SECRETARY GARRISON'S RECORD

What He Has Done in the War Department

(Major J. C. Hemphill, in the North American Review.)

Mr. Garrison's administration of the War Department has been distinguished by justice, hard work, common sense and courage. For the first time in the history of the department, the Secretary of War has no favorites.

One who is unfamiliar with military administration cannot appreciate the baneful effect of political and personal favoritism operating on the army—nepotism in the shape of unjustified promotion of the relatives of men powerful in Congress, the squandering of money for army posts in the most ill-adapted places, the pulling and hauling of politicians to secure details, favors, appointments and promotions for their proteges. All these things have been eliminated by Mr. Garrison and by very simple means. Every time a representation was made by anyone seeking preferment for any officer of the army the matter was called to the attention of the office concerned to avow or disavow any knowledge of or connection with the representations made in his behalf. If the officer were of any complicity, ipse facto he became ineligible for the preferment or promotion sought. The public or private individuals who made the representations were politely informed that military preferment must be for military reasons and that the injection of personal, social or political influence from the outside was not desired and would only result in injury to the person in whose behalf the pressure was applied. Within the army itself steps were taken to break up any possible influence or clique or faction.

On the constructive side Mr. Garrison framed the act for the government of the Panama Canal. He was the creative mind behind the water-power legislation now before Congress. He supported the new organic act for Porto Rico and took an influential part in the discussion for Philippine legislation. He presented to the last Congress conservative and constructive measures for the increase and improvement of the military establishment, urging them on the ground that they were the steps which should be taken in any circumstances, as they would fit with any wise and adequate military policy that might

MR. CROWSON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Crowson was the scene of a happy gathering, July 22, this being the 60th anniversary of Mr. Crowson's birth.

Early in the morning neighbors began coming in to express their good wishes and all the morning the vehicles came, until by noon at least one hundred and fifty people gathered around a table which had been hastily made. The table was forty or fifty feet long and heavily laden with the best of edibles which proved the skill of the housewives represented. Mr. Will Ledwell acted as toast master and interesting speeches were made by Rev. J. H. Stowe, Mr. T. W. Andrews and others.

After dinner crowds grouped around on the lawn and porches and by the shady spring and engaged in pleasant conversation. Apples, watermelons, lemonade, added much to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

All the children, grandchildren, and brothers and sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Crowson were present.

be formulated and adopted at a later time after careful and prolonged study.

SINKING OF HEALING SPRINGS MOUNTAIN

About one acre near the foot of the east side of Healing Springs Mountain, in sight of Brinkle's Ferry on the Yadkin River, near High Rock station in Davidson county has sunk down recently. The land has fallen down from five to fifteen feet for a distance of 50 yards along the side of the mountain. The broken edges of the earth where the land has fallen can easily be seen from the railroad at High Rock. Below the place where the land has broken away there are cracks here and there in the soil, eight inches wide and less, extending for several feet, and the smaller cracks branching out from these larger cracks in the earth. In places over the land affected the land has risen up, some of which appears to be ten feet high.

Large stones have rolled down the mountain side. The vegetation is dead on the edges of the cracks, but does not seem to be hurt elsewhere.

Some of the cracks in the earth are eight feet or more in depth. 150 yards below where the land broke loose and sunk from 5 to 15 feet heretofore was a spring wherein the water was cold and refreshing but is now as warm as branch water on the hottest summer day.

Healing Springs Mountain is two miles long and extends within 200 yards or less of the Yadkin River.

Some three weeks ago more than one family heard a rumbling noise one night which could not be accounted for.

Mr. G. F. Morefield, of Lexington, who visited the place yesterday, furnished The Courier with the facts we give. Mr. Morefield says that there have evidently been two eruptions, for in some of the cracks grass has begun to grow, while others seem to be fresh and seem to have been made recently, only one rain having fallen since they were made.

Mr. Morefield's theory of the sinking of the earth is that there is underneath a large subterranean cave or cavern, for it has long been said that during the Civil war deserters hid in a cave on this mountain.

NOTICE TO MAGISTRATES

The volume containing the Public Laws of North Carolina, 1915 session of the Legislature, are ready for distribution and may be obtained from the office of the Clerk of the Court.

LAND BY CONDEMNATION

District Attorney Wm. C. Hammer has instituted suit for eleven tracts of timber land in Macon county, comprising 2,987 acres and valued at $73,456.65 which will be acquired by the government under condemnation proceedings. More than 400 persons own the land and a summons will be served on each man by a deputy from the office of United States marshal. The land will be secured under the provisions of the Weeks bill, it being the belief of the Department of Agriculture that the acquisition of the property is necessary to the protection of water courses in the Southern Appalachian mountains.

H. FREEMAN AND SONS REBUILDING

Work is being rushed in the rebuilding of H. Freeman and Sons store which was destroyed by fire Monday of last week, when the business section of Ether was wiped out. The store will be completed and ready for business in about two weeks. The roller mill will be rebuilt larger and better than the old one. The business men of the little town are doing their best to eradicate the effects of the fire and are optimistic over the outlook for future business.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A DANGEROUS MISTAKE

Asheboro Mothers Should Not Neglect Kidney Weakness in Children. Many children have weak kidneys. An early warning is bed-wetting. Often followed by backache, headache, languor.

"This is a mistake to neglect these troubles. To blame the child for its own distress.

Seek to check the cause, Save the child from dangerous kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys. Asheboro parents know their worth. Mrs. J. F. Lewis, Sunset St., Asheboro, says: "One of my children had weak kidneys and at night was unable to control the kidney secretions. This weakness made her health very poor. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills, she began to improve and it required only three boxes to cure her. She is now strong and healthy."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mrs. Lewis recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NATIONAL DEFENSE PLANS UNDER WAY

Navy and War Departments Formulating Methods to Meet any Emergency—Will Report to President.

President Wilson last week directed Secretaries Garrison and Daniels to report to him a program of national defense. Several weeks ago the President discussed the question with his cabinet with the immediate results that both the War and Navy Departments began secret preparation of plans to meet any emergency and also to establish a permanent policy to be presented to Congress for adequate national defense. It is indicated in official quarters that the determination to expediate such plans as were being made resulted from a consideration of the many possibilities of the present international situation.

President Wilson wishes to make the navy as efficient and as serviceable as any in the world; to see the regular army adequately developed and equipped and the citizenry trained to arms in a way consistent with American traditions and which will commend itself to practical and patriotic men. The entire influence of the administration will be exerted when Congress meets to secure appropriations adequate to establish the policy of defense that will be formulated. It is believed that a military budget practically double that of last year will be presented. The army, it is believed will seek at least $200,000,000 and the navy perhaps $250,000,000.

The War Department plans look toward the development of a large reserve army with a minimum, it is said, of 500,000 men, with adequate provisions for the use of the militia and men who have previously served in the army.
