Some suggest the planting of fruit trees along the public roads for shade trees. The planting of pecan trees, and walnut trees has also been suggested. The pecan and walnut trees need little cultivation, and would make ideal trees for the road side.

COLONEL McALISTER SERVED THE WRIT ON KIRK

Major H. A. London, editor of the Chatham Record, has the following in a recent issue of his paper:

"With appropriate ceremonies a portrait of Judge George W. Brooks was unveiled last week in the courtroom of the United States Circuit Court at Raleigh. This distinguished jurist rendered a service to our State and to our constitutional liberty that should never be forgotten when he issued the writ of habeas corpus in August, 1870, and released from illegal imprisonment Hon. Josiah Turner and other prominent citizens who had been arrested by Kirk and his cut-throats. The presentation address of the portrait was most happily made by Hon. F. D. Winston, who never fails to be equal to any occasion.

"In this address occurs one slight error that we wish to correct in justice to one of the most lovable men in this State. The writ of habeas corpus that had been issued by Chief Justice Pearson, was not served by 'the marshal of the court' (as stated in Judge Winston's address,) but by Colonel Alexander C. McAlister, who then resided at Company Shops (now called Burlington), and who had been requested by Mr. E. S. Parker (one of the attorneys of the prisoners) to serve the writ on Colonel Kirk. At the risk of being arrested himself Col. McAlister did not hesitate to discharge this perilous duty, but went boldly to Kirk, then at the head of his cut-throat soldiers, and served the writ. As is well known Kirk refused to obey the writ, insolently declaring that such papers had 'played out,' and afterwards a writ was issued by Judge Brooks, of the federal court, and the prisoners all released without the pretense of any trial.

"We are pleased to state that Col. McAlister is still living, having been for many years a citizen of Asheboro, and is one of the most modest and retiring men in the State, and illustrates in his daily life the truth of the old saying that 'the bravest are the tenderest.'"

DR. BROOMFIELD'S PREACHING

For a number of weeks the people of Asheboro have been looking forward to the coming of the Rev. Dr. J. C. Broomfield, of Fairmont, West Virginia, to assist Rev. C. L. Whitaker pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, in a series of revival services. Dr. Broomfield arrived on Monday afternoon and preached his first sermon that evening, his theme being "A Sure Recipe For a Revival." So attracted are the people with his preaching that the church building is being taxed to the limit to accommodate the crowds that attend. Before coming to Asheboro he spent ten days in a campaign in the Grace Methodist Protestant church of Greensboro. Great success followed his efforts there, some going far enough to say that the revival was the most helpful and far-reaching ever held in Grace church. Of his efforts there, Dr. J. F. McCulloch, editor of the Methodist Protestant Herald, said in last week's issue of the paper:

"For a week our church in Greensboro has been enjoying the ministry of the president of the Pittsburgh Conference, Rev. J. C. Broomfield, of Fairmont, W. Va. (At the Pittsburgh Conference, the president does not travel the district. Bro. Broomfield is also pastor of our church in Fairmont, and has been for perhaps ten years.) His church has given him a few weeks of vacation, and he is spending part of it at hard work here in North Carolina. (He is to go to Asheboro for a series of meetings next Monday.)

"He captured all our hearts the very first night by his earnestness and by the interesting character of his deliverances. He believes in the Bible, he knows the Book, he has the art of presenting the truth in a manner that is both pleasing and striking. He has spoken twice a day and four times on Sunday. The Christian people are aroused and the un-Christian are made thoughtful.

"We already feel that his coming and his preaching have done us great good in the way of inspiration and instruction, and the turning of our eyes to the great work about us."

Dr. Broomfield is a native born Scotchman, coming to this country in 1890. He spent six years of his early manhood on the ocean, and brings to his sermons a wealth of illustration from the sea-faring life. He will be in Asheboro until next Wednesday evening. He speaks every day at 3:15 and at 7:30 services. Among the many themes he will discuss will be the following:

"Common Honesty"; "The Message of the Autumn Leaves, or Nearing Home"; "An Interrupted Revival, or the Dead Man in the Road"; "The Second Coming of Christ"; "The Supreme Court of Moral Appeal"; "The Christian's Neglect of Salvation"; "God's First Question to Man"; "The Biggest Verse in the Bible, and the Biggest Thought in Heaven and on Earth"; "Knowing the Power of His Resurrection"; "A Strange Prayer". Every indication points to a gracious religious awakening in Asheboro. On Tuesday evening, the second night of Dr. Broomfield's ministrations, there were ten at the altar. All the churches are cooperating, and if the weather continues good, the indications point to moving the place of meeting to the school auditorium in order to accommodate the crowd.

LEXINGTON STORE OF LOPP ROBBED OF MUCH MONEY

The general store of W. F. Lopp was robbed Tuesday night of about $100 worth of jewelry, some small change and a few articles of clothing. Entrance was made from a vacant basement by prying up a plank from the floor and knocking off the side of an upturned box under the counter. Exit was made through the same hole. The robber, or robbers, entered the basement at the end of another store and had to go 100 feet to reach the loose plank in the floor.

DAVIDSON ROAD BOND CASE WILL NOT BE RENEWED

The petition to rehear Hargrave vs. the Commissioners of Davidson county the $500,000 road bond litigation, in which the court upheld the bonds in an opinion last term, is refused by Associate Justice Allen, to whom application to re-hear was made.

The Judge holds that the principle that debts for the construction and maintenance of roads are a public necessity is too well-settled to be disturbed and it is not the province of courts to interfere with the legislative and county authorities in such matters.

PELLAGRA VERSUS TYPHOID FEVER

There were thirty-five deaths from pellagra as against twenty three deaths from typhoid fever during the months of July in the ten counties employing whole-time health officers. These counties are Buncombe, Forsyth, Nash, Robeson, Sampson, Pitt, Guilford, Vance, Durham and New Hanover.

In the interest of public health work, especially along the line of disease prevention, this fact carries much significance. Typhoid fever has been one of the big strongholds faithfully and repeatedly attacked by the health officers of these counties, while pellagra has had no specific bomb directed against it. For this there have been two apparent reasons: First, insufficient data and scientific knowledge concerning the disease, its cause, prevention or cure; second, in the light of public health work the death rate from pellagra has until the past few years been of little consequence in comparison with the typhoid death rate.

That the death rate of typhoid has fallen from figures which used to be, perhaps, the highest of all diseases during the month of July to a rate 50 per cent. lower than pellagra or to figures that would not have startled any one of these counties a few years ago as its own summer typhoid death rate,—that public health work is lowering the death rate at this rate is both gratifying and encouraging. In other words, it proves that disease prevention is more than theory and that reducing the death rate is not only a possibility but that it is an actual accomplishment. It speaks well for the health work in those counties who have deemed it worth while to employ whole time health officers.

MR. HEITMAN

Carr Heitman, a son of the late Prof. J. F. Heitman, of Trinity, and a nephew of Gen. J. S. Carr, is responsible for the following new parody of Kipling's much parodied "If":

IF—

(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling.)
If you can sit supreme and cool
As warring nations all about
Seek of you to make their tool,
While howling critics storm and shout;

If you can steer a ship of state
Through troubled water narrow,
And save your country from a fate
The thought of which would harrow;

If you can wait from day to day
To see your dreams come true
While all around are in dismay
And eagerly turn to you,
If you can pool your conscience clear
Yet know that you are right,
And win a victory for rights so dear
Without a single fight;
If you can save your nation's glory

INSPIRATION IN MUSIC

Real music comes from an inspiration but musical inspiration can hardly come from an inferior piano. Discriminating buyers prefer to buy pianos that are artistically made. It is this capacity in the York Piano to interpret the mind of the genius in music that has made the York Piano famous. Come to the factory demonstration and see these masterpieces of the piano craft at the warehouses of A. N. and E. M. CULLOM, Asheboro, N. C.

But slow that you are game,
Richmond, Sept. 2, 1915.
If necessary, by battles gory,
And still make peace your aim—
If you these things have nobly done,
Fame for yourself you've surely won,
And what's more, you'll be a diplomat,
my son.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS

Tax Assessment Changed—Accounts Allowed

The Randolph board of county commissioners met in regular session Monday allowed accounts and changed the tax assessment.

The Corporation Commission having taken off 5 per cent of the 15 per cent increase of taxable valuation for Randolph the board of county commissioners have reduced the tax levy 10 per cent, thus making tax rate 86% per cent instead of 90 per cent. In this way there is no increase in the assessment of taxes to be paid.

Upon petition of the board of road trustees of Randeman township, the board ordered that $10,000 in township bonds be issued for road improvement in Randeman township. The bonds are to bear 6 per cent interest and are to run 30 years becoming due October, 1945.

THE DEATH ROLL

ELMER CLAY SCOTT DEAD.

Tuesday morning, following five days illness of diphtheria, little Elmer Clay Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, Asheboro, answered the call. The little fellow had been in apparently good health up to the time he was stricken, and the disease was in a very bad form and did not respond to the aid of medical treatment. He was one of "the Scott twins" as they were called around town. He was a bright boy, being only seven years old, and in the second grade at school. He was greatly interested in his school work, and was doing well. His grade carried flowers to the home and they were sent to Panther's Creek, where he was buried.

Rev. C. L. Whitaker accompanied the relatives and conducted a very impressive service. Seven brothers and sisters survive the deceased, and they, with their parents, are in deep grief over his departure, but in their great distress they bow in willing submission to the will of Him who has said, "Suffer little children to come unto me."

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and their family have the sympathy of the people of the entire community.

MRS. BETTIE GREGSON LEWIS DEAD

Mrs. Bettie Gregson Lewis died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. J. M. Betts, in South Asheboro Tuesday evening at 6:45 p. m. Mrs. Lewis was the daughter of Julius and Holland B. Gregson. She was first married to Murphy Julian, who with her resided at Randeman. To this union two children were born, one dying in infancy, the other, Dora Julian, who married J. M. Betts, of Asheboro. Later, deceased was married to Micajah Lewis, Farmer. Mr. Lewis died more than 25 years ago.

Mrs. Lewis moved to Asheboro immediately after the death of her husband and has made her home here with Mr. Betts' family ever since. Mrs. Lewis has been one of the most industrious women in the county and has been useful in her day and time. She took her niece, Mamie Gregson, and raised her. Since the death of her daughter, Mrs. Betts, she has aided in the home of Mr. Betts. She was a member of the M. E. church, Asheboro.

Surviving her are three brothers, Amos Gregson, Spero; William Gregson, Hamlet; and Henry Gregson, Climax.

Funeral was conducted by Rev. J. E. Thompson at the home of Mr. Betts. Interment followed in the Asheboro cemetery.

MR. A. W. COUNCIL DEAD.

Mr. A. W. Council died suddenly at the High Point Hospital last Thursday night. Mr. Council was operated upon Monday night before for appendicitis. The deceased has not been in good health for several years. While he lived in High Point, his principal business was in Glenola, Randolph county, where he operated a brick-kiln. He was a prominent member of the Baptist Church, a Mason, and a member of the Junior Order.

Adolphus Wayland Council, the son of Albert and Laurana Council, was born in Wake county, 58 years ago September 3. In January, 1889, he was married to Miss Annie-Elizabeth Payne, of Westfield, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Council moved to High Point about 17 years ago and since their residence there they and their children have made a loved place for themselves in the church and community life of the town. There are seven children, six daughters and one son: Misses Grace, Annie Laurie, Iris, Ruth, Elizabeth and Lois, and Lawrence. Miss Grace teaches in the graded school at Tarboro, and Miss Ann's Laurie is a member of the city graded school faculty, and Miss Iris teaches at Winton. Miss Ruth is a member of the senior class at the high school.

Besides his widow and children, the deceased leaves four brothers and two sisters: J. C. Council, of Mount Airy; Jackson Council, of Oxford; William Council, of Raleigh; A. V. Council, of Apex, and Mrs. Malcolm Parrish, of Durham, and Mrs. Markham, of Apex.

USES FOR COTTONSEED MEAL

Makes Excellent Combination with Alfalfa Roughage—Both Feeds Are Very Rich in Protein.

Cold-pressed cottonseed meal is not as rich in protein as ordinary cottonseed meal, because more of the hulls are left in with the meal. Where you are feeding alfalfa largely for roughage and liberally of cottonseed meal as a concentrate, it would be the best bargain.

Corn, chops and wheat bran, equal parts, and then two pounds of cottonseed meal per day, with one feed of alfalfa and one feed of native hay per day will make a good ration. One must not feed too liberally of alfalfa and cottonseed meal; both feeds are very rich in protein, and an excess of protein is to be avoided more than an excess of carbohydrates.

There is more danger of injuring the health and breeding qualities of the cow if fed an excess of protein. Many cows fed excessive amounts of protein for long intervals of time often fail to breed at all.

COST OF BABCOCK TESTERS

Two-Bottle Hand Testing Equipment, Complete for Dairy Work, Can Be Purchased for Four Dollars.

(By J. M. FULLER, Oklahoma Experiment Station.)

An inquiry has come to the dairy husbandry department regarding the cost of the small Babcock hand tester and equipment.

The two-bottle hand tester, complete for testing work, can be secured of creamery supply houses for four dollars. The four-bottle hand testers may be had complete for five dollars. Sulphuric acid for testing can usually be obtained at drug stores at 25 or 30 cents per quart. Creamery supply houses usually charge about sixty cents for a gallon jug of sulphuric acid. Milk test bottles cost one dollar per dozen, acid measures ten cents each, 17.6 cc pipettes 15 cents each, and 60-pound scales for weighing milk, three dollars.

Those of us who are left will ever cherish the sweet counsel of our friend, and when we too are called from earth we pray for a happy reunion.

She leaves to mourn their loss two daughters, Mrs. George Snyder, of High Point, and Mrs. Martha Brady, of Kannapolis; and one son, Nerius Millikan, with whom she lived and who will miss her most.
