POTASH
 is food for thought as well as for crops this year.

When shipments were interrupted by the war, it was estimated that there was enough Potash on hand in the United States to provide two and three per cent Potash in mixed fertilizers for this spring's trade. Some manufacturers had more than enough for these percentages.

Since then minor sources of Potash have been fully utilized, and additional shipments from the usual source are still being received. The supply is below normal, but this need not prevent farmers securing some Potash in their fertilizers, nor should it lead farmers to decide not to use fertilizers.

There is no reason to return to the out-of-date goods without Potash, although some authorities may try to "wish" them on us. We have not used enough Potash in the past. The largest annual import of Potash was only one-seventieth of the Potash taken from the soil by our 1914 corn crop and only one-fiftieth of the Potash lost every year in drainage water.

Spring crops use from two to ten times as much Potash as Phosphoric Acid. Get as much Potash in the fertilizer as possible. A few firms are offering to furnish from four to ten per cent.

There is no substitute for Potash. It may be harder to get just now, but POTASH PAYS.

TARIFF WORKING WELL

The following is a recent dispatch from Washington to the daily papers: Under normal conditions the Simon-Underwood tariff law will produce all the revenues expected of it, in the opinion of Andrew W. Peters, assistant secretary of the treasury. As a member of the ways and means committee of the house, Mr. Peters aided in framing the bill.

He predicts that during the fiscal year ending June 30 there will be collected in customs approximately $220,000,000 and $80,000,000 in income and corporation tax.

Notwithstanding the disturbed conditions due to the war," he said, "the total revenue under the Underwood law will be about $300,000,000.

"The estimate of the treasury department indicates an expected falling off in revenues for the current fiscal year from customs of $100,000,000 on account of the war an estimate which the receipts so indicate to be not far from correct.

"The falling off is undoubtedly due to the effect of the war on commerce generally and particularly of imports from these countries which are manufactured articles subject to the higher rates of duty and the value of the imports from France, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Belgium has decreased approximately $70,000,000 as compared with the previous year.

"Up to the beginning of the war, the records show, the Underwood bill produced all or more of the revenue expected of it at the time of its creation. It was estimated that under the new tariff the receipts from customs for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, would be $270,000,000 and the income tax receipts $95,000,000.

"The actual collections for that period were, from customs $292,128,527 and from incomes $71,381,275, a total of $363,509,802. The receipts from customs, in other words, were more than $22,000,000 in excess of the estimate, while the receipts from the income tax were $24,000,000 less.

"That the receipts from the income tax were below the normal is due to the fact that many incomes are derived from interest and dividends payable on July 1 and January 1, and on such incomes the tax accrued for only four months of the year, from March 1 to July 1. The amounts of such interest and dividends payable on January 1, 1914, were not included in the returns for the fiscal year but will be included in the returns for the present fiscal year."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 4

SAUL REJECTED BY THE LORD.

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 15:1-23
 GOLDEN TEXT—Delight to obey is better than sacrifice.—1 Samuel 15:22

Jonathan's victory (ch. 14) brought with it a sinning on the part of the hungry, harassed Israelites in that they ate of the spoils "with the blood" (14:31, 32; Lev. 17:17, 18). In the emergency Saul erected "the first altar that he built unto the Lord" (ch. 14:35), a rather dilatory act on the part of a God-anointed king. Saul had resorted to the subterfuge of commanding the people "to roll a great stone," i. e., cut the throats of the animals of which they had eaten that they might bleed, and thus be an evidence that the animals had died before being eaten. This the people did, fearing Saul, but having no scruples in transgressing God's commands. These same people rescued Jonathan from the foolish vow of Saul, for it was his faith and valor that had chiefly brought about the victory.

I. God's Sorrow, vv. 10-12. Samuel had first revealed God's purpose in making Saul king, and likewise first declared God's purpose to dispose of Saul (v. 10). Saul's actions (v. 1-9) had stamped him as being no longer worthy of God's confidence. The word "repenteth," meaning "to sigh" (v. 11), denotes a change of feeling due to Saul's actions and not to any change in the character, purpose or desires of God. God was sorry that Saul had proved himself unworthy. A half-way obedience of God's command only heightened his guilt. "Whatever moral difficulties seem to lie, for a later age, in Saul's commission against Amalek, there were none such for him" (Vaughn). Man's repentance involves a change of mind and purpose. In Saul's case God repented, changed the instrument of his execution, because of the change of circumstances and relation. God is ever the same; it is man alone who changes. Saul had given Samuel cause for anger (v. 11 R. V.), but he did the wise thing in taking it to God in prayer. Arising early the next morning Samuel hastened to acquaint Saul with Jehovah's message. It is remarkable of how many of the great men of the Bible it is said that they rose early. Abraham, Gideon, Joshua, Job, Jacob, Moses, etc., not to forget our Lord Jesus.

II. Samuel's Rebuke, vv. 13-19. It must have been a striking scene when the aged Nazirite prophet faced the proud but recreant king. A guilty conscience is often covered by a great show of piety (v. 13), but such acts cannot still the conviction of the heart nor deceive the righteous judge. Sin proclaims itself even as Samuel's sharp question brought conviction from the lips of Saul (v. 14; Prov. 23:13). Saul thought to deceive Samuel by using a falsehood (v. 15). The only safe course is to confess our sins (Ps. 32:15; 1 John 1:9). There is an interesting suggestion in the way Saul uses the impersonal "they" and "we" in verse 15, as if to lay the guilt of his acts upon others. It is easy for the sinner to blame others and seek to minimize his own guilt (Rom. 14:12). Verse 9 clearly indicates why Saul and the people had spared the best of the cattle. To use a part only for God and the rest for self in direct disobedience to God's rights or the rights of others is to incur his righteous wrath (v. 22, 23).

III. Saul's Self-Rejection, vv. 20-23. God set Saul aside because he had rejected the right and chose the wrong. Faced to face with his sin Saul could not dodge the issue. Samuel's "wherefore" (v. 19) must have aroused Saul's guilty conscience. It is a question which should reach every tempted soul. Samuel characterized Saul's sin as being due to stubbornness, rebellion, disobedience and a rejection of God (v. 19). Again Saul seeks to evade his responsibility (v. 20, 21). Then Samuel speaks plainly (v. 22) comparing his sin of disobedience with witchcraft, stubbornness, iniquity and idolatry. Plainly he tells Saul, "Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king" (v. 23).

Driven thus to a corner Saul made a confession of his guilt (v. 24) but spoiled it all by acknowledging that he had greater fear of the people than of God.

This is Easter Sunday, our reproach has been removed, not at Gilegal but on Calvary. The unchanging God hates sin, which is unchangeable, has condemned it on the Cross that the guilty sinner may live.

The persistence of sin, the unchangeableness of God and his unyielding hatred of sin are met by the culmination of Easter for "By the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Rom. 5:19).

The whole root of Saul's trouble was his attitude towards the word of God. Every man's destiny hinges upon what he does with the Living Incarnate Word.

The resurrection of Jesus is the seal of his authority, the evidence of his power; and our eternal salvation depends upon what we do with him, John 3:16; 18:36.

TALKING BETTER TIMES

A recent dispatch to the Charlotte Observer from Washington, D. C., says:

"It may be a dream, but everybody is talking better times, and that sort of thing helps. The money which is now tucked away in old socks and other resorts used in time of fear may reappear and put the wheels of industry humming, if the prosperity statements keep coming. The people of the United States are just beginning to see the real size of the blow that struck the country when the European war broke out last summer.

"The most significant thing said in Washington recently came from John H. Fahy, of Boston, at a meeting of the members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which has grown into a big and powerful organization. When asked for an expression of opinion, Mr. Fahy declared that conditions are improving.

"The resumption of business activity and improvement of conditions which began as soon as we could readjust ourselves after the outbreak of the war is continuing steadily according to all of the evidence that comes to my attention and the movement should quicken a little faster now," Mr. Fahy went on. "The opinion of the average man about business conditions is generally governed by his personal point of view, his temperamental characteristics and the condition of his own business. However, the consensus of all expressions which come to me is that in almost every direction things are now mending rapidly. As a result of the war, it is inevitable that there will be marked slowness in some lines, but more men are being put to work every week and the industrial output is increasing."

"President Wilson and those associated with him in the Washington Administration believe that the worst of the depression that came with the European war is over, and the tendency from this time onward will be upward instead of downward.

"Everybody is hopeful. Almost every unbiased person is talking better times."

HOHENLINDEN

On Linden, when the sun was low,
 All bloodless lay the untrodden snow,
 And dark as winter was the flow
 Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

But Linden saw another sight,
 When the drum beat at dead of night,
 Commanding fires of death to light
 The darkness of her scenery.

But torch and trumpet fast arrayed,
 Each horseman drew his battle blade,
 And, furious, every charger neighed,
 To join the dreadful revelry.

Then shook the hills with thunder riven,
 Then rushed the steeds to battle driven,
 And louder than the bolts of heaven:
 Far flashed the red artillery.

But redder yet that light shall glow
 On Linden's hills of stained snow,
 And blonder yet the torrent flow
 Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

'Tis morn; but scarce yon level sun
 Where furious Frank and fiery Hun
 Shout in their sulphurous canopy.

The combat deepens. On, ye brave,
 Who rush to glory, or to grave!
 Wave, Munich, all thy banners wave,
 And charge with all thy chivalry!

Few, few shall part where many meet
 The snow shall be their winding sheet,
 And every turf beneath their feet
 Shall be a soldier's sepulchre.

—Thomas Campbell.

A Wonderful Healing Influence in Kidney Troubles

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of kidney trouble, that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia water and tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least half a dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root.

Yours very truly,
H. W. SPINKS, Camp Hill, Ala.

Personally appeared before me this 16th day of August, 1909, H. W. Spinks, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.
