POTASH

is food for thought as well as for crops this year.

When shipments were interrupted by the war, it was estimated that there was enough Potash in hand in the United States to provide two and three per cent Potash in mixed fertilizers for this spring's trade. Some manufacturers had more than enough for these percentages.

Since then minor sources of Potash have been fully utilized, and additional shipments from the usual source are still being received. The supply is below normal, but this need not prevent farmers securing some Potash in their fertilizers, nor should it lead farmers to decide not to use fertilizers.

There is no reason to return to the out-of-date goods without Potash, although some authorities may try to "wile" you on us. We have not had enough Potash in the past. The largest annual import of Potash was only one hundred thousand tons. It has been the only one of the Potash that has been used in the United States and only one of the Potash that has been used in the United States.

Acid soils yield poor crops. Lime corrects the acidity and makes fertilizers more effective. Many of your crops need Lime directly as a plant food. Not only corn, but Corn, Cotton and Grain crops need Lime. The value of agricultural Lime depends on two things—the amount of Carbonates and the fineness of the grinding. We guarantee from 94 to 98 per cent. Carbonates, and the sample we shall be glad to send you will show the mechanical condition.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 23

SAMUEL, THE VICTORIOUS LEADER.

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 13:17. GOLDEN TEXT—Numbers 23:19. Psalm 124:1-2.

Having prepared a "guilt offering," 6:43, the Philistines started the ark back towards Shiloh. As a punishment for their sacrilege and perhaps for their boastful pride, God punished the men of Beth-Shemesh and finally the ark finds rest in the house of Abinadab, 6:18-21. 7:1, 2. For 20 years Israel was under discipline in bondage, v. 2.

1. "And Samuel spake . . . saying," vv. 3-8. It is possible that at times Samuel was a fugitive, but that he was praying, teaching and preaching "the word of Jehovah" we are assured. At last Israel was "drawn together," v. 2 R. V. margin. Undoubtedly Samuel's pure life and his faithful witnessing had as much to do with this assembling as did the oppression of the Philistines. Samuel told the people plainly that in order to be delivered from the Philistines Israel must "return unto Jehovah with all your heart." The putting away (judging) of sin and all idols is the first step of any real, genuine repentance towards God, Isa. 55:7. When Israel adopted Ashtaroth and the "strange gods" they possibly did so with no thought of forsaking Jehovah, but rather with the idea of "enriching" their worship. Such liberality, such a federation of religions is weakening the cause of faith, Matt. 6:24, 1 John 2:15, James, 4:4. Samuel might be called "narrow," but his exhortation to Israel that they return to the love and worship of Jehovah, to the obedience of his laws with whole-souled devotion, was the first, and the most essential requisite to their freedom. Israel's response (v. 4) meant not alone self-denial, but a revolt against the Philistines. This meant also the giving up of amusements and profits which might accompany such worship. The word "heart" includes the will, affections, motives and powers of soul. Not merely a surface emotion, but a deep change of heart and character. It is said to recall that this was a reformation, not a regeneration (ch. 8:8), but such is the history of an emotional reformation. One day, however, we shall see that one will last last, Rom. 11:26. Samuel is a type of Christ as a prophet and also as an intercessor, Heb. 7:25. Gathering the people at Mizpah ("a lookout") he caused the people to look to God. Such a gathering was an evidence of that unity of the people of God which must ever precede prevailing prayer, Ps. 99:6, Heb. 10:25. The meeting began by a prayer by Samuel who was nearest to God. They then poured out water upon the ground, a symbol of their utter helplessness, also of the pouring out of their hearts before God, II Sam. 14:14; Ps. 62:8. Israel also "fasted"—an expression of sorrow for sin which was so deep that they could not eat, and a sign of the humiliation of self and an earnest desire to God, Gen. 22:3, Acts 13:2, 3.

II. "And Samuel offered a burnt offering" vv. 9-12. Twenty years of bondage had a spirit of fear in the hearts of the Israelites and in their weakness they turned to Samson as intercessor for them. This time, however, a better sacrifice was offered, I Sam. 13:21, 22. Samuel, the true intercessor, was not present, but his spirit was in the offering.

III. "And Samuel returned to Ramathaim" vv. 13-14. Samuel's return to Ramathaim was a sign of his return to his home and his family. He had spent the night at Mizpah, and his presence there was a sign of his return to his home and his family.

IV. "And Samuel returned to Ramathaim" vv. 13-14. Samuel's return to Ramathaim was a sign of his return to his home and his family. He had spent the night at Mizpah, and his presence there was a sign of his return to his home and his family.

V. "And Samuel returned to Ramathaim" vv. 13-14. Samuel's return to Ramathaim was a sign of his return to his home and his family. He had spent the night at Mizpah, and his presence there was a sign of his return to his home and his family.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Throat that Causes It and the Cough will Stop itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It serves to clear the air passages and prevent the entrance of germs. It is a warning sign that something is wrong. If you have a cough, stop it at once. Do not let it become a habit. Do not let it become a disease. Do not let it become a nuisance. Do not let it become a curse. Do not let it become a sin. Do not let it become a shame. Do not let it become a disgrace. Do not let it become a curse. Do not let it become a shame. Do not let it become a disgrace.

Put 25 cents worth of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle of water. Boil for 10 minutes. Strain through a cloth. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy yet ever used, at a cost of only 5 cents. No matter how long you have had it, you can cure it with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also, because of its powerful cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 92½ ounces of Pinex, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Ubiquitous Scot.
Lord Strathcona often declared that a Scotsman, though he spent his life abroad, often remains a Scotsman, and the ubiquity of the race was a favorite conventional theme with him. To illustrate, he told of a Scotsman in Shanghai who wagered with an inebriated southerner that he would discover a brother Scot in every ship in the harbor. Going to each ship in turn and shouting, "Are you there Mac?" into the engine room, he got "Aye, aye," as answer every time.

HOW MR. DAVIS GOT RID OF A BAD COLD
"Some time ago I had a very bad cough" writes Lewis T. Davis, Blackwater, Del. "My brother McCabe Davis gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After taking this I bought half a dozen bottles of it but only used one of them as the cough left me and I have not been troubled since." For sale by all dealers.

Differed as to Needed Sleep.
Sir Philip Sydney calls sleep "the poor man's wealth," and he might have added, "it is every man's health." The "Immortal Alfred" of England divided the day into three portions of eight hours each, assigning one for refreshment and health of the body by sleep and exercise, another for business and the third for study and devotion. Bishop Taylor considered three hours' and Richard Baxter four hours' sleep sufficient for any man.

YOUR COLD IS DANGEROUS
BREAK IT UP—NOW

A cold is readily catching. A rundown system is susceptible to Germs. You owe it to yourself and to others of your household to fight the Germs at once. Dr. Dell's Pine-Tar-Honey is fine for Colds and Coughs. It loosens the Mucous, stops the Cough and soothes the Lungs. It's guaranteed. Only 25c. at your Druggist.

Dyspepsia Routed by Laughter.
You may beat your dyspepsia by taking it. I sat down at the club lunch upon an apple suffering from indigestion, and being a fellow sufferer, I proceeded to eat the apple. The indigestion was routed. Health and Wealth.
Health and wealth go hand in hand. If you are healthy, you will be wealthy. If you are wealthy, you will be healthy. Health is the foundation of wealth. Wealth is the foundation of health. Health and wealth are inseparable. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a happy life. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a successful career. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a bright future. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a glorious destiny. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble life. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a great achievement. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble deed. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble cause. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble fight. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble struggle. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble battle. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble war. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble peace. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble love. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble friendship. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble brotherhood. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble humanity. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble world. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble universe. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble God. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble Heaven. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble Hell. Health and wealth are the two pillars of a noble Hell.

DO YOU FIND FAULT WITH EVERYBODY?

An irritable, fault-finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man's food and digestion is nearly always affected. A great many have been—recently benefited by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a powerful cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.
