

CHILDREN VISIT JAMESTOWN.

The Exposition As Seen By Youths from Randolph-Other Points of Interest.

In answer to the letter published two weeks ago from one of our youthful readers, The Courier has received the following interesting description of the visit to Jamestown by Colon and Otis Osborne, of Wootville.

Our Dear Father: We saw your letter in the Courier and take great pleasure in responding to it in our humble manner. It is quite difficult for little folks to tell what they see let alone writing it.

We will try to do our best, hoping, if not written so you can understand it, that you will take the effort for the deed.

We left Milltown Tuesday, June 18th, feeling as gay as you might expect two boys of our age going to see big things at the Jamestown Exposition. We changed cars at Greensboro, after which we travelled on a pretty rapid rate and seemed so to us as we had never been on a fast train before.

We arrived at Richmond about 4:30 p. m. Our first stop was to get our tickets and we found somebody to take us in charge and make the rest of the journey with us. We stopped over in Richmond to see some of the places of interest. The very first thing that attracted our attention was the heavily loaded wagons. Each one had enough on it for three such wagons. From the Southern depot we went to the post office which is a very large stone building. From there we went to Capital Square and played with the squirrels, which roam at will over the grounds; they are very tame and will eat from any stranger's hand. We also visited the capital building which we thought very fine indeed.

As you enter the capital from the south side the first thing to meet your eyes is a marble statue of Washington. Sister told us that it is a wonderful piece of work and told us who did it, some Frenchman, but don't ask his name please. At the far end of the main hall is a museum, which is very interesting. There are two large cases there containing the old Confederate flags, lately returned to the South. These flags were taken from the Southern soldiers during the Civil war. And by the way, sister told us a very interesting story connected with these flags. At one time these flags were to be used by the Southern people and a Mississippi man wrote a letter to ask what I want to say—O yes, write a parody on the Confederate Banner. The poem is called "Let Them Keep Them." Well, our sis had the pleasure of meeting this man, Mr. La Mar Fontaine, and he recited the poem for her. He told her that he was a sharp shooter and he fighting men was "Kill a man a minute." At one place during the Civil war he killed 100 men in one hour, besides killing two sharpshooters on the Union side.

Mr. Fontaine is a skin and bone man, who says "Give me liberty or give me death, and I will die as I live." Sister said she thought these words were very fine indeed.

We went up to the observatory of the city Hotel and got a good view of the city. Guess that is what you would call a bird's-eye view. This was up the first afternoon. The next day we went to the Catholic Cathedral, where hours and shoulder we came down to see the bell of the next place of interest which is Monumental Ave. At the head of this avenue is the monument of Jeff Davis, which was unveiled during the Old Soldiers Reunion. This is the highest place yet. There are no vaults built upon the ground but all in the hillside. We visited the graves of Presidents Monroe and Taylor, also Jefferson Davis, Fitz Lee and Mary's.

Now for our trip to Jamestown. We took the train at 7:30 a. m. and went up to the station to get our tickets and we found somebody to take us in charge and make the rest of the journey with us. We stopped over in Richmond to see some of the places of interest. The very first thing that attracted our attention was the heavily loaded wagons. Each one had enough on it for three such wagons. From the Southern depot we went to the post office which is a very large stone building. From there we went to Capital Square and played with the squirrels, which roam at will over the grounds; they are very tame and will eat from any stranger's hand. We also visited the capital building which we thought very fine indeed.

As you enter the capital from the south side the first thing to meet your eyes is a marble statue of Washington. Sister told us that it is a wonderful piece of work and told us who did it, some Frenchman, but don't ask his name please. At the far end of the main hall is a museum, which is very interesting. There are two large cases there containing the old Confederate flags, lately returned to the South. These flags were taken from the Southern soldiers during the Civil war. And by the way, sister told us a very interesting story connected with these flags. At one time these flags were to be used by the Southern people and a Mississippi man wrote a letter to ask what I want to say—O yes, write a parody on the Confederate Banner. The poem is called "Let Them Keep Them." Well, our sis had the pleasure of meeting this man, Mr. La Mar Fontaine, and he recited the poem for her. He told her that he was a sharp shooter and he fighting men was "Kill a man a minute." At one place during the Civil war he killed 100 men in one hour, besides killing two sharpshooters on the Union side.

Mr. Fontaine is a skin and bone man, who says "Give me liberty or give me death, and I will die as I live." Sister said she thought these words were very fine indeed.

We went up to the observatory of the city Hotel and got a good view of the city. Guess that is what you would call a bird's-eye view. This was up the first afternoon. The next day we went to the Catholic Cathedral, where hours and shoulder we came down to see the bell of the next place of interest which is Monumental Ave. At the head of this avenue is the monument of Jeff Davis, which was unveiled during the Old Soldiers Reunion. This is the highest place yet. There are no vaults built upon the ground but all in the hillside. We visited the graves of Presidents Monroe and Taylor, also Jefferson Davis, Fitz Lee and Mary's.

Now for our trip to Jamestown. We took the train at 7:30 a. m. and went up to the station to get our tickets and we found somebody to take us in charge and make the rest of the journey with us. We stopped over in Richmond to see some of the places of interest. The very first thing that attracted our attention was the heavily loaded wagons. Each one had enough on it for three such wagons. From the Southern depot we went to the post office which is a very large stone building. From there we went to Capital Square and played with the squirrels, which roam at will over the grounds; they are very tame and will eat from any stranger's hand. We also visited the capital building which we thought very fine indeed.

As you enter the capital from the south side the first thing to meet your eyes is a marble statue of Washington. Sister told us that it is a wonderful piece of work and told us who did it, some Frenchman, but don't ask his name please. At the far end of the main hall is a museum, which is very interesting. There are two large cases there containing the old Confederate flags, lately returned to the South. These flags were taken from the Southern soldiers during the Civil war. And by the way, sister told us a very interesting story connected with these flags. At one time these flags were to be used by the Southern people and a Mississippi man wrote a letter to ask what I want to say—O yes, write a parody on the Confederate Banner. The poem is called "Let Them Keep Them." Well, our sis had the pleasure of meeting this man, Mr. La Mar Fontaine, and he recited the poem for her. He told her that he was a sharp shooter and he fighting men was "Kill a man a minute." At one place during the Civil war he killed 100 men in one hour, besides killing two sharpshooters on the Union side.

Mr. Fontaine is a skin and bone man, who says "Give me liberty or give me death, and I will die as I live." Sister said she thought these words were very fine indeed.

We went up to the observatory of the city Hotel and got a good view of the city. Guess that is what you would call a bird's-eye view. This was up the first afternoon. The next day we went to the Catholic Cathedral, where hours and shoulder we came down to see the bell of the next place of interest which is Monumental Ave. At the head of this avenue is the monument of Jeff Davis, which was unveiled during the Old Soldiers Reunion. This is the highest place yet. There are no vaults built upon the ground but all in the hillside. We visited the graves of Presidents Monroe and Taylor, also Jefferson Davis, Fitz Lee and Mary's.

Now for our trip to Jamestown. We took the train at 7:30 a. m. and went up to the station to get our tickets and we found somebody to take us in charge and make the rest of the journey with us. We stopped over in Richmond to see some of the places of interest. The very first thing that attracted our attention was the heavily loaded wagons. Each one had enough on it for three such wagons. From the Southern depot we went to the post office which is a very large stone building. From there we went to Capital Square and played with the squirrels, which roam at will over the grounds; they are very tame and will eat from any stranger's hand. We also visited the capital building which we thought very fine indeed.

As you enter the capital from the south side the first thing to meet your eyes is a marble statue of Washington. Sister told us that it is a wonderful piece of work and told us who did it, some Frenchman, but don't ask his name please. At the far end of the main hall is a museum, which is very interesting. There are two large cases there containing the old Confederate flags, lately returned to the South. These flags were taken from the Southern soldiers during the Civil war. And by the way, sister told us a very interesting story connected with these flags. At one time these flags were to be used by the Southern people and a Mississippi man wrote a letter to ask what I want to say—O yes, write a parody on the Confederate Banner. The poem is called "Let Them Keep Them." Well, our sis had the pleasure of meeting this man, Mr. La Mar Fontaine, and he recited the poem for her. He told her that he was a sharp shooter and he fighting men was "Kill a man a minute." At one place during the Civil war he killed 100 men in one hour, besides killing two sharpshooters on the Union side.

Mr. Fontaine is a skin and bone man, who says "Give me liberty or give me death, and I will die as I live." Sister said she thought these words were very fine indeed.

We went up to the observatory of the city Hotel and got a good view of the city. Guess that is what you would call a bird's-eye view. This was up the first afternoon. The next day we went to the Catholic Cathedral, where hours and shoulder we came down to see the bell of the next place of interest which is Monumental Ave. At the head of this avenue is the monument of Jeff Davis, which was unveiled during the Old Soldiers Reunion. This is the highest place yet. There are no vaults built upon the ground but all in the hillside. We visited the graves of Presidents Monroe and Taylor, also Jefferson Davis, Fitz Lee and Mary's.

Now for our trip to Jamestown. We took the train at 7:30 a. m. and went up to the station to get our tickets and we found somebody to take us in charge and make the rest of the journey with us. We stopped over in Richmond to see some of the places of interest. The very first thing that attracted our attention was the heavily loaded wagons. Each one had enough on it for three such wagons. From the Southern depot we went to the post office which is a very large stone building. From there we went to Capital Square and played with the squirrels, which roam at will over the grounds; they are very tame and will eat from any stranger's hand. We also visited the capital building which we thought very fine indeed.

As you enter the capital from the south side the first thing to meet your eyes is a marble statue of Washington. Sister told us that it is a wonderful piece of work and told us who did it, some Frenchman, but don't ask his name please. At the far end of the main hall is a museum, which is very interesting. There are two large cases there containing the old Confederate flags, lately returned to the South. These flags were taken from the Southern soldiers during the Civil war. And by the way, sister told us a very interesting story connected with these flags. At one time these flags were to be used by the Southern people and a Mississippi man wrote a letter to ask what I want to say—O yes, write a parody on the Confederate Banner. The poem is called "Let Them Keep Them." Well, our sis had the pleasure of meeting this man, Mr. La Mar Fontaine, and he recited the poem for her. He told her that he was a sharp shooter and he fighting men was "Kill a man a minute." At one place during the Civil war he killed 100 men in one hour, besides killing two sharpshooters on the Union side.

Mr. Fontaine is a skin and bone man, who says "Give me liberty or give me death, and I will die as I live." Sister said she thought these words were very fine indeed.

here are too large for little boys to describe, so we will pass on to the States' Exhibit Palace. In this building every state is supposed to have a display. Some of the states have none, besides we don't remember all we did see. North Carolina is as good as any; really shows more different products than any other one State. The house, which serves as an office for the manager, is covered over with bays, first, on that are panels of tobacco, corn stalks split and put in care of spirit in jars and put on in different designs. In fact there is a panel for nearly every kind of grain grown in the State. The house is covered with shocks and the line of corn stalks. California had a huge elephant made of English walnuts. Kentucky, a cotton ball of balls of hemp, covered with the hemp they really force.

If you will excuse us for the present, we will tell you more in next week's Courier. Yours most respectfully, Colon and Otis Osborne, Wootville, N. C.

WHAT SHALL I DO FOR MY DAUGHTER.

A Good College Education for the Farmer Girl is Better Than Much Money and Safe Securities.

This question has often come up and worried you, brother Farmer. And it will keep on coming until it is answered; and the answer is not always easy. The boy can knock along some how. But the girl? If she is left without parents or other protectors, without money and without education, her outlook is not hopeful.

We venture to suggest that the best possible provision for her would be a good college education. You may be able to leave her financially independent. Very well. But money alone cannot make one independent. It will not admit her to the station in life that you would like her to occupy. Nor will she be likely to marry a desirable man if wealth is her only asset. When the right kind of man starts a hunting for a wife, he wants to find a woman first, and not a bank account. So the girl with money and nothing else is apt to get an animal in trousers instead of a husband. And possibly, also, the bank account may dwindle and vanish before the wife hunter comes in sight.

But the chances are that you will not be able to leave your girl financially independent. According to the old saying, "Fools for luck and poor folks for children" and the average farm house is apt to be well stocked with offspring. So the average farmer is doing well if he can leave his children a thousand dollars apiece. But a thousand dollars invested in safe securities would just about pay for the girl's cloaks and hats and shoes. She would have to "skirmish" for the rest of her raiment and rations.

And what can she do without an education to earn these things? She must stick to the cook stove, or the wash tub, or the hoe handle, or the loom, or the spinning jenny, or tackle a matrimonial scrub and serve a life term at hard labor. But if you invest a thousand dollars in her education, two results will follow: It will stay invested forever; and second she will be able to earn an annual income of $300 to $600 and board. And if she chooses to fish in the matrimonial pond, the education will prove a far better bait than the thousand dollars. And think, too, what a different sort of a housekeeper she would make and what a different kind of family she would rear.

But we have been taking the lowest view of your girl, namely the animal view. We have been considering what she shall eat and what she shall drink, and wherewithall she shall be clothed. Now we understand that your hope is to bring up not merely an animal, but a woman, a real, first-class, full rounded woman, capable of filling any place to which she may be called, and fitted to enjoy all the privileges that she deserves. Is this true? Then your first thought about her will not be money.

You will do your best on her mind and character, and then leave her hopefully to God and the future. B. T. VANN.

Raleigh, N. C. (From Progressive Farmer.)

M. P. Conference opens school at Denton.

The M. P. Conference has purchased Denton High School property and will open the school August 19th, with Rev. Geo. L. Reynolds principal. The prospect for a good school is very encouraging. Board in dormitory costs 25 cents per day.

C. H. Surratt, of Lilac, is erecting a nice cottage on West Salisbury Street, and will move his family here as soon as it is completed.

Dr. Phillip S. Easley, of Black Walnut, Virginia, has located here and will be ready for practice in a few days. He is a graduate of the North Carolina Medical College.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

TEXAS ELKS COMING.

Will Celebrate El Paso Day at Jamestown Exposition.

Jamestown Exposition, Va., July 22.—Among the thirty thousand Elks who came down from Philadelphia, July 22, to observe Elks' Day at the Jamestown Exposition, there will probably be no delegation that will attract more attention than the El Paso Queen Sabe Club of Elks, of El Paso, Texas.

Its members will be dressed to represent every type of the picturesque costumes in the sister republic of Mexico.

Again the Queen Sables will make the trip in a special train all the way from the border of sunny Mexico to the borders of picturesque Canada to the north, through Canada to Niagara, and thence down south to the convention city of Brotherly Love and on to the Jamestown Exposition.

The club will also take the famous Guadalajara band. This is the personal band of the governor of the Mexican state of Jalisco, 650 miles from Mexico and is tendered again to the club as a compliment from the big, six-foot governor, Miguel Ahumada, who is an honorary member of the El Paso Elks and the only foreigner who has such distinction in the entire membership of the order. This band is composed of sixty-two pieces, under the leadership of Auguste Azzalini, son of a noble Italian family.

It will be one of the most picturesque aggregations ever sent to a national reunion of Elks, and will be educational in that it will correctly represent the dress of all classes of citizens of Mexico. The Mexican government would not recognize the organization and permit the use of its band if the costume were not correct.

When to Stop Advertising.

An English Journal requested a number of its largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received.

When the population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you and never heard of you stop coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.

When you stop making fortunes right in your sight solely through the direct use of the mighty agent.

When you forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful men concerning the main cause of their prosperity.

When younger and fresher houses in your lines quit starting up, and stop using the newspaper in telling people how much better they can do for them than you can.

When you would rather have your own way and fall than to take advice and win.

Early Thursday morning the home of Mrs. J. W. Lee, at Greensboro, was in full flame when discovered by pedestrians. Mrs. Lee and her daughter narrowly escaped death in the flames.

Editor Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, suggests Governor Johnson, of Missouri, for the Democratic nomination for president. He says Wm. Jennings Bryan holds the key to the situation and should be endorsed Mr. Johnson he would receive the nomination. Mr. Watterson asserts that no man can receive the nomination without this endorsement.

John I. Hare and a Mr. Brudor were put off the A. C. L. train at Back Creek because they refused to pay more than the rate of fare prescribed by law. They were returning to their homes at Fremont and Goldsboro from Wilson. They will institute suit against the Atlantic Coast Line.

SMALLPOX.

Fewer Cases During the Past Year in This State.

In 1905 the total number of smallpox cases in North Carolina was 7,375, with 31 deaths. In 1906 there were 6,049 cases and 17 deaths. During the year ending May 1 1907, the total number of cases was 1,187 with 6 deaths.

In Warm Weather

Vinol is as delicious as a fresh orange, and as soothing as can be to the weak, irritable stomach. It cures back lost appetite, improves digestion and creates strength throughout the whole system. We strongly recommend Vinol to all who are weak and run-down from any cause,—particularly to delicate women and children, old people and for those who have pulmonary troubles. Money back if you try Vinol and are not satisfied.

STANDARD DRUG COMPANY.

C. C. Yates, of Cameron has been appointed general superintendent of the Randolph and Cumberland Railroad with headquarters in Carthage. Mr. Yates is a veteran rail-roader, and will prove a valuable man for the R. and C. His family will remain at Cameron for the present.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Executor in the estate of Josiah Luther, deceased, before W. C. Hammond, Clerk of the Superior Court of Randolph county, all persons having claims against said estate are notified to present them to the undersigned, duly verified, on or before the 5th day of July 1908, or this notice will be placed in bar of their recovery and all persons owing said estate will come forward and make immediate settlement.

This 1 day of July 1907. J. W. Luther, Executor of Josiah Luther.

The sentence of Sam Carter, who was given five months on Randolph rows at the July term of Stanley court, has been changed by Gov. Glenn to five months in the Stanley jail. Sentence was changed on account of the health of the defendant.

Do you really enjoy what you eat? Does your food taste good? Is your food heavy? Do you have a heavy, full feeling after meals, sour stomach, belching gas on the stomach, bad breath, indigestion and dyspepsia? If so, you should take a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol will nourish and strengthen your digestive organs and through the natural digestive juices for your stomach. It will make you well. It will make your food do you good. Turn your food into good, rich blood. Kodol digests what you eat.—Sold by Standard Drug Co. and Ashboro Drug Co.

Present a small boy with a watch and he'll have the time of his life. Hot air is the motive power that operates the human talking machine.

What a Man of 15 Ought to Know.

Sylvanus Stall, D. D., Vir Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa. It has been aptly said that a man at forty-five is either a fool or a physician. In the earlier books of this well and well series, the author, Sylvanus Stall, D. D., has sought to save young boys, young men and young husbands from mistakes which can only be avoided by intelligence. Few men know that great physical changes await them at middle life. Perhaps it may be truthfully said that men of forty-five are ignorant of the nature of the changes through which they are passing as boys at the period adolescence in this book, Dr. Stall, in that honest, frank and fearless, but pure and matchless way which distinguishes the earlier books of the series, sets forth the character of the changes which occur in the physical life of both men and women. The author makes out a clear case; applies to it what all intelligent physicians admit prepares his readers to solve the mysteries of these changes, and by intelligence to escape the sad consequences of ignorance. To many men the guidance of this book will be a timely benediction.

Many a man takes a better half in a half-hearted manner.

Judge no man's sincerity by what he says, but by what he doesn't.

Nearly all old-fashioned Cough Syrups are constipating, especially those that contain opium. They don't act just right. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates. It drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Contains Honey and Tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it.—Sold by Standard Drug Co. and Ashboro Drug Co.

The path of duty leads to happiness.

Genuine happiness is able to stand a lot of hard knocks.

A remedial agent, cooling, soothing, healing household remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. For fever, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, coughs, and all ailments of the throat. Good for Phlegm, Hoarseness, and all ailments of the throat. It is the best.—Sold by Standard Drug Co. and Ashboro Drug Co.

Fortune tellers are fortune swellers—for themselves.

Courtship is the juicy grape and marriage, the appendicitis.

HICKS' CAPUDINE CURES ALL ACHES And Nervousness. Total bottle 10c. Ashboro, N.C.

WASTING STRENGTH

Women who suffer from unnecessary painful, weakening, female complaints, Wine of Cardui is a safe and pleasant remedy for their ills. It acts directly upon all the delicate tissues, purifying the blood, throwing off matter and relieving female disorders such as scanty, profuse, painful catamenia, prolapsus, dragging pains, nervousness, irritability.

If you need advice, write us a letter your symptoms. We will send free ad sealed envelope. Address: Ladies' Ac The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga

ALL DRUGGISTS SELL IT IN $1.00 B

"I WROTE YOU" WINE OF CA. For advice, and by following it and taking Cardui, my Female Troubles were cured.—Mrs. R. S. Wallace, Levech, Ala.

The Baptist University for Women, RALEIGH, N. C. High-grade school for women. Thirty-four officers and teachers. Diplomas given in the Arts, Sciences, and Philosophy, and in Music, Art, Expression and Business. Excellent equipment for teaching and illustrating the Sciences. Distinct School of the Bible. Full business school, in charge of a competent instructor. Art school, including oil, applied design and china painting. Regular Normal Course, elective for A. B. degree. Special short course for public school teachers. School of music, with ten teachers, and giving instruction in piano, violin and pipe organ. Comfort of students looked after by lady physician, nurse, lady principal and matron. Board, furnished room, literary tuition, heat, fees for physician, nurse, gymnasium and library $124 a year; in the club $50 to $ 5 less. Next session opens Sept. 4, 1907. For catalogue and all information Address R. T. VANN, President, Raleigh, N. C.

We Sell the Earth! If you are interested in the proposition, in or near Asheville, we think we can please you as to lot, prices and terms. Office in Bank B'd'g. Armfield & Laughlin, Real Estate Dealers.

Littleton Female College. Splendid location. Health resort. Hot water bath. Electric light and other modern improvements. 240 boarding pupils last year. High standard of scholarship, culture and social life. Conservatory advantages in music. Advanced courses in art and education. Business, College, Bible and Normal courses. Health record not surpassed. Close personal attention to the health and social development of each pupil. Uniform worn on all public occasions. Charges very low. 25th Annual Session will begin on Sept. 18th, 1907. For catalogue, address REV. J. M. RHODES, President, Littleton, N. C.

Kings Business College. INCORPORATED. Capital Stock $30,000. RALEIGH, N. C. Pullen Building. [CHARLOTTE, N. C. Piedmont, Ins. Bld.] THESE SCHOOLS GIVE the world's best in modern Business Education. Oldest Business College in North Carolina. Positions guaranteed, backed by a written contract. No vacation. Individual instruction. We also teach Book-keeping, shorthand, Penmanship, by mail. Send for Home Study rates. Write today for our Catalogue, Office and High Endorsements. They are free. Address: KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte N. C.

HIGH POINT BUGGIES Are THE Best. We also handle J. I. Nissen Wagons, Johnston Harvesting Machinery, Mowers, Stoves, Ranges, Mill Supplies, all kinds of Hardware. Lewis-Winslow Hardware company.

WE TEACH Money Making On the Methods of Farm

That is why "THE FARM MONEY MAKER" has thousands of its subscribers in the South. That prosperous section is now awake to its enormous possibilities. Every farmer, fruit grower or live stock man in the Great South should be a reader of Farm Money Maker.

We are making a special offer to farmers in the Southern states. Cut out this advertisement and send it to us with 25 cents (just one half our regular price) and we will send you Farm Money Maker for one year, or mail us 50 cents and you will receive it for 3 years. Do it today. Address FARM MONEY MAKER, Cincinnati, Ohio.