Quite a unique affair was a surprise birthday party given to Mrs. O. W. Carr at her home on Carr Corner Saturday, the 18th, in honor of her seventy-fourth birthday. Mrs. Carr knew nothing of it until a machine drove up with Mesdames Ballance, Johnson and Parker, followed closely by Mrs. Jane Weeks, M. C. Pepper, Dan English, Amos Ragan, Miss Letishia English, all ladies over seventy years of age. The little girls of 1835 to 1845 played the old fashioned games and sang the songs of their day, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Carr's daughter, Mrs. Dred Pencock, of High Point; Mrs. Blanche Carr, of Greensboro; Mrs. J. C. Pepper, of this place, assisted by her granddaughters, Lucy Neal Carr, and Odell Pencock, of High Point, after which the guests, whose combined ages aggregate 600 years, started home feeling laughing and chatty as though only "sweet sixteen."

The allies have begun their big offensive on the western front. Attacking simultaneously at different points, the British and French armies have on two parts of the line taken the first and second lines of German trenches and are attacking the third. The German losses in these encounters is killed, wounded and prisoners total over 120,000 men.

Ed Williams, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and their son and daughter, in Graham county, and who was recently officially declared an outlaw, was arrested in the woods in Graham county, four miles from Robbinsville, Saturday evening, by the sheriff of Graham county. He was taken to Asheville jail for safe-keeping.

An Open Letter to the People of Asheboro.

DEAR CUSTOMER:—

The change of the season is now on, the hot summer months are passing out and the cold winter breezes are taking place, causing me to do away with the expense of keeping my meat iced and enabling me to furnish you some of our meats much cheaper.

I am having my market well renovated and put in good condition with a coat of paint, and it will be kept perfectly sanitary. I have employed a good young man and kinsman from the country who never had much experience in the business world, but isn't too old to learn. He is a model young man with no bad habits, and I feel sure when he gets his schooling in the meat business he will not set up as a competitor, but he will give myself and customers perfect satisfaction.

Having labored hard for several years here in Asheboro giving my time and energy, trying to give satisfaction to all, being the only market man who thinks enough of his business and customers to keep his market open during the hot summer months at a loss, I do think I deserve the patronage of the good people of Asheboro.

Hoping to have the pleasure of your trade during the winter, I remain
Yours truly,
E. E. PUGH,
Proprietor Star Meat Market.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Ladies' Aid Society of Ramseur will give a play, "The Old Maids' Club", at the auditorium at Ramseur, Saturday night, October 2nd, at 8 p. m. Everybody invited to be there and get one evening's good solid fun.

The Salvation Army is 50 years old this year. It was founded in 1865 by Gen. William Booth.

While returning from Thomasville to his home in the country about four miles from town, Cyrus Hilton, a Confederate veteran and a prominent farmer, was thrown from his buggy and injured so that he died within an hour. While there were no witnesses, to the accident it is supposed from appearances that he was thrown from the buggy on his head and his skull broken. He is survived by a widow and one son.

Prominent Charlotte Attorney Praises York Piano

We are well pleased with our Style 16 York Piano. The tone is delightful; the action quick and easy, and the appearance a credit to any home. My dealings with the Weaver Organ & Piano Co. have been pleasant and satisfactory. I cheerfully recommend the York Piano as an instrument worthy of the highest confidence.

PLUMMER STEWART,
Attorney-at-Law and Member
City Board of Aldermen,
Charlotte, N. C.

Discriminating people everywhere recognize the superiority of the York Piano. Its first appearance is impressive; it grows in favor with acquaintance; and soon becomes a part of the life of the home entirely through its wonderful musical qualities.

Call or write immediately for full particulars. By acting immediately you may join our North Carolina Club and secure advantages heretofore impossible.
