

THE COURIER

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Asheboro, N. C., November 5, 1914

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tysor, of Erect, are visitors at Mr. Z. T. Byrd's Sun-

Everybody is invited to attend the Chrysanthemum Show. No charge for admission.

Chrysanthemum Show next Tuesday. There will be different forms of amusements.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cox, of Worth-ville, were in Asheboro guests of relatives.

Mr. Fred Cline, of Conover, Cataw- county, spent a few days this week with his brother, A. W. Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Beck were in Asheboro Sunday the guests of Mrs. Marvin Lovett.

Mrs. H. M. Worth and her guest, Mrs. Rosa McMillan, spent Monday in Ashtown.

Mr. John M. Hammer, of Greens- borough, was in Asheboro the first of the week.

Are your implements, wagons and machinery going to stand out in the weather all the winter or will they be under a roof?

Mr. Thomas Lambert has gone to Bell county to visit his brother, Mr. Anderson Lambert, who was stricken with paralysis last Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Ingle, of Elon College, turned home Sunday after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. W. Cline.

Miss Sarah Yount, of Conover, Cataw- ba county arrived Sunday to spend the winter with her nephew, A. W. Ine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Mr. Mike Robins and Miss Hunter, of Greensboro were the guests of Mrs. Annie Robins Sunday.

Misses Lusie Scarborough and Mabel Arrish, students at the Normal College, Greensboro, spent Sunday in Asheboro.

Dr. W. M. Jones, County Health Officer of Guilford county, will be here for the Better Babies Contest Tuesday.

Applications for entrance of Better Babies Contest at court house next Tuesday must be made by Saturday night.

The children of the graded school are becoming interested in the tent lunch at Chrysanthemum Show Tuesday. They can get an ice cream cone for an additional five cents.

Let everybody attend the Chrysanthemum Show Tuesday. There will be different forms of amusement, articles for sale, guessing contest, fish pond, etc. as refreshments.

Mr. J. J. Cook, the photographer, who has been in Greensboro on business, has returned to Asheboro and will be here over the Bottling Works for two weeks.

Mr. W. A. Underwood received a telegram today from his brother, Mr. T. Underwood, stating that he had passed the Georgia State Board of Pharmacy at Atlanta. Mr. Underwood took the course in Macon.

Frank Steed, son of Mr. C. W. Steed was a splendid yield of fall Irish potatoes. The young man planted two bushels of potatoes on Tuesday of July court; from them he has raised about thirty bushels. This shows how young man can make money tilling soil.

Mr. John B. Mitchell and Miss Par- ce McAdams, of High Point, were recently married Saturday night, October 31, at the home of Rev. L. A. Peeler. The young couple will begin housekeeping on Richardson Street. Their many friends wish them all the joys that life can bestow.

The Chrysanthemum Show on next Tuesday will be open at 11 a. m. There are a good many nice flowers in Ashe- boro and it is hoped that all will be entered. The committee asks that all flowers be sent to the vacant building next to The Courier on Monday by 5 p. m. There will be no charge for entering plants or admission.

A number of persons have commented on the fact that the new moon since about the 19th instant, is very much further south than for a number of years. It is said by some to be 50 per cent out of its usual course. The position is so noticeable as to cause surprise. Just what the cause is or what the effect may be on the weather we are unable to explain.

The four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ross, of Lillington, died this week from diphtheria. About three weeks ago he fell and broke his leg, but this had healed when a short time before his death he fell and broke the leg at the same place. On account of the weakened condition of the child it could not withstand the attack of diphtheria.

The members of the Methodist Protestant church in Randolph county are greatly interested in the approaching annual session of the annual conference to be held in Asheville November 18-21. This will be the eighteenth annual session of the conference and it is expected to be the most largely attended and successful session yet held. During the year that is drawing to a close the church has made great progress in North Carolina, on this account the reports to be submitted are expected to be of universally interesting character. The children's home, the youngest and one of the most promising institutions of the church will come in for a good share of attention. During the year the denomination has built 20 new churches in this state and made a gain of more than 1,500 in membership.

Application blanks for the Better Babies Contest, Tuesday November 10, can be secured from Mrs. Wm. C. Hammer. Phone for same and appointment will be made. Dr. J. W. Austin, Ear, Eye, Nose and Throat Specialist, of High Point, will be here Tuesday for the Better Babies Contest. Dr. Austin is making a fine reputation along his line and the people of Randolph consider themselves fortunate in getting his services.

ENTIRE TICKET ELECTED

BOTH PARTIES PUT UP A STIFF FIGHT - THE REPUBLICANS CERTAINLY SHOWED THEIR STRENGTH.

The election in Randolph shows that the Democrats have won in the county, but by a reduced majority. The vote for Clerk of the Court was a tie and will be decided by the election board. The balance of the ticket receiving majorities ranging from 50 to 125.

Congressman Page carried the county. Mr. Frank McAulay, state Senator, ran along with the ticket. The amendments were defeated.

Dr. G. A. Foster ran a little ahead and is elected to the Legislature over his Republican opponent.

With the exception of two or three precincts the election passed off very quietly.

The Canvassing Board is finishing its work as we go to press. A detailed statement of the vote will be published in next week's Courier.

MISS LENA KEARNS, TRINITY NO. 1, DEAD

Miss Lena Kearns, of Trinity Route 1, died Saturday after an illness of several months. Miss Kearns was a splendid young woman, the daughter of R. Kearns. She had been in poor health for some time, going at one time to Montrose Sanatorium for treatment. She died on Saturday and was buried at Pleasant Hill on Sunday. A large crowd of friends was present to pay the last tribute of love and respect.

POINTS OF IDEAL BRIDE.

Woman Court Officer Places Beauty at Bottom of the List. (Philadelphia Special to Washington Post.)

The winning of a beautiful woman for a wife does not by any means assure a happy and successful married life, but very often brings about a tragic result because beauty has glossed over many shortcomings of the bride, according to the opinion expressed recently by Mrs. J. D. Rippin, of the domestic relations division of the municipal court.

Mrs. Rippin was asked to comment on a lecture given by students of the University of Pennsylvania by Dr. Winfield S. Hass, professor of physiology at Northwestern University, on the "Choice of a Wife."

Dr. Hall pictured the ideal girl to marry from a physical standpoint, and declared that some of the best marriages are those made between persons of different nationalities.

Mrs. Rippin, as agent for the municipal court, meets during each month hundreds of women whose marriages have been unhappy. She gave the following list of qualifications a bride should have:

- She should have good health. She should know how to keep house. She should be religious. She should be a real woman—a woman to bear children. She should be economically independent.

She should have equal education and position in life with the man.

"While I shouldn't presume to contradict Dr. Hall," said Mrs. Rippin, "I think that in thinking of marriage between persons of different nationalities he confined himself to the highly educated tenth of our population. When persons are educated they have a common mental bond no matter what their nationality may be. It is different with the uneducated."

"It would hardly be wise," Mrs. Rippin continued, "to talk of beauty as a qualification for a bride, for, after all, beauty is only comparative, and a man's sweetheart is beautiful as can be to him. And all girls cannot be born beautiful."

"The girl, bright of eye and radiant of face, that Dr. Hall describes as the ideal bride must be healthy. If she has bad digestion, for instance, she would be neither bright of eye nor radiant of face."

"It is very much of a duty to posterity for a man or a woman to choose a mate who is healthy and normal, for this is necessary if the succeeding generations are to be healthy ones."

"And the woman that a man should choose for his wife should be a real woman. Marriage is but a mockery if one choose a doll-like person, who is abnormal enough to dislike children and who wants none."

"For the sake of the home the woman should know how to keep house and should know how to manage the home that her husband makes for her. It does not matter how rich she is. That the girl should be religious almost goes without saying, for it will help her to set an ideal for the home that will anchor it firmly, and be insurance against unhappiness. The bride should have the ability of supporting herself if need be, and should thoroughly understand some kind of work. Then she will never be the slave and dependent of her mate."

Mr. Wm. Graves of Richland township, killed a hawk that measured 49 inches from tip to tip. When killed it was eating a Democratic chicken which was indeed a very serious offense. During the early 70's an eagle was killed on this same plantation, which at that time belonged to the late Azor Cox.

THE OLD BLUE BACK SPELLER

By Frank L. Stanton.

I see here, in the paper, that the legislative crowd Have hit the "Hallelujah lick" that does the old state proud! No idle, endless argument to make the weary groan,— It's just the Blue Back Speller that once more claims its own!

Plain—with no fancy trimmings—the old, but ever new, It's mighty good to meet it in the same, loved dress of blue! Friendly, familiar pages we thumbed in boyhood when The schoolboys kissed the Mothers whose life-love made the men!

The state lawgiver turns aside from each perplexing plan— (Why, that old Blue Back Speller would wake a Congressman!) Visions of youth, and meadows green, a-glimmer with the rain; The hills that flashed the message of the Morning to the plain.

The law books are forgotten—great Learning's golden store; The Judge becomes a dreamer and goes to school once more; Walks with a President-to-be path- ways by singing brooks; With dew-splashed feet, in homely jeans—boys of the Blue Back Books!

The old field school is yonder where Memory invites;— The rude log cabins that have given a gleam to Learning's heights; They whose voices wakened a world their worth has swayed;— (How firm a foundation that Blue Speller laid!)

All in a dream to school again! * * * Brush the pink blooms apart, Wet with spring dew, they'll kiss the curls of her—your first sweetheart. As, all forgetful of the way, cheeks close as cheeks may be, You scan the picture of the boy high in the apple tree.

The Blue Back Speller, halved with her—with all the pictures plain— The Travelers and the Bear;—the Sun and Wind contend again; Familiar scenes! Still brightening through all life's devious ways, With the unforgotten sweetheart of the Blue Back Speller days!

Welcome unto a "chum" of old—of many a joyous year! To friend McGuffey, in whose books we read our titles clear! The Blue Back Speller wakes a chord that still responsive thrills, For the schoolboy of the valley is the Statesman of the Hills!

MY FIRST CHEW

I remember the first chew of tobacco I ever took, and today I wish it had been the last. I was a kid, and like many other kids, not exactly on the square. I lied about the tobacco. I went to a man named Aus Buffum and told him my uncle wanted a dime's worth of fine-cut. They used to twist it up in tissue paper in those days, buying it in big wooden pails like they now use for shipping candy. I got the tobacco, and walked all alone about a quarter of a mile to a school house and there all alone, so far as this world was concerned, I took the chew. It tasted salty—but I chewed it with a vengeance. Suddenly I was taken seasick. No sicker boy was ever on this earth—and I felt sure I should die and wanted to. I was sick for several hours; weak and deathly pale. The next day, determined to be mean, I went to Aus Buffum and told him that fine cut was not what my uncle wanted, he wanted Cherry. In those days there was a vile brand on the market known as Cherry tobacco. I bought that. Aus Buffum knew I was lying. I knew it. I chewed it, and have chewed tobacco ever since. Why did I want to chew tobacco? What demon tempted me? I didn't need it. I was not a slave to it, and old Nature rebelled and made me deathly sick—but I defied the Fates and became a victim of nicotine. I cannot in my philosophy understand why I wantonly and with premeditation, cunning and falsehood went into the dirty habit. I cannot understand what is in a boy who will do such things. When I see a kid today smoking a cigarette, perhaps his first one, I wonder why he deliberately makes such a fool of himself. I wonder why boys are not given the good sense that a dog is given—aye that a hog is given. You can't make a dog chew tobacco—and a hog will drink beer or whiskey but one time.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25-cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—the falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

FIRE AT SILER CITY

BUT FOR THE HEROIC WORK OF THE CITIZENS THE TOWN WOULD HAVE BURNED—LOSS IS CONSIDERABLE.

At two o'clock Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the small grocery store of Henry Wright, at Siler City. The alarm was given and soon a number of men were on the scene with buckets and began to fight to save the business section of the town. The building in which the fire started was a one-story frame structure and burned very rapidly. The flames quickly spread to two adjoining wooden buildings, one of which stood within ten feet of a two-story brick building in which there are three windows in the second story and next to the burning building. For a time the entire business section of the city was threatened and it was only the heroic work of the citizens that saved the large two-story brick building of Wrenn & Edwards which is located in the very heart of the business section of the town. If this building had burned there would have been no way to have saved the other business blocks. The following is an estimate of the loss:

Stocks of groceries belonging to Henry Wright, $1,100, with $800 insurance; building belonging to L. L. Wrenn, worth $250, no insurance; marble works of J. M. Ray, loss $600 no insurance; house belonging to L. L. Wrenn worth $200, no insurance; harness and repair shops of C. R. Elkins, loss $800, no insurance; building belonging to R. H. Dixon and H. S. Fox, worth $300 with $200 insurance; damage to Wrenn and Edwards building $100, covered by insurance; damage to K. of P. and I. O. O. F. hall furniture $25; damage to plate glass front in Gregson and Dorsett wholesale grocery building belonging to L. L. Wrenn, $100, fully covered by insurance; damage to glass in Chatham hotel, $25, no insurance. During the fire a ladder upon which four men were standing broke throwing them to the pavement and W. A. Brooks received an ugly gash upon the head. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that it was started by rats or from the electric wires.
