RAMSEUR NEWS

Ramseur, June 7.—The farming people of the Ramseur community are hustling some this week fighting the grass and beginning the harvest of wheat and oats. The writer was out in the Shady Grove community Sunday and noticed the prospects for an abundant wheat crop good. Corn also looks good. This is a splendid farming section and on account of not being thickly populated furnishes a fine opportunity for development. The people are hospitable and live workers both in secular affairs and Sunday school and church work.

We have some good farmers living in Ramseur, too. Our friends, A. H. Thomas, L. F. Craven, E. C. Watkins, J. A. Brady & Sons, J. E. Covington, J. W. Allred, C. T. Hutson, J. E. Braay and several others are doing some fine demonstrating, especially in corn and hay growing. We wish them all an abundant harvest.

The manufacturing plants of Ramseur are running on full time except a day or two now and then off at the Novelty Wood Works, which gives the boys time to go fishing and work the gardens. The business of the town, taking everything into consideration, is good. So far, we have hardly felt the "hard times" that we some times hear about. Don't anyone prepare a funeral for Ramseur for she is not dead. She is a wide-awake, live town. The biggest trouble with us we work too hard (sometimes.) In fact, we do have very few loafers and we hope there will be fewer still.

Mr. Henry Free and family, of Cedar Falls, visited Mr. M. C. Free Sunday evening.

A number of our folks went to Pleasant Grove Memorial service last Sunday.

THE CULLOM SCHOOL OF MUSIC, ASHEBORO, N. C.

PROF. CULLOM WILL HAVE CLASSES AT DIFFERENT CHURCHES IN THE COUNTY

Prof. A. N. Cullom, founder and principal of the Cullom School of Music, has located with his family in Asheboro, for the purpose of building up gospel singing in the different churches and homes throughout Randolph and surrounding counties. Their work is un denominational and should be encouraged by people who are interested in building up humanity. Prof. Cullom is ably assisted by his son, E. McIntosh Cullom, who holds a certificate of proficiency from Shenandoah Collegiate Institute, as teacher, director and piano tuner, also daughters, Misses Florence May, Selma Lee, and Ruby Cullom, of Meredith College.

Object of the School
The object of the school is to make everyone who attends a better singer, player, or theorist. This school will furnish the best opportunity for thorough instruction in the rudiments of Music, Harmony, Musical Composition, Voice, Solo Singing, Conducting Sacred and Secular Music, Sight Reading, Piano, Organ, etc.

Read what the ministers and leading educators of North Carolina say about the Cullom School of Music:

Prof. Z. V. Zudd, County Superintendent of Public Instruction for Wake County, in writing of them says: "During their residence in Raleigh, Prof. Cullom and the accomplished members of his family who compose the Cullom School of Music, have conducted schools in many churches of all denominations, and have done much towards raising the standard of music in these churches in this county, as well as in other counties in this state."

Prof. S. E. Mercer, president of the Carolina College, at Maxton, N. C. says: "I have been delighted with the work of the Cullom School of Music." "I find pleasure in commending Prof. A. N. Cullom and his musical family as expert teachers, as well as as consecrated Christian workers."

ARCHIBALD JOHNSON, "Editor Chantry & Children, Thomasville, N. C."

J. Henry Hiramsmith, Professor of Education in Wake Forest College, says of the Cullom School of Music: "I know of no agency more potent in arousing interest and enthusiasm for good music, especially good singing, in our churches and schools than this school under the direction of Mr. A. N. Cullom."

Rev. W. C. Brown, of Raeford, N. C., a leading Presbyterian minister, says under date of April 15th, 1912: "I had the privilege of attending two recitals given by the faculty of the Cullom School of Music last summer and heard Prof. A. N. Cullom lecture on church music. I was glad to learn the noble purpose of this school is to teach people to love and sing sacred music in such a way as to improve the congregational singing in the churches. Whoever does this is a public benefactor, and I wish Prof. Cullom and his faithful assistants great success in their earnest efforts to this end."

"Prof. A. N. Cullom is a teacher of vocal music and is very successful in his methods of teaching. He has many schools in this section, and it is a pleasure to recommend his services to the public in his important occupation."
ELDER P. D. GOLD, "Wilson, N. C."

"The Southern Baptist Assembly, Office of President, April 3, 1911. Blue Mount, N. C."

"I have known Prof. A. N. Cullom, of Raleigh, N. C., for a number of years. He is a Christian gentleman, who can be depended upon. I have been to a number of places where he has taught music and have everywhere heard only words of praise for the work of himself and members of his family."
"B. W. SPILLMAN," Meredith College, Raleigh N. C., "Office of the President, April 3, 1911 "I have not had the opportunity of knowing at first hand the quality of Mr. A. N. Cullom's work as a teacher of vocal music. But I do know that he has been engaged in this work for a number of years and that he seems to have made excellent success, since his services seem to be in constant demand. Mr. Cullom impresses me as a refined, courteous, amiable, and upright Christian gentleman, and as such I should be glad to commend him to any and all among whom he may labor.

"R. T. VANN, Pres." Salisbury, N. C., Jan. 1, 1914. I take pleasure in commending Prof. A. N. Cullom and his musical family as splendid people, and good musical instructors.

"An entertainment given by these people in the First Reformed Church, Albemarle, N. C., was a joy and great inspiration to the congregation. These people are thoroughly consecrated Christians, and will add spiritual strength to any church or community."

REV. MILTON MONROE NOACKER "Canton, N. C., Jan. 1, 1914. "I have heard nothing but words of praise concerning the work of Prof. A. N. Cullom and his musical family."

J. P. RODGERS, Pastor "Southern Methodist Church, Canton, N. C."

"Albemarle, N. C., Jan. 1, 1914. "Prof. A. N. Cullom and family have been living in this town for about one year, and they have the reputation of being expert musicians and splendid instructors in music."

"R. E. AUSTIN, Atty." BIG LICK BAPTIST CHURCH "C. J. Black, Pastor. "Big Lick, N. C., Jan. 3, 1914.

"To whom it may concern: "It gives me pleasure to recommend to the public the Cullom School of Music. I have had several schools taught by them and find that they are well prepared to do their work. They give choir a new idea of music, and help the church work in general. No school of music offers better advantages than this one. It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend them to the singing public."

"Fraternally," "C. J. BLACK, "Moderator of Stanley Association." "Albemarle, N. C., Jan. 8, 1914.

"To whom it may concern: "It is to say that I know Prof. A. N. Cullom and family of talented musicians, they having lived in this city for one year, having conducted singings and sold musical instruments all over the county, they have made homes bright, their motto seems to be 'scatter sunshine.'"

"May long live the Prof. and his noble family."

"I. R. BURLERSON, Atty." "Albemarle, N. C., March 17, 1914.

"To whom it may concern: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the Christian character of Mr. A. N. Cullom, though it has not been my privilege to become personally acquainted with The Cullom School of Music of which he is the principal. His purposes are laudable and his work is favorably spoken of in our community."

"Cordially," "G. WILBUR SHIPLEY, "Pastor Presbyterian Church, Albemarle, N. C."

The Cullom School of Music was strongly endorsed and patronized at Troy, N. C., by Rev. J. T. Draper, Rev. J. M. Page, O. B. Denton, Register of Deeds and editor of "The Montgomerian"; R. T. Poole, Atty.; A. W. E. Caple, J. T. Tomlinson, Banker; Chas. A. Armstrong, Atty.; I. C. Nance, Prof. S. G. Lindsay, principal Troy High School, and others.

They made many friends, and did a great deal towards building up the music in Troy and surrounding territory.

For anything in music, address, THE CULLOM SCHOOL OF MUSIC A. N. & E. M. Cullom, Directors, Asheboro, N. C.

bring some one with them. Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Barker and Miss Elsie, of Greensboro, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Barker.
