WEEKLY WEATHER FORECAST

Issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., for the week beginning Wednesday, July 21, 1915.

For South Atlantic and East Gulf States: The week will be one of normal temperature and generally fair weather except that local thunder showers are probable along the coasts and in Florida.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. S. A. Cox, of Pisgah, was in the city Monday.

Miss Clara Moffitt returned last Friday from a visit to relatives at Siler City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robah Betts, of High Point, were in Asheboro last Sunday visiting relatives.

Misses Blanche and Bertha Cox left Tuesday for High Point, where they will visit friends for a week.

Miss Minnie Hoover is at Sanford this week acting as court stenographer for this week's term of Lee county court.

Miss Julia Thorns returned last Friday from San Francisco, where she has been attending the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, of Jackson Springs, have been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ross for a few days this week.

Miss Blanche Anderson, of Greensboro, is in Asheboro this week, the guest of Miss Annie Moring and others.

The Tabernacle township Sunday School convention will be held at Mt. Pleasant next Saturday. Miss Martha Dozier, of Greensboro, will be one of the speakers.

Mrs. Harris Stewart, of Bluefield, West Virginia, who has been visiting relatives at Seagrove, was in Asheboro the latter part of last week, the guest of friends.

Miss Daisy Osborne, of Worthville, who at one time taught in the graded schools at Asheboro and is well known in our town, has been elected principal of the Mechanicsville school at High Point.

Mrs. Wilson Zarnes and daughter, Miss Emma, passed through Asheboro Monday of this week on their way to High Point to visit friends and relatives for a week.

At the State Normal summer school, Greensboro, which closes Tuesday of next week, Randolph county made a good showing. She ranked third in enrollment, having 22 representatives. Guilford and Rockingham were the two ahead.

Mr. I. W. Kearns, of Asheboro R. 2, was in Asheboro on business yesterday.

Miss Lynette Swain, daughter of Rev. W. E. Swain now of Mebane, N. C., but who lived at Asheboro for several years, will teach in the graded school at Weldon, N. C. Miss Swain graduated with high honors at the State College for women in June, and her many friends in Asheboro hoped that she would come to Asheboro to teach in Asheboro's graded school.

Mrs. Sarah A. Stout, widow of Jacob Preston Stout whose death occurred on Friday night July 9, 1915, at his home near Ramseur, desires to return thanks through The Courier to neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses shown during the last illness and death of Mr. Stout, and especially to Mr. T. R. Gurgess and family at whose home Mr. Stout died.

Messrs. Thomas H. Redding and D. B. McCrary went to New York last Saturday night and are expected home this week. It is understood that their trip to New York relates to a large transaction for the Acme Hosiery Mill, which is turning out 1,000 dozen of hosiery daily; and the capacity of the mill is to be doubled when the new mill now being erected is completed.

A party of Asheboro's young people, consisting of Misses Lena May Johnson, Cora Redding, Gertrude Ferree, Annie and Myrtle Asbury, Mary Spencer and Bera Scarborough, and Messrs. Gus Hayworth, Loe Barker, Curtis Wrike, Jesse Scarborough, Clarence Rush, Frank Byrd and Dr. D. K. Lockhart, went up to Trinity Thursday evening of last week and took supper with Miss Polly Heitman, then went on to the theater at High Point.

Mr. J. L. Wright, of Coleridge, was a business visitor in Asheboro last Monday.

Mrs. W. S. Durham and children, of Siler City, arrived in Asheboro Monday and will visit at the home of Sheriff J. W. Birkhead for a few days.

Messrs. E. B. Leach, C. M. Tysor, W. A. Craven and son, of Erect, passed through Asheboro Monday of this week on a business trip to Greensboro.

Miss Nova Styres, who was taken to the hospital at High Point a few days ago, was operated on for appendicitis Monday. She is expected home in a few days.

Mr. R. C. Kelly went up to Greensboro Tuesday with Mr. Colbert Bonkemeyer and purchased a new Overland 1914 Model. Mr. Bonkemeyer sells the Cadillac and the Overland.

Mr. W. O. Cox came up to Asheboro last Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Sarah A. Stout, who came to qualify as executor of the last will and testament of her husband the late Preston Stout, who left all his property to his widow.

On last Friday Deputy Sheriff A. E. Lassiter, of Randleman, came to Asheboro and brought a still which he captured on Pole Cat Creek, two or three miles east of Level Cross. The operators had escaped when Mr. Lassiter got to the still but certain persons are suspected.

On Saturday of last week a spark from a Norfolk-Southern engine set on fire the field between Mr. F. G. Grimes' home and the railroad, in South Asheboro, and threatened to do a great deal of damage to the surrounding property. However, it was gotten under control before much damage was done.

Mr. J. M. Caveness went to Coleridge Monday to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the Enterprise Manufacturing Co., and also a meeting of the stockholders of the Coleridge Telephone Co. He says that both companies have been doing a good business for the last six months and that the usual dividend has been paid.

Sheriff G. W. Stewart, of Montgomery county, came to Asheboro Monday and brought seven prisoners, four white men and three colored, all of whom except one had been convicted of stealing, and turned them over to Sheriff Birkhead to work on the roads of Randolph. Randolph is to pay the costs in the cases and have the prisoners serve out their terms here.

Deputy Sheriff Steed went to Danville last Friday and brought back the negro, Fred Hengkin, who broke into the store of R. W. Pugh, at Millboro, on July 7, and lodged him in jail at Asheboro. The police force of Danville picked him up on suspicion because of the stolen property on his person. All the goods stolen from Mr. Pugh except a few small articles were returned to him.

Mrs. Mollie Cranford, formerly of Ophir township, Montgomery county, died at the home of her son, Prof. Wade Cranford at McColl, S. C. The funeral services were at Troy, July 6, in the M. E. church South, conducted by Dr. L. Nash. The deceased was also the mother of Dr. Cranford, who has for years been a member of the faculty of Trinity College. She was an aunt of the late Wiley Rush, of Asheboro, being a sister to his mother.

Mr. J. M. Caveness, who was in Coleridge last Monday, tells us that the worst rain and wind storm which that section of the county has had this year, struck Coleridge that afternoon. The wind and rain came together, a combination which made the storm especially hard, and trees were uprooted and corn blown down considerably. The cloud came up from the south. All the telephone wires to the nearby towns were put out of commission. The effects of the storm showed for six or seven miles this side of the town, corn being blown down and much damage done to timber.

Asheboro was put in spick and span shape a few weeks ago in preparation for Chautauqua, and now comes the real test as to whether we are to have a clean town. Are we going to let our yards and the streets be filled with rubbish or are we going to keep them in good condition? Especially should we be careful about our back yards, for they are often neglected because we say they will not be seen. But they are seen. If they are not seen from the street, they are seen by the neighbors on either side. Your back yard is your neighbor's back yard. The flies and mosquitoes which which are bred there go over to your neighbor as much as they go into your own home. It is your duty to your neighbors as well as to yourself to keep the back yard clean and healthy. Let's keep both front and back yards and the streets clean and make for Asheboro a reputation as a clean town.

Rev. J. E. Thompson left Monday morning for High Point, where he will visit for a few days this week.

Mr. H. T. Bray, of near Ramseur, was in Asheboro on business last Monday.

Mr. Barna Allen, agent for the Ford Car Co., in Montgomery county has been doing a good business for the past year. He says he sold 39 cars during that time. The Asheboro Motor Car Company have sold about 50 in that same time.

Mrs. G. S. Bradshaw passed through Asheboro last Saturday morning in her seven passenger Hudson six. Misses Margaret Bradshaw and Gray Bradshaw and Lillian Brant were with Mrs. Bradshaw. They were on their way to Fayetteville. The party passed through Sunday night accompanied by Mrs. Louise Bradshaw Rowland and Miss Mary Bradshaw.

Miss Elbie Miller is spending the summer attending the summer school of the University of Tennessee at Nashville. Miss Miller is a teacher in the Asheboro graded school. She has been a teacher in the second grade. Next year Miss Miller will do special work in all the grades in giving special instruction to those who do not keep up with their classes.

Mr. Oscar J. Coffin, news editor of The Charlotte Observer and wearer of the self-bestowed degree, P. P. W., left yesterday morning for a trip to the mountains. He will spend two weeks with relatives in the vicinity of Waynesville. There he will join Mrs. Coffin and small son, who are spending the summer in Haywood county.—Charlotte Observer.

Dr. E. Frank Kelly, of Baltimore, has been visiting at the home of his uncle, Dr. David Kelly, in Moore county, recently. Dr. Kelly went from Moore county to Baltimore years ago and has made good there. He is connected with a large drug manufacturing concern in that city and is president of the North Carolina Society in that city. He is a son of Prof. John E. Kelly, who died in Baltimore last December.

Mr. J. M. Floyd, who lives near Trinity, was in Asheboro Monday and told The Courier about a trip he made to Morganton Saturday of last week. He says the State Hospital there is one of the most beautiful places he ever saw and that the patients are being given the very best kind of treatment and excellent care. He says the institution is in the best condition and doing a great work for the 1,200 inmates which it now has.

Rev. Lucy Little and wife, of Little's Mills, Richmond county, are on their way back to China, where they have been doing successful missionary work for years. They have been in the state for several months, and visited at Col. A. C. McAllister's during the winter. Mrs. McAllister went down to Richmond county and spent a day at Little's Mills before Mr. and Mrs. Little left on their long journey returning to China.

The prolonged drought which came near ruining early corn and garden truck in Asheboro and over Randolph in general has been broken this week. Some of the earlier crops are almost ruined, yet the rain came in time to save some of them and to save the later corn and peas. The thermometer had been standing in the 90's for days until the rains began to come and cool the air. The best rain of the week came Tuesday afternoon between five and seven o'clock. From Ramseur to Seagrove come reports of an hour or more of hard rain and wind. Corn was blown over but not much damage done. There had been a very good rain at Seagrove and other places in the southern part of the county last week. At Trinity there was a hard rain, but no wind.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thurber passed through Asheboro Monday of this week returning from High Pine church in Union township, to their home in High Point. They had been attending quarterly conference at High Pine. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber formerly lived at Central Falls. Mrs. Thurber's maiden name was Allred. Her first husband was Wilson Vuncannon, who lived many years at Asheboro, but moved to Central Falls where he died more than 20 years ago. There were three children of the first marriage, one of whom, Cornie Vuncannon, lives at Firth Cliff near Cornwall, 54 miles north of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber returned last Friday from a visit to Firth Cliff where they visited Mr. Vuncannon, who holds a responsible position in a carpet factory where he has been several years. Mr. Vuncannon since going North married Miss Venie Davidson, a Scotch lady, and they have three children and are living happily and prospering in their Northern home. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber on their trip were in New York a day or two and in Washington long enough to visit the interesting public buildings and the National Cemetery at Arlington.

Mrs. Z. T. Byrd is visiting friends and relatives at Erect this week.

Mr. Cleveland Bean of Spencer, was in town last Saturday.

Mr. J. S. Presnell and children, of Farmer, spent last Saturday in Asheboro.

Mr. J. P. Boroughs, of Kemp's Mills, came up to Asheboro Monday morning to transact some business.

Messdames D. B. McCrary and T. H. Redding are the guests of relatives and friends at Randleman this week.

Mr. Clyde Caviness, son of Mr. H. T. Caviness, has returned to Centralia, Wash., after a visit to his parents in Asheboro.

Miss Annie Brewer, of McColl, S. C., is expected to arrive in Asheboro Friday of this week for a visit to Miss Fannie Hannah.

Mr. J. C. Hannah and daughter, Miss Fannie, returned home last Friday from a visit to relatives in New Hope township.

Mr. J. R. Marley, who at one time lived in Asheboro, but now of Thomasville, was in Asheboro last Monday on business.

Messrs. Grady Miller and Ernest Wiles went to Ramseur last Friday night and took part in the entertainment which was given in the school building by local talent.

MRS. KELLY ENTERTAINS

On Tuesday evening Mrs. R. C. Kelly gave a delightful party in honor of her sister, Miss Margaret Mordcau, of Durham. The occasion was a thimble party. The porch was lovely with decorations of nasturtiums and other flowers. The guests were delighted with music from the victrola. A salad course with iced tea was served.

ALPHA DELTA CLUB MEETS

The Alpha Delta Club met last Friday evening with Mrs. E. L. Hedrick at her home on Sunset Avenue. There were two new members to admit. Misses Mabel Fox and Lucile Scarborough. A four course luncheon was served, the table being decorated in the club colors, green and gold, the place cards and favors being hand-painted in the same colors.

RANDOLPH SUPERIOR COURT LAST MONDAY

The July term of Randolph Superior Court lasts only one day this year. Judge Henry P. Lane came Monday morning and remained throughout the day, signing orders and judgments. The Alenith Cox case was taken up. As will be remembered, the Clerk first appointed Mr. Walter Presnell and Mrs. John McDowell, as administrators; that later this order was revoked and Messrs. C. J. Cox and John McDowell made administrators and later the ones first appointed were confirmed. Then a few days afterward a will was presented, but its validity was contested. Judge Lane found that John H. McDowell and C. J. Cox are entitled to administer as the appointees of Jane Miller, the nearest of kin to the deceased. Clerk Caveness was directed to appoint a collector during the pending of the contest over the will set up by Rufus Garner.

SWIMMING PARTY

Henley's Pond afforded great pleasure to about a dozen of Asheboro's young ladies on last Friday afternoon. A number of cars were required to carry the guests, which were driven by some of the girls of the party. The afternoon was one to be remembered by all who were present. The weather being so warm made the water feel delightful. Several snap-shots were taken while there.

After having spent about an hour in the water, the girls hastily dressed and enjoyed a delicious lunch that was spread on the banks of the pond.

Among those enjoying the afternoon's pleasures were Misses Edna Laughlin, Ina and Bessie Auman, Clara Pugh, Lela Hayworth, Mabel Parrish, Lula Pritchard, Jessie Ward, Virtie Caviness, and Ellen Jones, of Hillsboro.

AN OLD HOME-MADE GUN

Among the effects of the late Jacob Preston Stout, of near Ramseur, who died July 9, is a rifle made by his father, James Stout, who had a gunshop two miles below Ramseur on the east side of Deep River. The gun is a rifle and the iron for making the rifle barrel was "made" by Lee Andrew York at the iron works on Bush Creek between Franklinville and Middleton Academy. The iron was from the iron mine six miles east of Asheboro. The gun was made after the Civil war and was one of the last guns made by James Stout.

It is cap lock gun and is in good condition now.

Mr. W. O. Cox says that several years ago he killed a sparrow hawk with this gun.
