The Saber Toothed Tiger Was a Formidable Creature. The most remarkable of all the ex-tinct feline animals are those known to naturalists as the saber testhed cats or tigers, a group comprising the greater part of all the fossil forms. They date back to the earliest times of which we know anything about the family in North America and reach down to the time of man himself. A large and powerful species described from the Indian Territory by Cope lived contemporaneously with the hairy mammoth, as evidenced by the commingling of their skeletons. commingling of their skeletons. There can be little or no question but that the hairy manumoria was contemporaneous with man in North America as well as in Europe. Its geological range is from the close of the cocene to the latter part of the pleistocene. The chief peculiarity of the minual is the extraordinary clomaned canine teeth. The fall is of unusual length and the legs are short. The minual measures about seven feet in length and the legs are short. The animal measures about seven feet in length aside from the tail. The lower laws have a downward projection in front, due to a dangelike widening of the jawhenes, which doubtless served as a protection to the teeth, preventing their Sujury or loss. In some of the larger forms from South America this flange was not present, while the cause week were even more elongated than is the case with this species, attaining a length of over six inches and pro-trading for below the jaws when

A FAMOUS ROAD.

India's Tree Bordered Highway 1,200

Miles in Length.

Miles in Length.

The road I have in my mind is in India and stretches 1200 miles from Lamore to Calcatta. It is the famous Grand Trunk road Let me explain its trains from the the expute its hattire, though one cannot do so by economics in England that is engined like it. It is level, indied, there is not above a mile the whole distance where above a mile the whole distance where even a budy need dismount to walk. The misterial with which it is made is called humber, and if you care to turn that word into emercie you have as idea of what it is like. It is exceedingis hard and its emosth as a popured payenest. There is no dust. When I first got on this road and enjoyed the hanry of easy traveling I said, "This is mugnificent, but in a little time I as imposite on the time to suppose it will become gritty and un-even. I went 50, 100 miles, 700 miles, 500, 600, 700 miles, and it was always the same, with not even a small stone to give a jog. Nearly the whole of the way is lined with a double row of ins-Jestic trees.

With two friends I rode across India durifig the hottest time of the year, is April and May, and was never serious-ly inconvenienced by the heat, for at a pace of fifteen miles an hour one could create a draft.—Chambers' Journal.

Roadside Wit.

He who matched wits with the au-thor of "The Ancient Mariner" had in deed a lively task before him, for Cole ridge was never caught napping. The poet was so awkward a horseman that his riding often attracted comment of anything but a complimentary nature. One day he was riding along the turn-pike road in the county of Durhan when a wag who not him fastened upon him as an excellent subject for sport. Consequently he drew rein and said in an importment drawl: "My graceful friend, did you happen to meet a fallor on the road?

"I'm inclined to think I did," said Colorides meditatively. It was not sure at the moment, but he said something about my meeting a goose farther along the road."

The wag put spors to his horse, and the poet popped calmly on his way.

Past Salaries of Actors.

A number of autograph letters of Edmund Kean supply some interesting information about the salaries of actors early in the nineteenth century. One relates to an offer by Mr. Ellison offering Kean 43 a week as acting man-ager of "the new theater in Wych street." Later this rose to $25 a month. In 1820 Kean was offered $12,000 a year to go to America. In the prime of his popularity he received £200 for a week in Ediaburgh and apparently reached the highest point when Mr. Bunn wrote from the Theater Royal, Dublin, on Feb. 8, 1829, and offered film 550 a night to play in Dublin and Cork.—Liverpool Mercury.

Home influences. Each one of us is bound to make the little circle in which he lives better and happier; each one of us is bound to see that out of that small circle the widest good may flow; each of us may have fixed in his mind the thought out of a single household may flow influences which shall stimulate whole commonwealth, and the, whole civilized world.-Dean Stanley.

Got Too Important.

"What has become of the maid you thought such a prize?"
"Ob. I had to let her go?" replied the second fushionable woman. "After her operation for appendicitis she thought she was one of us."—Philadelphia Ledger.

So Called Intelligence In Animals.

Now the so called intelligence of the lower animals is largely like that of the Tills that find their way to the SQL, or of the seeds of the plants that find their way to their proper habitat. Marsh plants find their way habitat. Marsh plants find their way to the marshes, hill plants find their way to the hills. The spores of the black knot seem to hunt out every plum tree in the land. The rats and the mice find their way to your new house or new barn because they are constantly on the search for new fields. The squirrels fird the acorn grove and the birds the cherry trees for the same reason. Their necessities for food send them in all directions till they hit the right spots. I cleared off a swamp in the woods and put a direct through it; in two or three years the cattail flag was growing in my the cattail flag was growing in my ditch. These wingest seeds from distant excitons, and when the wind dropped them on the proper soil they rook root and throve all others—until the rook root and throve all others—until the rook for the cattain of the rook and the rook and the rook root and throve all others—until the rook for the roots of t

Thomas A. Kilson, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illoses of mankind comes from cating improper food or too much food; people armicined to overindulge themselves." This is where indigestian finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work as it no more, and when you overload it, or when you cat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help, and warms you by headaches belehing, sour stomach, names and indigestion. You should streed to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the exomach. Rodol will do this. It is a combine that the stomach and regetable acids and committed the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you cat. Sold by Asheboro Drug Co.
