CONSTRUCTION OF PUBLIC ROADS.

4NO. W. HAYES.

News and Observer.

It may be assumed that all road work now being contemplated in North Carolina will be executed by convict labor, and it is safe to base estimates of cest upon this premise. estimates of cest upon this premise. The greatest economy has been found in couviet gaugs of about lifty, say from forty to sixty. Certain fixed expenses are incidental to each gaug and where the number is small cost per head increases. But with the economical number of lifty men cost in North Carolina for feed agonal excellent ranges from 250, to cost in North Carolina for feed ag and guarding ranges from 25c. to 30c, per day per man. This cost will vary under exceptional condi-tions, running as low as 15c. and as high as 40c. With labor costing from 25c, to 30c, per day, road work may be estimated to cost as follows.

Grading.

This item may vary within wide limits, depending upon the character of the country, the cure with which or the country, the care while after locations shall have been ander and the gradients adopted. But a safe estimate is that it will rarely be less than $500 per mile in the eastern concities and rarely more than $0.500 per mile is the middle counties. When the hill country of the western counties shall be reached, grading may cost anything you please. In the smooth, loamy sections of the eastern counties grading may run as low as $200 per mile, but it will not be safe to make estimate upon this lineis. About $1,500 per mile is a reasona-ble estimate for grading a thirty-foot road in the counties with the best appliances available. These figures will also include sand-clay surfacing. if material be conveniently near.

Crushed Stone.

This item likewise varies widely with proximity and character of stone. In some sections of the State the road side and open fields. I bought these delivered to the crusher with a mile haul for 50 cent per ward.

If stone is to be quarried it will If stone is to be quarried it will cost under best conditions about illo; per yard, of which loc, will be for convict labor and 20c, for supplies. It will cost higher if the quarry be poor face or require stripping. Probably 40c per cubic yard, measured loose, is a safe figure as quarries run, with some chance of reducing to 25c, or 30c. Stone moved out of the quarry and cunthrough the mill will cost 10c, and by the time it shall be moved and spread on the road 50c, will be a cheap figure, even with convict labor.

One mile of road having stone One mile of road having stone spread ten feet wide will require 1,250 cubic yards approximately measured loose, costing at 50c., $625 per mile for stone surfacing exclusive of rolling. So that stone may be expected to cost not less than $500 per mile under the most favorable conditions and should not exceed $1,000 per mile under any ordinary conditions. These figures varying with proximity of material, ordinary conditions. These figures varying with proximity of material, character of quarry and number of convicts worked in gang.

Considering the two items of grading and surfacing together, we find that a road graded 30 feet wide and metalled 10 feet wide and 6 inches deep may cost as little as $1.000 per mile of finished road if the work shall have been executed under work shall have been executed under the most favorable conditions, but run as high as $3,500 under un-favorable conditions. These figures applying to the middle and eastern
