

MILITARISM LEADS TO WAR

The present war in Europe is a disgrace to any civilized country. It was absolutely uncalled for and would not have happened had not the people of Europe been trained and educated for an unending struggle of the sword. The present conflict was caused by rulers and not by the common people. Many people would have us believe, for one, are not hostile to the German people who are closely related to us in many ways, but I believe it is a fearful shame to stand for the Kaiser and the destructive militarism which has brought into war a people flourishing in the arts of peace, the kindest people in all the world. Do not think for a moment that I believe in "peace-at-any-price," for I do not. At a time like the present it is necessary for us to be prepared for our own protection, but it is not necessary for us to instill into the minds of our people the idea that war is necessary and right. Those of you who maintain that war makes for high idealism and is necessary for civilization please remember the great truth uttered by Sherman, when he said, "War is hell", for really the greatest workers of civilization are now being wasted in the European conflict.

War does not help anything, but it injures everything. All wars mean bloodshed, sorrow, suffering and death, but far beyond this a war like the present one means years and years of acute distress. However, great the slaughter of men in this war may be, the after effect will leave no one untouched. I believe that before the end of the conflict, things will be hot enough to cure the Germans of their Kaiser folly and their military spirit. I feel certain that Germany will be defeated to such an extent that she will see clearly her faults of the past, and that out of defeat will come a new Germany in which pure democracy shall rule, in which no one man shall have the power to plunge the whole world into mourning.

HAYWOOD PARKS.

LIBERTY SOCIAL

On September 13th from 4 to 6 p. m. the members of the primary, intermediate and star classes of the Liberty M. P. Sunday school were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Pickett by their teachers and the Bible class. In addition to these were the graded school faculty and quite a number of other invited guests. The wide porches and lawn were made to look even more inviting and "comfy" with a profusion of beautiful ferns and other flowers.

The children spent a pleasant time playing games after which ice cream and cakes were served to all.

The words of appreciation, the happy faces of the children and the smiles of the others attested to the success of the entertainment.

The Philathess and a few others were recently entertained by the Barons in a charming way. Arrangements were made by them to take all the guests in cars to Kimeville pond seven miles away and all the provisions were furnished by them. It was a "gala time" for the ladies—no dinner to prepare, no baskets to unpack, nothing to do but have a good time, fishing, chatting, etc. But when all were summoned at the noon hour, results showed that some one had been busy. A typical camp fire had been built and now ready to serve was a mutton just cooked and evidently by someone "who knew how," fish browned to perfection while fumes of delicious coffee were being wafted in the air. All this and the other foods made a dinner "fit for a king."

DON'T BE RADICAL

The sooner young folks learn not to be radical the sooner will they find themselves floating serenely down the stream of life without friction. To be radical takes lots of trouble; you have to be continually ripping off veneers, scratching surfaces, engaging in original research, applying acid tests, lifting lids, making analysis, tearing off masks, demanding proof, and so on indefinitely. But it is all pernicious activity. The leaders and makers and sellers of earth fix things up so that they will seem to be so-and-so; their leadership and their fame and their profits depend upon our being perfectly credulous and accepting things for what they seem. Why, then, ask embarrassing questions and thus incur the everlasting ill-will of those who are trying to hoodwink us? It is much better to take things as they come (paying cash of course) and be humbly grateful.—Life.

Former President Taft, in a speech at Los Angeles, declares that the United States is nearer with war with Mexico than at any time in the last five years. He says this is due to the policy of "watchful waiting," and that we have "neither watched nor waited."

MEDICAL INSPECTION FOR SCHOOLS

State Board of Health Makes New Proposition to Counties.

When asked what line of work the State Board of Health would take up when the anti-typhoid campaign is over, Dr. G. M. Cooper, assistant secretary of the board, said: "We are going to push medical school inspection as hard as we are able. We believe that this is the next important part of health work the board can undertake. Furthermore, we believe it to be one of the most important pieces of combined health and educational work that the people themselves can undertake."

"School inspection is the best means of bringing health work directly to the people, for through the child the parent is reached, which is to say that through the school the community is reached. What is done for the child in school is practically done for the whole family, and what is instituted in the school is soon adopted by the town or neighborhood."

It is the plan of the board to conduct this fall and winter a campaign of medical school inspection in four or more counties. The counties chosen will be those who make application first according to the plans of the board. In other words, the counties that are first to appropriate for this purpose $10 per white school will be the counties accepted. A competent physician who will be in charge of the work will be furnished by the State Board of Health. The board will supervise the work, furnish free literature for health information, and will as far as possible adopt the follow-up system in consequence.

The physician in charge will devote three months to the schools of each county. He will examine all the children of all the white schools on appointed days to be observed as Health Days. He will keep a record of each child's examination, which record will be kept by the State Board of Health for the purpose of the follow-up method. He will further inspect the school house and grounds as to its sanitary conditions and will lecture to the parent and patrons at convenient places and appointed times.

Alamance County has already contracted for this work which will be ready to start November 1st. Other counties interested should write the State Board of Health for details of information and plans.

Having made a treaty with Turkey and obtained some land, Bulgaria now seems unlikely to enter the war. The army in the field is being mustered out, and the soldiers of the 1912 class have been discharged.

GATHERING LATE CORN

The way many of our farmers in the Southwest harvest corn is wasteful of feed. Much would be saved by putting it in the silo or even harvesting it with a corn binder and shredding the fodder. Pulling corn as is the common practice in the Southwest means a loss of about 40 per cent of the feeding value of the corn plants.

But where the fodder is dry nothing can be done toward saving the fodder of late corn, yet the grain should be saved. To do this, the ears should be "pulled" as soon as they are ready. The longer the ears stay on the stalk after it is ripe the more it deteriorates as a general rule. Every heavy wind blows down stalks and every rain causes ears on the ground to rot.

But this is not all. Birds, rodents and wild animals such as squirrels, coons, etc., are likely to destroy some of the grain. The safest plan, therefore, is to gather the corn as soon as it is dry enough to keep when put into the crib.

Weevils are likely to get into the ears in the field. In fact these insects generally get a start before the corn is gathered. And the longer it is left in the field the more likely weevils are to get a start.

The crib should by all means be made rat-proof. Unless one is willing to feed rats and mice he should see that the crib is rat and mouse-proof before the corn is pulled, and hauled into it.

A good way to do this is to cover the floor and sides of the crib with closely woven or net wire so these rodents can not get into the crib. The wire should be fastened well with staples and the sides of the crib should be covered over inside with the wire four or five feet high. This will keep these pests out.

After the corn is put into the crib the weevils may be killed by evaporating carbon bisulphide over it.—Farm and Ranch.

State Your Liver Without Making You Sick and Can Not Survive.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason—Dodson's Liver Tonic is taking its place.

Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tonic is perfectly safe and gives better results. Dodson's Liver Tonic is especially recommended by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am as good and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

PELAGRA AND FAKE CURES

Pelagra has taken the place of tuberculosis as the greatest cause of death in the Georgia State hospital. The increase of this dread disease in the South is alarming.

It is produced by defective diet, says Dr. Joseph Goldberger, the pelagra expert of the U. S. Health Service; by too much grits, molasses, corn meal and other starchy foods, and not enough lean meat, beans, peas, milk and eggs.

Beware of fake cures. The remedy does not lie in medicines, he says, but in an abundant, well-balanced, nourishing diet.

It is a comfort to know that this dreadful disease is not contagious, infectious, or in any way communicable.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.
