

ONLY NECESSARY TO TREAT THE STOMACH

The new theory advanced by L. T. Cooper relative to the human stomach has attracted such widespread attention that the public in cities visited by the young man has been joined by many physicians in a discussion of his beliefs and medicines.

Mr. Cooper says that human health is dependent almost entirely upon the stomach. He says that no disease can be conquered without first allowing all stomach disorders. And further says that most men and women of this generation are half-sick, owing to degenerate stomachs. And lastly, he claims that his New Discovery medicine will rejuvenate the human stomach in 90 days.

Cooper has been traveling from one city to another, conducting in each what he calls a campaign of education. For the past year he has met the public in the larger cities of the country, and his success has been phenomenal. Thousands of people have flocked to his headquarters wherever he has gone, and the sale of his medicine has been beyond anything of the kind ever before witnessed.

Possibly the most interesting feature of the attention this young man has attracted is what his army of followers, whom he has converted to his beliefs through his medicines, have to say on the subject. The following statements are from two well known residents of Chicago and Boston, respectively, and the enthusiasm of these is characteristic of Cooper's admirers generally.

Mrs. H. B. Mack, of 3201 State Street, Chicago, says: "I have been suffering for 12 years from a combination of stomach troubles, catarrh and constipation. I had a gnawing pain in the pit of my stomach, a sort of dull pain that I could not quite understand. Then there was a dull headache, and my mind seemed to be wandering continually. I could not eat, and what little solid food I did eat I could not retain on my stomach. I tried every remedy I could think of, and also tried out a number of patent medicines, but without any apparent result. It was through one of my friends that I heard of Cooper's preparation, and I immediately decided to try some of it. It is two weeks since I took my first dose of it, and I feel like a new woman. The headache seems to have disappeared, and the pain in my stomach along with it. The medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I want to thank Mr. Cooper for what he has done for me."

Mr. Edwin F. Morse, of 29 Oakley Street, Dorchester, a suburb of Boston, says: "For three years I had not a well day. My stomach was in frightful shape; the mere thought of food would nauseate me, and I really had a horror of anything to eat. All solid food would cause me extreme indigestion, bloating and gas on my stomach, and nothing tasted right. Some time ago I got some of this Cooper's medicines, about which there is so much talk. I actually feel as well and strong as a boy ever since the first bottle. Every sign of stomach trouble has disappeared, and I have a hearty appetite and eat three square meals; every thing seems to taste good. Anyone who knows what chronic indigestion is can appreciate what this means to me. I consider this the most remarkable medicine I ever heard of."

We sell Mr. Cooper's medicines, and find them to be all he claims. —The Ashboro Drug Co.

LAST WEEK'S ELECTION.

Analysis of the Results as Taught by Next National Election—Interest Centers on Result in Cleveland.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., November 10.

The result of the election shows the general trend towards Democracy, and in a great measure indicates a Democratic victory next year. New York and New Jersey will be the great battle ground with the result depending upon the independent vote in both states. The question of an attractive presidential candidate to appeal to those independent voters will be paramount when both the conventions of the great parties meet. At the same time the feelings of the rank and file of both parties must be considered by the political managers, for neither party can afford to give any serious schism to cause a loss of votes, so the nominees and the platform must be generally approved by the regular party followers. Such conditions will put the party managers to their traps, and will result in both conventions nominating their most available men, instead of the successful fact riding roughshod over the other faction. The defeat of Congressman Burton by Tom Johnson will help to eliminate Taft and aid a Foraker faction in Ohio. It will also bring Tom Johnson to the front as a possible candidate for president upon whom the Democrats can unite. How the party leaders in New York, New Jersey and other doubtful states would view Tom Johnson as the candidate is too early to decide. He is thought too radical in some views, but there is not much doubt that a great mass of Democrats everywhere would rally to his aid, if he arrives at the convention he can best unite the party. Tom Johnson is an ardent advocate of municipal ownership of public utilities. He is a single taxer and a trader in theory, but uses his arts for equal taxation of all. Tom Johnson believes faithfully in that good old Democratic doctrine of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Congress will meet in less than a month, and we may expect every number to be loaded with one or two speeches on the financial issue. There will be a panacea for panics, but few will agree on details further inflation of the currency, either of the "asset" or "secured" variety. The coming session of Congress will be more devoted to story than to the passage of real public policies have forced on country.

The panic has had such a sobering effect on President Roosevelt that he is re-writing that portion of his message which relates to the trusts and corporations. He has referred with the Steel Trust magnates about those matters and it is recently reported that he will soon give his recommendations to the effect of the times, as the corporate magnates think advisedly.

Message to Congress. He will recommend the Roosevelt who so far has been the bad trusts, the great rich, and the malefactors of great wealth.

"Oh, what a fall was there, my countrymen; Then you, and I, and all of us fell down, And bloody treason flourished over us."

ROBERT MILLER.

You can't be well if you have a weak, unhealthy, tired-out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe-digestant like KODOL. For Dizziness, KODOL is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by Standard Drug Co. and Ashboro Drug Co.

Did Not Advertise.

A young man named Casey, who does not believe in patronizing home industries, recently sent to Sears, Roebuck & Co. for a pair of trousers. In the pocket of the pants he found the following note: "Should this fall into the hands of a good looking young man who desires to correspond with a young lady of sweet disposition, kindly address—" The address mail order man promptly sent a letter to the address given and a few days ago received the following reply: "Sir, my wife has just received a letter from you addressed in her maiden name. Fifteen years ago when she worked in a sweat shop, she might have written the note. She is the mother of six children and my lawful wife. If you do not cut out writing to her, I will make a trip to your town and make you look like two cents worth of dog meat."

It is an evident fact that the merchant who handled the trousers did not advertise or he would have disposed of them in less than fifteen years.—Ex.

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than KODOL, which contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. KODOL is offered on a guaranteed plan for the relief of heart burn, flatulence, sour stomach, belching of gas, nausea, and all stomach troubles. So at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals, and your head aches or when you have no ambition, and you are cross and irritable, take a little KODOL. It digests what you eat. It will make you healthy. Sold by Standard Drug Co. and Ashboro Drug Co.

Look at Expenses.

No young man starting out for himself being dependent on his own exertions can afford unnecessary expenses. He must deny himself extras or always be in debt. Even a five cent cigar each day will amount to $18.25 in one year; and the one who saves that sum will be much ahead of the one who spends it. And the habit of saving will work everything. If he saves $18.25 each year, only putting in a 6 per cent. interest, he will have in twenty years $357.50. So he will be able to buy a house, or a car, or a boat, or a yacht, or a capital.

HORSE BREEDING.

Districts Should Specialize in the Production of Horses.

In one district of Richmond county we have counted as many as forty-one pure bred Percheron mares owned by members of a breeding association, while the same district owns many high class grade mares of the same blood. Soon such a district will become famous for its draft horse stock of this particular breed, and that is the sort of reputation needed by each breeding district in the state. So long as each district produces a heterogeneous collection of horses of all manner of blood combination no success will be attained in attracting buyers ready to pay good prices for the class of horses they wish to find in sufficient numbers. There is no outside demand for the mongrels and misfits.

Centers For Buyers.

Jefferson county has become famous for her dairy cows. Around Lake Mills one may find finely bred Holsteins in considerable numbers, and in the Athens district of Marathon county the late lamented Hon. Fred Rietbrock made Guernsey cattle numerous and profitable among the settlers. To such centers go the buyers ready and willing to purchase at remunerative prices even more animals than are ready for their needs. We should have hundreds of such centers celebrated for their horses of some distinct and valuable type. We want centers of this sort in which the buyer can find numbers of a given kind of horse, centers where heavy draft horses of one or other of the well known breeds may be found uniform in type and excellence of development, and other centers where the buyer may find ready to his hand hundreds of high class carriage horses.

Shortsighted Policy.

But not every breed should be found striving one against the other in each district in the state. Such is too commonly the objectionable condition existing at the present time. There is nothing to be gained by such shortsighted policy. "In unity there is strength." By uniting for the production of one standard, necessary profitable product in a given district, the breeders may confidently count upon success, and we sincerely trust that such a policy may soon direct the breeding operations of every horse producing district in Wisconsin.—Bulletin, Department of Agriculture, Wisconsin.

THE VETERINARY.

The occurrence in Virginia of sore mouth of cattle, an inflammation of the mucous membranes, has led Veterinarian Spencer of the state experiment station to outline in Southern Planter a course of treatment, as follows: Remove afflicted animals from such pastures as have produced it. Provide nutritive food, which must be sloppy or soft boiled roots, bran and ground oats and corn made into mash. Pure water in abundance is very important. Among medicinal agents there is a large group which give favorable results. Probably none can be selected which can modify the condition more than freely washing out the mouth two or three times daily with a warm 1 per cent solution of creoline, to be followed after each washing by the following mixture applied to the denuded surfaces with a swab of cotton tied on a small stick: Chlorate of potash, four ounces; tincture of iron, four ounces; glycerin, six ounces; water, one gallon. Fodder containing fungus is thought to be a fruitful cause of the disease.

Poor Digestion in the Horse.

A mare constantly loses flesh, is hungry all the time, teeth appear all right and no signs of worms are noticed. A veterinary surgeon who has seen many such cases, generally with either bad teeth or worms, advises as follows in Rural New Yorker:

First have mouth examined by a competent veterinarian. Employ a man whom you know is up to date to fix her mouth and then have a druggist put up the following: Iron sulphate, four ounces; powdered gentian, six ounces; nux vomica, two ounces; powdered wormseed, four ounces; powdered ginger, two ounces; blood-root, four ounces. Have this all thoroughly mixed together and give the animal a heaping teaspoonful morning and night with her oats and bran, and at the end of two weeks give her one-half pint of raw linseed oil with one-half ounce of turpentine mixed in thoroughly with the oil.

Worms in Sheep.

The Louisiana experiment station has been treating stomach and tape worms in sheep and lambs with the following vermifuge: "Pulverized resin, one part; sublimed sulphur, two parts; air slaked lime, four parts; common salt, sixteen parts. These materials were thoroughly mixed and placed in a small wooden box protected from the weather, and to which both ewes and lambs could have access at all times." As the sheep did not eat it well put in the feed was substituted. The salt did not prevent the worms from proliferating in the stomach, but it seemed to produce a better gain.

Worms in Cow's Teats.

Remedies for worms in a cow's teats are various. Professor Donald McFarland's idea, as given in American Agriculturist, is: Tie a strong thread tightly around the base of each wart and when it slings off apply a little toothpaste of antimony to the parts once to destroy the roots of the wart. Then mix twenty grains benzoic acid with one ounce each of glycerin and water; apply a little of each milk-let until the parts are healed. Use a milk-let to draw off the milk until cured.

A NEW OYSTER DISH.

Broiled Oysters and Celery Will Please Your Palate.

If you like both oysters and celery you cannot fail to approve of the oyster and celery broil, says the October Delineator. To prepare it, broil the oysters until they begin to shrivel, then arrange them on slices of bread that have previously been daintily toasted and liberally buttered. Cover them with some finely chopped celery; dust with salt and pour a goodly quantity of warmed cream over the mixture.

The Man and the Position.

The real man of size is determined by measuring him as he stands apart from the accident of position. Among the accidents and misfits which one encounters in the course of human events is the small man in the large position. Such a man in such a position sometimes seems big for a brief day, because of connection with a large position. He comes into the position by accident. He most probably regards it as a providence and according to the divine fitness of things. If he does not invest himself with all the importance belonging to his position it is a wonder.

So small is he as compared with his position, that he is absolutely dependent on his position for power and prestige. He must do business on the credit of his position. His glory is the reflected glory of his position's sake. The way he shrinks when separated from his position is pathetic.

We have known men to go down from positions where accident had temporarily placed them, who endeavored to use the prestige of that former position to advance them in their little schemes.

When a man is not bigger than his position he is too small for it. Only small men have to depend on large positions for their own largeness.—Word & Way.

Painful Practice.

Miss Harte, daughter of Bret Harte, the famous teller of California tales, has opened a typewriter office in London. Recently she was complimented on her proficiency in the use of the typewriter.

"Whatever skill I have," answered Miss Harte "was acquired by long and painful practice, like the expert marksmanship of Redwood James, one of my father's old California friends. One day father saw Redwood James nonchalantly draw a revolver and shoot the ashes from the cigar in the mouth of an acquaintance on the other side of the room. The other man only laughed.

"That must have acquired considerable practice," commented father.

"Practice!" exclaimed Redwood James, "I guess yes! Young man, I spilled more'n three dozen Chinamen a-learning that there trick."

Mothers with little children need no longer fear croup, whooping cough, whooping cough, whooping cough. It works off the cold through the bowels, clear the head. Guaranteed. For Sale by Ashboro Drug Co., Ashboro, and W. A. Underwood, Randolph, N. C.

Three Hundred Babies Wanted.

With the November issue, the Delineator started a Child-Rescue Campaign, the bringing into the home that needs a child the child that needs a home. There are 2,000,000 homes in America that know not the joys that children bring. There are 25,000 children in New York alone who know not what home means.

Over two hundred eager hands have already been extended. Three hundred requests for these little ones—for any homeless little one—have already been received through the mails. Women have come for miles away into our building asking for these precious ones; men have journeyed a thousand miles to be one for their homes. We told their story; we appealed to our worshipful American womanhood, and it met us to take these little ones into their hearts. We continue this campaign for homes for other homeless waifs—the Deaf-mutes, Delineator, we shall keep on with it. If one brings in a child to one twentieth of the homes in America, can bring this result that of good may we not yet do?
