WHAT ONE MAN IS DOING ON TWO ACRES

August 24, 1914.

My Dear Sir:—I know you are interested in growing truck and vegetables for the market and this is to call your attention to the land and the vast opportunities in the land of Colon. The soil is between a sand and clay with a clay subsoil. The land is level and easily cultivated. Mr. Thomas Gross, through intensive methods, is not only making a living, but is making money on two acres of ground at Colon. The rainfall is evenly distributed throughout the year and the climate for growing truck, fruits and berries is unexcelled in the South.

Colon is a new town on the Seaboard and Norfolk Southern railroad and is forty miles west of Raleigh, in Lee County where thousands of dollars have been and are being spent in building roads. You will find a ready market for your produce and the nearest outside market is Sanford, which is only five miles away. Many other new enterprises are now in progress for Colon.

Here you can make money on a few acres and cultivating this soil is a genuine pleasure. Others are grasping this opportunity, why not you? It will pay you to buy a few acres while values are low, even if you are not ready to make a change in location. You will never again have the opportunity of buying at present prices. Remember that land values have been increasing over 10 per cent annually. If at the end of twelve months you are not satisfied with your purchase I will find you a purchaser at an advanced price.

For further information address me at Colon, or Greensboro, N. C.

Yours very truly,

JOHN M. HAMMER.

In addition to the enterprises under way preparations for the planting of a large fig orchard are being made.

NEAR DEATH BY SMOTHERING

But Husband, With Aid of Cardui, Effects Her Deliverance.

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years, with pains in my left side, and would often almost smother to death.

Medicines patched me up for awhile but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken.

I have induced many of my friends to try Cardui, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardui. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles."

For over 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength.

If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, as it has a million others.

Get a bottle of Cardui to-day.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 13

THE TEN VIRGINS.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 25:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Watch therefore for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh." Matt. 25:13.

A parable is "an earthly story with a heavenly meaning." An analogy is "a likeness." This story is a parable. It is to illustrate the vigilant, expectant attitude of faith, Heb. 6:28; II Tim. 4:8. Leaving the temple, Jesus drew the disciples' attention to its buildings and predicted its destruction. Proceeding to the Mount of Olives, his disciples ask him, "Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?" In reply Jesus gave the disciples his Olivet discourse and prophecies found in chapters 24 and 25. To fully comprehend this parable we ought to review all of this teaching. The discourse as a whole falls into these parts: (1) 24:1-44 deals with Israel as a nation; (2) 24:45-25:39 deals with the church as being responsible for the king during the period between his two advents; and (3) 25:31-46 deals with the judgment of the nations when the Son of Man comes in his glory. It will be seen then that this lesson comes in the second part and is one of three parables concerning the responsibility of the church. Jesus is the bridegroom, John 3:28, 29; Eph. 5:25; II Cor. 11:2; Rev. 21:9, and sets forth the love of Christ for the church, Eph. 5:25, 28, 30-32.

Two Classes.

I. "While the bridegroom tarried" vv. 1-5. The first and strongest idea of this section is that he, Jesus, the bridegroom, is coming again. Among those who wait are two classes, the wise and the foolish, though both were right intentioned. The lamps symbolize Christian profession, Luke 12:35; II Tim. 3:5, and the oil that which is essential to give us power whereby we maintain our profession, Acts 10:38; I John 2:20-27. The foolish virgins were superficial and had not enough to maintain their professions. The wise virgins had enough oil; so also may the believer have the abiding spirit of Christ's presence wherein to maintain his Christian profession. Waiting they all nodded (alumbered) and others evidently lay down (asleep). The wise virgins could afford to rest as they had all things ready. If they had been awake, however, they might have seen and rendered aid to those who were in the sorry plight of not being ready. The tarrying was a test of the faith and patience of both the wise and the foolish as both awaited the "fulness of time" when he should appear.

The Great Question.

II. Behold the bridegroom cometh" vv. 6-13. All are awakened by this midnight cry. The hour was one when he was least expected, and the church of today needs to be awakened to a realizing sense of this truth. Both the wise and the foolish have to meet him, but the wise were the only ones whose lights could shine and show the way into the banqueting room. They all outwardly appear alike even to the very point of separation. The church of God individually and collectively, has yet to sense the danger to it and to others if its light for any reason be not continuous. This cry was a call to "meet him" and we all need to ask ourselves, "are we ready to meet him?" The hour was too late to make needful preparation to meet him. In their emergency they turned to the five wise ones but the wisdom of one cannot supply the deficiency or the foolishness of others (v. 9). There is no Scripture to support the teaching that one man's merit is applicable to another except the merit of the God-man Jesus as applied to sinful humanity. Hence the wise sent their sisters to the original source of supply for oil, and as they went "the bridegroom came." So will it be with all who put off too long the securing of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

"They that were ready" went in, they that were not ready when they came found the door "shut." To attend a marriage feast is highly esteemed everywhere, but it is a privilege that is worthy of careful preparation. Remember that Jesus is here showing the attitude towards himself of those who profess to be devoted to him during the period of his absence, and who expect his return as king. That being so, we need to remind ourselves of the laws of the kingdom as he gave them. Jesus knows those that are his, John 10:27; II Tim. 2:19; I Cor. 8:2, but such are not those who make a mere outward profession of faith and lack the abiding presence and power of the Holy Spirit. The day of separation between the true and the false is surely coming, a time when the real, genuine, Spirit-filled Christians will rejoice "at his coming."

The lesson for us is "Watch." Because we do not know the day nor the hour when he will come, therefore, "watch." This word does not mean simply to look or to gaze but to keep awake, to be vigilant.

WILSON'S LEADERSHIP

By U. S. Senator Charles S. Thomas, of Colorado.

Who are the great Presidents of the United States, beginning with Washington and ending with Woodrow Wilson? Precisely those who, recognizing the public needs, and keeping in touch with the public conscience, have stamped their individuality and their influence upon national legislation; those who, perceiving the need of a given policy, have had the courage to advise and direct it; those who have prompted Congress to the performance of their duties as outlined in their public declarations and as demanded by the public needs; those who have proven their claim to leadership by wisely and courageously asserting it. We need but name Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson is types of those Presidents who, keeping close to popular sentiment, have counseled wise and needed legislative reforms, and have commanded, because they earned, the popular approval.

I glory in the fact that the President of the United States knows what the people want, communicates with Congress upon subjects of national concern, and reminds its members of the duty which rests upon them, and calls upon them to perform it. The President, is calling our attention to needed legislation, keeping us in communion both with what we were elected to accomplish and what popular opinion demands, is always abreast of the times. He is abreast with, but never behind, the people, and bears with serene composure that criticism and denunciation which pronounces him a tyrant and an usurper and which reproaches a Democratic Congress for complying with and conforming to a common purpose. It is a happy circumstance that we have a ruler who knows how to rule and a leader who knows how to lead. Such a man, I, for one, am willing to follow and to aid as my poor abilities will permit in the observance of a common duty. We have had Presidents of the United States who have been unequal to these supreme requirements. Presidents who have misinterpreted popular sentiment and ran counter to the declarations upon which they were elected; and the people, always just, have never failed to relegate such executives to the oblivion which they have justly earned.

So long as the President of the United States keeps in close contact with the people, so long as he seeks to interpret and obey the popular expression of the popular will, so long as he leads in the development of needed legislation for the popular good, just so long will the people sustain, and just so long will the Democratic Congress command and follow him. Thus far he has kept faith and shows no sign of weariness in well-doing.

ACUTE INDIGESTION

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles I can eat heartily without any bad effects." Sold by all dealers.

OUR DUTY AS NEUTRALS

President Wilson never appeared to better advantage than in his calm words of counsel to the people of the United States concerning their course in the present crisis. It behooves us as a nation to follow his advice and share with him "the pride of feeling that America if nobody else has her self-possession and stands ready with calmness of thought and steadiness of purpose to help the rest of the world."

FRENCH AND GERMAN WAR SONGS

"The Marseillaise"

"The Marseillaise" was written by Claude Joseph Rouget de Lisle, a young French officer of engineers, penned on the night of April 27, 1792. It was written in Strasbourg, the principal city which was taken by Germany in the war of 1870-71, and around which the present conflict will probably rage:

Ye sons of freedom, wake to glory!
Hark! hark! what myriads bid you rise!
Your children, wives and grandmothers hoary,
Behold their tears and hear their cries!
Shall hateful tyrants, mischief breeding,
With hireling hosts, a ruffian band,
Affright and desolate the land,
While peace and liberty lie bleeding?
To arms! to arms! ye brave!
The avenging sword unsheath!
March on! march on! all hearts resolved
On victory or death.

Now, now the dangerous storm is rolling,
Which treacherous kings confederate raise!
The dogs of war, let loose, are howling;
And lo! our fields and cities blaze;
And shall we basely view the ruin,
While lawless force, with guilty stride,
Spreads desolation far and wide,
With crimes and blood his hands imbruing?
To arms! to arms! ye brave, etc.

O Liberty! can man resign thee,
Once having felt thy generous flame?
Can dungeons, bolts or bars confine thee?
Or whips thy noble spirit tame?
Too long the world has wept bewailing
That falsehood's dagger tyrants wield,
But freedom is our sword and shield,
And freedom arts are unavailing,
To arms! to arms! ye brave, etc.

"The Watch on the Rhine."

"The Watch on the Rhine" was written by Max Schneckenburger, a Wurtemberg manufacturer, in 1840, when France was threatening the left bank of the Rhine. It was set to music by Carl Wilhelm, and during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71 was adopted as the national folk hymn and rallying cry of the army:
A voice resounds like thunder-peal,
Mid dashing waves and clang of steel:
"The Rhine, the Rhine, the German Rhine!"
Who guards today thy stream divine?

CHORUS

Dear Fatherland, no danger thine:
Firm stand thy sons to watch the Rhine.
They stand, a hundred thousand strong,
Quick to avenge their country's wrong
With filial love their bosoms swell,
They'll guard the sacred landmark well!
The dead of a heroic race
From Heaven look down and meet their gaze:
They swear with dauntless hearts, "O Rhine,
Be German as this breast of mine!"
While flows one drop of German blood
Or sword remains to guard the flood,
No foe shall tread thy sacred strand—
No oath resounds, the river flows,
In golden light our banner flows,
Our hearts will guard thy stream divine:
The Rhine, the Rhine, the German Rhine!

CHAMBERLAIN'S LINIMENT

If you are ever troubled with aches, pains, or soreness of the muscles, you will appreciate the good qualities of Chamberlain's Liniment. Many sufferers from rheumatism and sciatica have used it with the best results. It is especially valuable for lumbago and lame back. For sale by all dealers.

ELEPHANT BALL GAME

Of the many stunts performed by the Sparks Circus herd of elephants the one that probably gets the most appreciation is the game of base ball played by these mighty and unworldly pachyderms. Every play is gone through with in the most ludicrous manner, and the laughs furnished by this number will remain as a pleasant remembrance of the circus.

All the accessories—pitcher, batter, catcher, umpire, fielders and their gloves, masks, bats and uniforms—are present and "Big Mary" in the roll of batter seldom misses a home-run swat, and has thus established a 400 mark batting record for herself. Running the bases and the slide to home plate never fail to bring forth rounds of applause and laughter from the audience. Another funny situation is when the pitcher has two strikes on "Big Mary," he and the catcher get into an animated argument over the next ball to be served by the pitcher and trumpet into each other's ears. This little piece of by-play always meets with the instant approval of the audience and adds greatly to the already funny number. This act was presented to New York City's delighted millions last winter and came in for more favorable newspaper comments than any animal act seen there in recent years. This feature is positively in the program of the Sparks World Famous Shows, which are billed to exhibit here Friday, September 18.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaint. One use of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.
