Common Meter.

A Pennsylvania Dutch elergyman was in the habit of giving out two lines of a hymn at a time for the choir to sing. One dark, rainy day he could sot see the words and said: "Mine eyes ish dim. I cannot see. I left mine specks at home." The choir, supposing this to be the hymn, struck up the time of common meter. The minister hawled out: "Mein Gott, Mein Gott Dat ish no hymn. I only said mine eyes vash dim." The choir sang these two lines, the minister sa grog: "I dink the debit's in you all. Dot wash no the debil's in you all. Dot wash no bymn to sing at all."

The Sweating Process.
At the bedside of the late William Travers four doctors were consulting as to the best mode of producing a per-spiration. Overhearing the discussion, Travers whispered:

"Send in your bills, gentlemen; that will do it."

THE NIGHT HAS A THOUSAND EYES.

The night has a thousand eyes and the day but one, yet the light of the bright world dies With the dying son.

The mand has a thousand eyes and the heart but one. Yet the limit of a whole life dies When levy is don. —Princis William Feanblion.

The Horse Is No Hypocrite.

The philosopher, Carneades, said: Thraces learn nothing well but rating, for their forers thatter them and those for their states latter team index and who existed with them in mannes suffer themselves to be besten. But a bosse knows not whether a prince or a peasurable on his back, and if his rider many true this he throws him without seveners."

Pick Out Rogers.

Thompson and Rogers, wandering home late one night, stopped at what Thompson supposed was his residence. but which his companion insisted was but which his companion insisted was his own hause. Thompson rang the bell lustily when a window was open-od, and a hely inquired what was wanted. "Machan," inquired Mr. Thompson, "Isn't this Mr. T-Thomp-son's house?" "No," replied the hally, "this is the residence of Mr. Rogers," "Well," evolutined Thompson, "Mrs. T.T. Thompson," Mrs. T-T-Thompson beg your pardon Mrs. Rogers won't you just step down to the door and pick out Rogers, for Thompson wants to go home."

R. L. Stevenson on Shakespears.

I have always suspected public taste to be a mongret product out of affectation by dogmatism, and felt were if you could only find an honest man of no special literary beat, he would tell you be thought much of Shakespeare bombastic and most absurd, and all of him written in very obscure English and wearlsome to read.

The Jigger Under the Tongue.

Aunt Mary's Glorious Finish.

A dear old New England spinster, the embodiment of the timid and shrinking, passed away at Carlsbad, where she had gone for her heath. Her nearest kinaman, a nephew, ordered her body sent home to be buried as was bee last wish in the onion. —as was her last wish—in the quiet little country churchyard in Massachu-setts. His surprise can be imagined when on opening the casket he beheld, instead of the placid features of his Aunt Mary, the majestic port of an English general in full regimentals, whom he remembered had chanced to die at the same time and place as his

At once he cabled to the general's heirs explaining the situation and requesting instructions.

They came back as follows: "Give the g-neral quiet funeral Aunt Mary interred today with full military honors, six brass bands, saluting guns."-Lippincott's.

No Money Need Pass.

The Duke of Wellington once received a letter from a hady saying that she was soliciting subscriptions for a church in which she was much interchurch in which she was much inter-ested and had taken the liberty to put his name down for £200 and hoped he would promptly send her a check for that amount. He forthwith replied that he was glad she thought so well of him. Certainly he would respond to the call, but he, too, was interested in a certain church that needed subscriptions, and, counting upon his cor-respondent's well known liberality, he had put her down for 1200. "And so," he controled, no money need pass be-tween us."

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.
