FRANKLINVILLE TOWNSHIP SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Franklinville township Sunday school convention was held at Bethany church last Sunday and was attended by a large crowd. The president, J. C. Alfred, being absent on account of sickness, the convention was presided over by vice president E. O. York. On the morning program was an address by Prof. E. E. Farlow, of High Point, his subject being, "Bible Study, its Purpose and Influence." Prof. Farlow emphasized the importance of Bible study and teaching in the training of the mind and building of character and pointed out the fact that "As a man thinketh, so he is," in an instructive way. This was followed by Rev. J. B. O'Brian on "The Importance of Early Training," in his earnest way. He made the parents feel their responsibility for the early impression in the home and their lives before their children.

After a pleasant dinner hour on the grounds, the report of schools was read by the secretary. Then a very interesting address by M. S. Sherwood in his pleasant way on the "Influence of Those not in Sunday School." Everybody enjoyed Mr. Sherwood's talk. He has been a life-long Sunday school attendant, and is very interested in the work. Also Dr. W. I. Sumner on "The Teacher's Responsibility." He is an enthusiastic teacher with his heart in the work and his talk was inspiring and to the point. He urged the teachers to get in touch with the home life of each member of the class and thus be able to give the spiritual application in a helpful way.

The following officers were re-elected for the coming year:

Rev. J. C. Alfred, president; vice-president, E. O. York, both from Randleman Route 2; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mayme Ellis, of Millboro; also, superintendents for various departments. The splendid quartette rendered by the young men from Worthville was especially enjoyed.
