Longwood citizen, does not get to Southport during criminal court week each September, we know from past experience that we will see him at Shallotte the very first time we go there. Court week seems to be his regular period for his getting ahead with a years subscription to The Pilot He did not get to Southport last week but we found him waiting at Shallotte Saturday.

Speaking of subscriptions reminds us that while we were tramping around Shallotte Saturday getting news matter and advertising and keeping two jumps ahead of the police, we picked up 23 new and renewal subscriptions to The State Port Pilot. That helps with the expenses of getting around. At the same time it may help others. Samuel Kravitz of York subscribed saying, The Pilot will help me to keep up with what is going on at Shallotte". Except for a period of about a year during which he was in business at Wilmington, we do not remember a term of criminal court over a period of 25 years, that was not graced by the presence of S. F. Willetts of the Mill Creek community. But he failed to show up last week.

During the fall term of criminal court it is something rare if we fail to see our good friend W. M. Carter of the Hickman's Cross Roads community. That is one period of the year when he nearly always comes to town, The fact that court is in session really has little or nothing to do with it. Mr. Carter just comes to see old friends.

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to avail themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they be the sole umpire of their own disputes over the meaning of contracts.

There is no Need for Strikes

With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike, but the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike.

The wheels have stopped rolling on the Missouri Pacific. They may stop rolling on other railroads at any time. Recently the Wabash Railroad was forced to discontinue operation for several days under similar circumstances.

What are These Strikes About?

These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike

There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts-just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life.

The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as > ... it is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike should occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow, in view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are so numerous and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organizations in this case would soon result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor

Obviously the railroads cannot be run efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded

There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:

1-Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.

Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.

3-Decision by arbitration. 4-Decision by neutral referee.

5-Decision by courts. The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad

Innocent Bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships

There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employes, and are the most highly paid of all employes on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employes a the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.

The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.

If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"
