IN MEMORY

Jacob Preston Stout died near Ramseur Friday night July 9, 1915, after an illness of one month or more, aged 74 years, 6 months and 23 days. About one month before he died Mr. Stout had a stroke of paralysis and there were two or three light strokes after that. He steadily grew worse until his death. His father was James Stout, known as the gun-maker.

The deceased formerly lived on his farm two miles below Ramseur. Nearly two months ago he broke up housefarm this keeping, renting out his spring and moved to his brother-inlaw's Mr. T. R. Burgess. His first. wife was Nancy J. Cox, a daughter of the late Reuben Cox and a sister of Mr. Bethnell Cox. Of this marriage one child was born, that died in in-

His second wife was Sarah A. Cox, a daughter of the late Calvin Cox, of near Buffalo Ford. She survives him. The deceased was a member of Parks' Cross Road Christian church, and not only stood well in the com-munity but was a man of the highest character and integrity, with a kind gentle disposition. The deceased was known far and wide as the champion player of the fiddle, or violin, as they call it now a days. He had few equals and no superiors.
