Value of Laughter.
find nonsense singularly refreshsaid Talleyrand. There is good sophy in the saying, "Laugh and r fat." Laughter begins in the said diaphragm, setting the liver, ach and other internal organs into omach and other internal organs into quick, jelly-like vibration which was a pleasant sensation and execuse most equal to horseback riding. The art beats faster, sends the blood unding through the body, increases respiration and gives warmth and ow to the whole system. Laughter ghtens the eye, increases the perspilou, expands the chest, forces the somed air from the least used lung is and tends to restore that exquisping poles or balance which we call all and which results from the harmlous action of all the functions of body. This delicate poise, which alous action of all the functions or body. ling in love is the one illogical ature, the one thing of which we suppled to think as supernatural, r trite and reasonable world. The tae out of all proportion to the Two persons, neither of them, set is out of all proportion to the me. Two persons, neither of them, may be, very amiable or very beau-il, meet, speak a little and look a le into each other's eyes. That has m done a dosen or so of times in experience of either with no great sit. But on this occasion all is dif-ent. shape of a round cracker that has to be

Roquefort cheese is of a duli white color, except in spots, where martification has set in. Some claim it to be inliabited, but this is not true. Even the intrepid and mephitic microbe fleesfrom it as we fee from a pestilence.
We have seen Limburger cheese strong enough ig shoulder a two bushel sack of wheat, but a piece of Roquefort the size of a dice can carry an election.
Limburger is a rose geranium when compared with Roquefort. There is as much differences between them as there is between the pur of a kitten and the roar of a lion. A man who will eat it is an open sepuicher and should be quarantined or driven into the wilderhesse and never again allowed to look into the face of a human being.

Cunard, the Whittler,

Cunard, the Whittler.

Sam Cunard, the whittling Scotch lad of Glasgow, wrought out many odd inventions with brain and jackinife, but they brought neither bonor nor profit until he was consulted by Burns & McIvor, who wished to increase their facilities for carrying foreign mails. The model of a steomship which Sam whittled out for them was carefully copied for the first vessel of the great Cunard line and became the standard type for all the magnificent ships since constructed by the firm. When Samuel Cunard was knighted, he did not forget that he owed his honors and his wealth to conscientious whittling.—"Pushing to the Front."

Preaching in Labrador.

An old missionary who had been many years in Labrador was at length compelled to return, his influence all gone and his mission entirely fruitless. gone and his mission entirely fruitless. A young man was appointed in his place, and before he went to his assignment he thought he would visit his yenerable predecessor and learn from him the cause of his treable in the land of icebergs. The old man received him very cordially.

"My young friend," said the old

you will drive them all to repentance."

The Wicked Do Not Laugh.

The envious, wicked and malevolent rarely laugh, because they are impregnated with bile and are therefore morose. The haughty, the vain and the awkward also laugh very little, for fear of losing their dignity. The Spanish people, proverbially grave, are a good example.—Louis Mann.

Speaking of Floods.

A veteran of the war of 1861 had listened patiently to the very long story a youthful veteran of the Spanish war told. The account of hardships left bim unmoved.

"Just after the Johnstown flood, my boy," said he, "there was a man in the next world who went about telling everybody how that Johnstown afair had sent him where he was.

"His listeners hung on his words—all of them, that is, except a quiet looking little man who seemed so little impressed that every time the Johnstown man got through he merely looked bored and said, 'Oh, shucks!"

"The Johnstown man got tired of it after awhile. It gof on his nerves to have anybody act as if what happened at Johnstown wasn't of any importance. No matter how he told his story, the quiet looking little man merely said, 'Oh, shucks!"

"At last the Johnstown man spoke to a fellow who had been there a fong time about it.

"'Say,' said he, 'who is that little man who keeps saying, "Shucks!"

"Who?' said the man who had been there a long time. 'Do you mean the fellow over there? Why, his name's Noah.'"

I do seem to be extraordinarily interested in a whole to of acts and things that I have got nothing to do with. Those North Carolina officeholders who the Democrats charged with too great partisan activity are to be warned by the Civil Sevice Commission to "keep strictly out of politics." As postmasters, assistant postmasters collectors of internal revenue and collectors of outputs and collectors of outputs are collectors of contract and collectors of contract are contract. collectors of customs are not includ-ed in the classified service, the warning would seem to be an Administration bluff.

There seems to be quite a boom growing for Gov. Johnson of Minnesota for the Democratic nomination for president in consequence of the article published in the Commoner of May 17, which states that Gov. Johnson can carry Minnesota at the primaries and at the national election. This would seem to indicate that Mr. Bryan has not yet decided to be a candidate and like other Democrats is ready to select whoever can best unite the party, provided he comes up to the Democratic require-ments of ability and honesty of purpos
