William Lytle a Respected Colored Citizen of Asheboro Dead.

On last Sunday morning the announcement was made that Uncle William Lytle was dead. It was a shock to the citizenship of the town as he had been down street the previous day in good spirits and playing checkers. He complained on Saturday night after cutting some wood of a pain in his side and his wife rubbed him until he was comfortable and he rested very well. In the morning she got up and left him sleeping well and when the little girl went to call him for breakfast, discovered that he was struggling for breath. He soon answered the roll call.

William Lytle was "Uncle William" to all white and colored, big and little. He was honest and upright, peaceable and fair. He had

Has the Right Idea.

A Missouri editor proposes a drastic method in dealing with the man who points a weapon at another. He gives this advice, "When a man playfully points a gun at you, knock him down. Don't stop to inquire whether the gun is loaded; knock him down. Don't be particular what you knock him down with; only see that he is thoroughly down. If a coroner's inquest must be held, let it be on the fellow with the gun."

Daisy Williams Dead.

Little Daisy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alissa Williams of South Asheboro, died last Thursday morning and was buried at Flag Springs M. E. church on Friday. She had meningitis. Forest Notes.

The war department is reforesting a large area near Fort Bayard, New Mexico, for use as an army hospital site.

The light house reservations on the great lakes are able to grow all the white cedar needed for spar buoys in their district.

The Kalbab and the Cocooning national forests adjoin each other. Yet it takes from two to three days to go from one to the other across the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

There are several hands of the Persian fat-tailed sheep on the national forests of Southern Utah. The large fat tail some times weighs as much as forty pounds, and like the hump on the camel is a reserve supply of nourishment when food is lacking.

Dr. B. E. Fernow, dean of the forest school of the university of Toronto, and Bristow Adams, of the United States forest service, have just been elected president and secretary, respectively, of the society of American foresters, the only organization of professional foresters in the western hemisphere.

more than lived his three score and ten years, being 70 years of age last May. He was married in early life to Mary Hoover who died about four years ago. Two years ago he married Mattie Pitts. The Lyles have always been respectable citizens. They were not in bondage in slavery times perhaps having been liberated by their masters under a law allowing persons to set free their slaves. In war times the Lyles were known as free negroes.

The deceased professed religion in 1866 and joined the M. E. church in Asheboro during the pastorate of Rev. Bullock, who presided at the funeral service. A wife, one sister and brother survive.

Can the Pine Barrens be Made to Pay?

A group of young men—the Pages, Gates, Derby, Pumpelly and others—are spending their time and money trying to prove that the sandhills and cut-over land between Carthage and Laurinburg, and Candor and Fayetteville, can be made into good-paying farms and cattle country. Already they have achieved a measure of success. They are making an experiment from which every man in North Carolina may profit. If they succeed it will mark the beginning of a new agricultural prosperity. A full account of what these young men are doing and just to what extent they have "made good" is contained in the article,

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS!

DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR.

Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Make Your Hair Lustrous, Pluffy and Abundant—Stops Falling Hair. Immediate!—Yes, Certain!—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will see how hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.
