Death of Mr. Lineberry.

John Lineberry, son of Robert Lineberry of Randleman, N. C., was in that awful wreck at Rudd, N. C., on the night of October 17th. His foot was fearfully mangled, and he was no doubt injured internally. He was taken to St. Leo's hospital where everything was done that could be done, but all seemed to no avail, and on Sunday Oct. 20th at 11 a. m. he breathed his last.

For some time he had been at work in Danville, Va. He was saving his money and studying as a preparation to entering school to prosecute his studies for the ministry, having felt for some time that he was called to this great work.

His father, brother and Mr. L. D. Mendenhall, of Randleman, were with him when the end came.

He was just twenty-two years old, but even in this short life he had so lived before the world that all who knew him declare that he had few equals and possibly no superior as a model Christian young man. The remains were brought to Randleman Monday morning where a large crowd met the train.

On Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. a large crowd assembled at the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Protestant church, where the funeral was conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. W. C. Hamner. The unbounded sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family.

W. E. SWAIN.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT. Whereas, It has pleased God in His infinite and unerring wisdom to enter the home of our brother, John W. Coletrane, and to call to his reward Miss Rose, his only sister, and the only daughter of her widowed mother; therefore be it resolved: That in the death of Miss Coletrane, our brother has lost the light of his home, and his community one of its best beloved daughters; and That, Carolina Lodge, No. 546, A. F. & A. M. extend to the bereaved family its sincerest and heartiest sympathy in their hour of darkness and affliction, and commend them to God for strength and comfort, knowing that He doeth all things well. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy spread upon the minutes of this Lodge, and a copy sent to the Asheboro Courier for publication. A. E. LEWIS, J. E. COLLE, J. ROM SMITH, Committee.
